12. Please give a brief note on the achievements of the University during X Plan

This University being one of the oldest and outstanding state universities of the country has been facing a number of problems over the years. The most acute of these relates to infrastructure and facilities. The intake of students has increased enormously and resulting in inadequate hostel facilities. The increase in the courses has compounded the difficulties. Many are heritage buildings that need to be preserved.

13. Please give a brief note on the areas in which the University needs improvement

On account of inadequate facilities, the University is unable to retain and attract talent. This has a further adverse effect on the position of the university, even with regard to drawing funds for improving its infrastructure. University needs a big push which may give it a new look, inject enthusiasm to the teachers as well as the students, and motivate the stake-holders in regaining the past glory.

14. Please give insights on behalf of the Committee into the future of the University

This is one of our very good Universities where teachers are committed to the cause of quality education, students' interest and welfare of the University. The Committee was delighted to notice that each Department seemed to be working as a team. The University is in the process of adopting several measures of modernization, exam reforms, e-governance, and interface with industries both for the benefits of the students and in the formulation of course curriculum. Research outputs have been reasonably good. Placement cell for the students is on the anvil. It has developed national and international collaborations and consultancies. Several teachers have found positions in different national and international fora.

15. Observations on the development plans of the University in the following areas

i. Access

Patna University provides educational access to a large number of poor and rural students, SC, ST and OBC, majority of whom are drawn from the minority communities from the neighbouring areas. The real challenge before the university is to combine increase in access to quality education. The university is putting in continuous efforts to increase such access. Teachers of the university are taking necessary steps to make the academic programmes meaningful for the students. The University's efforts in providing access are quite laudable.

ii. Equity

Patna University plays a commendable role in ensuring an equitable distribution of educational opportunities. The University offers PG level courses. It follows reservation rules which promote equity and social justice.

iii. Relevance

The courses offered by the University are socially relevant, economically viable and prepares the student communities – particularly the weaker sections like minority communities / SCs & STs, to meet the challenge of the 21st century.
