

CONTENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>S.No.</th>
<th>PARTICULARS</th>
<th>Page No.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>PART - I</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.</td>
<td>Preface</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.</td>
<td>Members of the CDC for English and other Western Languages</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.</td>
<td>Recommendations for courses in English</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.</td>
<td>Compulsory/General English Programme</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.</td>
<td>Elective/optional/subsidiary programme</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.</td>
<td>Honours/major programme</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.</td>
<td>Master of Arts programme</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.</td>
<td>Sample Syllabi for Honours and M.A. Programmes</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.</td>
<td>B.A. Honours/major programme</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.</td>
<td>M.A. Programme</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11.</td>
<td>Renaissance Literature</td>
<td>67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12.</td>
<td>Literature and Science</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13.</td>
<td>Popular Literature</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>PART - II</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>WESTERN LANGUAGES</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14.</td>
<td>Preface</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15.</td>
<td>Members of the CDC for English and other Western Languages</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S.No.</td>
<td>PARTICULARS</td>
<td>Page No.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------</td>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>----------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16.</td>
<td>Recommendations</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>17.</td>
<td>Certificate Courses in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18.</td>
<td>Diploma Course in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19.</td>
<td>Advanced Diploma in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20.</td>
<td>Bachelor's Degree in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21.</td>
<td>Bachelor's/Course in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22.</td>
<td>Master's Degree in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23.</td>
<td>Common Pattern for M.A. Courses in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24.</td>
<td>Pre-Doctoral/M.Phil./Ph.D. in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25.</td>
<td>Interpretation Course in Foreign Languages</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>26.</td>
<td>Sample Syllabi</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>27.</td>
<td>Certificate of Proficiency in Russian</td>
<td>139</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28.</td>
<td>Certificate of Proficiency in Spanish</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>29.</td>
<td>Certificate of Proficiency in French</td>
<td>183</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30.</td>
<td>Certificate Course in German</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>31.</td>
<td>Certificate course in Italian</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PART-I

(ENGLISH)
CURRICULA IN ENGLISH

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

FOR

ENGLISH AND OTHER WESTERN LANGUAGES

UNIVERSITY GRANTS COMMISSION

NEW DELHI

February 2001
A revision of University curricula in English, as in other subjects, was mooted by the UGC and discussed during the tenure of the last All-India Panel for English and Other Western Languages (1997-2000). Unfortunately, owing to the absence of a Panel Secretary during 1999-2000, the Panel was unable to proceed with the idea, or hold the Regional Workshops proposed to initiate the exercise.

A Curriculum Development Committee for English and Other Western Languages was finally formed in September 2000 and asked to submit its recommendations by the first week of February 2001. We are grateful to the UGC for extending this time-limit to the end of February 2001. All the same, the time-span was limited, and did not allow preliminary consultation with university departments or individual teachers.

The Committee therefore prepared a set of draft recommendations and circulated them to every university in the country. The feedback was more slender than we would have wished. However, we are grateful to the departments and individual teachers who responded. Their valuable suggestions, on both general principles and points of detail, have been incorporated in the final recommendations. We hope that the proposed curricula have thereby become more useful and acceptable to teachers, students and society at large.

English courses - general, elective and honours, undergraduate and postgraduate - perhaps constitute the most widely studied group of programmes at colleges and universities across India. Clearly, no single curriculum can serve the wide range of interests, needs and skills apparent in the discipline across our large and diverse country. More positively, it may be thought imperative to leave scope for a variety of interests and approaches, so that the nation may profit from the full range of possibilities inherent in the discipline. At the same time, a certain equivalence of structure and standard is obviously called for: to ensure this might be thought the chief purpose of an all-India Curriculum Development Committee.

We have therefore proposed certain broad but flexible structures (often alternative or equivalent structures), within which a very large range of texts and topics have been accommodated. Each institution is free to select from this range, or to add other items. Scope has even been left for new items and areas that may be opened up by the future development of the discipline. We have tried to reconcile the demands of depth and direction with the need for academic freedom and creativity.
Sample curricula have been prepared for a wide range of compulsory and optional components. As the number of proposed alternatives is virtually endless, it was not possible to illustrate them all. Curricula in other areas may be prepared on the model of those supplied.

Needless to say, we have consulted many experts in various branches of English studies and even in other disciplines. It would be invidious to name any, but we warmly thank them all. Finally, we should thank the UGC for giving us the opportunity to undertake this exercise.

Sukanta Chaudhuri
Convenor, Curriculum Development Committee
for English and Other Western Languages
MEMBERS OF THE CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE
FOR ENGLISH AND OTHER WESTERN LANGUAGES

Sukanta Chaudhuri, Jadavpur University (English), Convenor
C.T. Indra, University of Madras (English)
Prashant K. Sinha, University of Pune (English)
Rajiva Verma, University of Delhi (English)
Rekha Vaidya Rajan, Jawaharlal Nehru University (German)
K, Madanagobalane, University of Madras (French)
J.P, Dimri, Central Institute of English and Foreign Languages, Hyderabad (Russian)
Sonya S. Gupta, Central Institute of English and Foreign Languages, Hyderabad (Spanish)
Sharmishtha Lahiri, University of Delhi (Italian)

Panel Secretary:
Dr N.A. Kazmi, Joint Secretary, UGC
UNIVERSITY GRANTS COMMISSION
CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE IN ENGLISH AND OTHER WESTERN LANGUAGES

DRAFT RECOMMENDATIONS FOR COURSES IN ENGLISH

NB: In these Recommendations, the term ‘programme’ refers to a full curriculum of study over a statutory period of time, incorporating an entire syllabus and leading to a degree, diploma or certificate. The word ‘cluster’ indicates a substantial section of the programme in the semester system, relating to a single period, genre or area, corresponding to a ‘paper’ in the annual system. In the semester system, the material of a ‘cluster’ will usually be divided between two or more ‘courses’.

PREAMBLE

To formulate a college or university curriculum in English poses a special challenge because at some level or other, virtually all students within the Indian university system study a certain amount of English. This is not the case with any other subject. Planning the curriculum thereby becomes a complex task with broader social implications beyond the academic ones.

This preamble lays out the principles and curricular structures adopted by this Committee in framing its recommendations.

Any programme or degree bearing the word ‘English’ in its title should ensure a certain competence in using the English language and studying English texts. The nature and level of this competence will vary from programme to programme. This Committee has assumed the following levels of attainment for the various programmes:

(A) General/Compulsory English programmes should ensure

(a) ability to comprehend English texts of a moderately advanced nature, such as may be studied by all college and university students in the pursuit of their disciplines;

(b) certain compositional skills in English required in various professions and activities in India, e.g., letter-writing, précis or summary-writing, paragraph composition. This may extend to more specialized skills such as report-writing, copy-editing, copywriting, scriptwriting, translation etc.
(c) a first entry into the more complex literary use of English, and the human values and perceptions conveyed through it.

General/Compulsory programmes should consist of 1-3 clusters/papers, depending on the degree of competence aimed at and the number of other compulsory clusters/papers in the syllabus.

Students should not be allowed to offer English clusters/papers alone, to the total exclusion of Indian languages, except for good and sufficient reason. They should be allowed to offer ‘Alternative English’ in lieu of an Indian language only if they cannot reasonably be expected to be familiar with any of the languages taught at the university in question. Voluntary avoidance of an Indian-language course in school or at the +2 level should not be considered sufficient ground for enrolment in the Alternative English programme. Where offered, the level of the Alternative English programme should correspond to the second and third levels of the General/Compulsory programme as detailed below.

Conversely, a student should not be allowed to avoid the study of English altogether by offering alternative courses in his/her mother tongue, or in some other language or subject. This Committee considers that some instruction in English should be an integral part of all undergraduate programmes in all faculties and disciplines.

It may be considered superfluous for English Honours/Major students to study the General/Compulsory English programme. Instead, they may study (a) one or more of the options in Honours Cluster/Paper VIII (see below) not actually covered in their Honours/Major programme; (b) an additional language - Indian, European or other; (c) another subject at Elective/Optional/Subsidiary level.

(B) Elective/Optional/Subsidiary programmes, usually consisting of 3 clusters/papers, should ensure

(a) ability to comprehend and analyse English texts of an advanced nature, both literary and non-literary. Hence the programme may include a fair proportion of literary texts.

(b) ability for sustained composition in the descriptive, narrative, expository, argumentative and persuasive modes, and other advanced language skills. This can be extended to practical applications of the English language in fields such as report-writing, copy-editing, copywriting, scriptwriting and translation.

Ideally, such programmes should not be considered as training for the academic study of English language and literature. Hence they should not contain such components as literary history, critical theories and concepts, philology or linguistics. In states/universities where there is no Honours system, the Elective programme may perforce serve as qualification for entry to the MA class, and its components suitably modified. However, this Committee strongly recommends that all universities should move seriously towards an Honours-level programme as mandatory requirement for MA entry. If such a programme takes time to set up, a bridge course may be considered as an interim measure. This is needed to ensure parity between persons ultimately obtaining the MA degree in English from universities all over the country.

Where an Honours/Major programme is in operation, its students should not be permitted to take up the Elective/Subsidiary programme as well. They should opt for some other elective or subsidiary subject in the interest of a more broad-based training.

(C) Honours/Major/Special programmes, usually of 3 years

(D) The Master of Arts programme, usually of 2 years

Although only a proportion of Honours students may proceed to the MA stage, the two programmes are best perceived as continuous, even notionally integrated. Again, it is not expected that most students, even at the MA level, should become academics; but all Honours and MA students should have a serious interest in the discipline, and be able to employ the advanced language skills, critical understanding and human values derived from it in their future lives and careers. Hence such programmes should, at appropriately graded levels, include literary history, critical theories and concepts, the history and structure of the English language, and general linguistics. They should take account of the cultural, historical and social background of the texts and concepts studied, and the context of other literatures and cultures. They should also allow scope to develop advanced functional and applied skills in the English language. Thus may be particularly necessary at the BA Honours level, after which a large number of students may be expected to branch out into various professions employing such skills.

This Committee recommends a structure of 8 clusters/papers for the BA Honours and 9 clusters/papers for the MA programme, taught on the semester system. In the BA programme, there may be one Honours cluster/paper per semester in the first and second years (making allowance for other compulsory and subsidiary subjects), and two per semester in the third year, making a total of $1 \times 4 + 2 \times 2 = 8$. Universities are given the choice of expanding this to 9 clusters/papers, by extending the scope of the optional papers as laid out in the detailed recommendations below.
In the MA programme, there may be two clusters/papers per semester over two years, making a total of $2 \times 4 = 8$. Again, this may be brought up to 9 clusters/papers by extending the scope of the optional papers as laid out below. The final cluster/paper of the MA programme should involve 2 or 3 of the following components: tutorial work, term papers, project work, short dissertation, viva voce etc.

Universities at present offering 10 or more clusters/papers in the BA Honours or MA programme may consider restructuring their curricula to suit the pattern suggested above. This will enhance mobility between universities and in employment, and help to ensure a balanced public perception of university degrees. A large number of clusters/papers usually implies either that they are lighter than usual in content, or else that the students are being asked to shoulder too great a load.

It is understood that many universities may not be able to introduce the semester system immediately. The programmes recommended here are equally suited to an annual system of teaching, with examinations at the end of each year (or in the BA programme, at the end of the second and third years). Under such a system, the papers will correspond to the proposed clusters under the semester system. However, it is strongly recommended that universities should implement the semester system within a stipulated time-frame. Affiliating universities with many colleges may need to adapt the semester structure, and/or devise new methods of continuous or periodic assessment, to cater to the large number of students.

It is assumed that students taking up an Honours or MA programme in English will have sufficient working proficiency in the English language. Training in basic language skills - as opposed to advanced linguistic or functional skills - should not be a formal component of Honours or MA programmes. If such students still require basic language training, it should be provided in the Compulsory English classes, or through remedial or bridge courses. Needless to say, students in need of such training should be counselled intensively before admission to an Honours or MA programme in English. They should not be encouraged to take up the programme unless there is overriding evidence of their motivation and potential for improvement. It is also recommended that the basic language skills of Honours and MA students should be tested at or near the beginning of their course, and their further progress monitored accordingly.

At all levels, provision has been made for incorporation of applied, functional and professional skills in English. Such applied skills require practical training and professional exposure. Efforts should be made to ensure such exposure, preferably in a professional environment, but in any case through classroom interaction with professionals. Special workshops, training programmes and fieldwork need to be conducted to familiarise teachers with these areas as well.

The need for computer skills needs no iteration today. For students of language and literature, skill in word-processing, data-processing and use of the Internet are particularly essential. These have not been incorporated in the proposed curricula, as they might be held to be basic working skills rather than ones intrinsic to the discipline. However, we cannot stress too strongly the need for training programmes, within the total purview of university services and programmes, for students of English as of all other subjects. Where the specific skills of the discipline can be applied to computer practice - e.g., in writing for the Internet and preparation of web content - provision has been made within the curriculum.

Training in the operation of basic audio-visual equipment is also strongly recommended, especially for students in interdisciplinary areas requiring use of such equipment, or in ELT courses.

************

The nature and purpose of English Honours and MA courses in India today need to be considered deeply. Such programmes are expected to ensure firm command of English language skills, active and passive, as well as in-depth study of literary texts in English. In this day and age, few if any would confine the latter to British and/or American texts alone. The new literatures in English, especially Indian writing in English, must find due place in the curriculum; and the study of texts by British, American and other Anglophone authors must take non-Anglophone, especially postcolonial perspectives into account. This still places stress on the English language, and on literature composed in that language.

At the same time it is widely felt that, in our present postcolonial phase of culture, the ‘English’ programme should incorporate Indian literature in English translation, as well as the comparativist study of texts from many (especially Indian) languages, and proceed thence to wider historical, cultural and theoretical studies. In all such programmes, the subject of study is increasingly non-English: the English language only provides the medium of study. Such programmes have been widely adopted by universities across the country for many years now. It is argued that in the sixth decade of Independence, there is neither need nor justification for the wide continuance of traditional English programmes of British and Anglophone bent. Rather, it is felt, the skills traditionally imparted through such programmes should now be applied to a wider range of cultural material, especially that of Indian provenance or relevance.
These two contrary trends in our English-teaching programmes - often within the same programme - have created a divisiveness of purpose, as of public expectation and assessment. To accommodate both trends within the same curriculum, and perhaps other aims including basic language training, often ensures that none of these ends is adequately served.

Clearly, universities must be allowed a choice in the matter. Or to view the question in another light, they must decide what they wish to offer subscribers to their English programmes, and what the subscribers themselves want. The two main approaches seem to be as follows.

(i) Programmes in ‘English Language and Literature’ (or simply ‘English’) focussing on English-language texts (of whatever provenance), with their related contexts, issues and cultures. These programmes use translated texts - from European, Indian and other sources - to understand theory, context and genre, but not for direct critical study and analysis.

(ii) Programmes which may be entitled ‘Literature through English’. These adopt broader cultural and comparativist approaches, placing English-language texts on par with those translated from various languages into English.

The latter approach points beyond programmes foregrounding English language and literature (hence fairly including the word ‘English’ in their designation) towards general programmes that may fitly be entitled ‘Literature’ or ‘Literary Studies’. These putative programmes would use texts translated not only into English but into Indian languages, and permit use of the latter in class discussion, examinations and other teaching/learning practices. Such a change would follow a postcolonial development seen in certain other non-Anglophone countries. Universities that so chose could construct full-fledged Comparative Literature programmes, so named, on that basis; or they could move towards formal programmes (again so named) in Culture Studies, Postcolonial Studies etc.

This type of programme would not privilege the English language. Equally, by their nomenclature eschewing specific mention of ‘English’, they would not raise expectations of special training in the English language, or the literature and culture conveyed by that language.

In every case, the programme title should do justice to the nature of the training, instead of adopting the all-purpose term ‘English’. This Committee feels that, to serve the expectations of academia, employers and society at large, programmes simply designated as ‘English’ should primarily ensure training in the language and/or its literature. Programmes of newer design may still incorporate a modicum of literature in the English language, and use English as the medium of study; but they should adopt titles properly indicating their scope. Ultimately they may break quite free of traditional ‘Eng. Lit.’, and move into totally new areas with appropriate new titles eschewing the word ‘English’.

Needless to say, a credit-based semester system would allow a measure of interaction between these approaches. It would also encourage an interdisciplinary approach embracing other subjects of study. All programmes of the broader ‘literary/cultural’ type could, and almost necessarily would, call for interaction with sister departments of Indian, Western and other languages, as well as philosophy, history and the social sciences. Even traditional programmes of ‘English Language and Literature’ would be greatly enhanced if studied along with subsidiary courses in related areas. Such ‘handshake courses’ would enable English programmes to realise their academic and social potential to the full.

It lies beyond the scope of this Committee to recommend curricula for all these possible ramifications. We have suggested alternative approaches to the MA curriculum stressing, respectively, ‘English Language and Literature’ and a broader approach, based on genre and culture studies, entitled ‘English and Literary Studies’. Only one Honours/Major curriculum is proposed, ensuring basic acquaintance with both these aspects of the discipline. A university with sufficient resources might run parallel programmes in the two fields. An affiliating university might allow its colleges to adopt one or the other according to student demand and available teaching resources.

**********

It has seemed advisable not to be too rigid or specific about the contents of the programmes. Such prescriptions would impair the academic autonomy of individual universities and departments, and ignore local needs and local strengths. The specific texts cited are only intended as examples to indicate the bulk, range and level of difficulty proposed for a particular course or programme. All through, our purpose has been to frame an outline curriculum for each need, not to lay out a specific syllabus: that must be the task of the universities concerned.

For Honours and MA programmes in particular, we have left it to the departments to decide on their own set texts within the parameters laid down here. The recommendations are not meant to be prescriptive in any sense, still less to make all universities in this large and diverse country conform to a set pattern. The proposed division of credit between the various components of a cluster/paper or programme can be readily modified to the extent of 5-10%, or even more in suitable cases. Certain parts of the curriculum have been left specially open-ended, or a number of alternatives proposed side by side, so that universities can take their own decisions.
PLEASE SEE THE DETAILED OBSERVATIONS IN THE PREFATORY NOTE TO THE SAMPLE SYLLABI.

At the same time, it must be ensured that programmes across the country conform to certain norms and structures. Universities must ensure that their students are not found lacking in competence within the general framework laid down here. Only such parity will allow our students to move freely within the Indian university system and avail of all its opportunities, without official problems of equivalence or personal problems of academic adjustment. At the same time, it will allow employers, and society at large, to know approximately what to expect from the products of a particular programme at any Indian university.

Hence institutions, too, must plan their curriculum in a spirit of change, openness and flexibility. In all institutions, especially affiliating universities with many colleges, alternative texts (at the same level of difficulty) should be prescribed wherever possible, leaving the final choice to the particular teachers and students. In all cases, the prescribed texts should be changed every 3-4 years. This will prevent the growth of set patterns of teaching, question-setting and evaluation. It will also limit the harmful effects of ‘bazaar notes’ and coaching institutions, which thrive on the possibility of ‘suggestions’ and ‘expected questions’.
The Compulsory or General English programme at most universities consists of one or two clusters/papers. The compass of the programme is usually determined by the overall demand for English in the hinterland, as well as the total requirements of the BA programme. Hence the target level of such programmes cannot be standardized across the country, or even within a single large university. Much allowance has to be made for the level and extent of English teaching in the feeder schools. At the same time, a minimal standard of English skills need to be ensured among all graduates of all Indian universities. It is the business of this Committee to suggest means to that end.

We have laid down below the basic structure of a three-level programme in Compulsory English. An institution can adopt any one or two of these as the basis for a programme in one or two clusters/papers. In a credit-based semester system, the first one or two levels may be adopted as the base programme, and students proceeding to higher levels given additional credits. The third level may also form part of the ‘Elective’/‘Optional’/‘Subsidiary’ English programme.

In both semester-type and annual-type programmes, there should ideally be a comprehensive structure like that proposed by the earlier Curriculum Development Centre in 1989. In this structure, the institution offers courses at all three levels, and individual students join one or more of them according to their ability and need. The final transcript indicates the number and level of courses taken. The present Committee strongly endorses such an arrangement. It may not be immediately practicable in many cases, but it should be adopted as the ultimate goal.

The division of credit between the various components of each cluster/paper is intended as a general guide. Obviously, universities can adjust this division to suit their special needs. However, all the components at each level should be retained, with approximately the weightage suggested here.

The methods of evaluation indicated below rely on formal classroom testing or examination, keeping in mind the large student numbers, limited time and other constraints of most Compulsory English programmes. Obviously, proper training demands a more interactive process of teaching/learning, with continuous assessment. It is left to the institutions to incorporate as much of this process as possible, and modify the pattern of evaluation accordingly. It is also left to the teachers and institutions to encourage students in habits of general English reading, listening to English radio and television programmes, etc. Wherever possible, language exposure sessions should be conducted on a regular basis, a part of it through field work and practical experience sessions where students can observe and participate in the use of English in real life.
LEVEL 1

FOR A PROGRAMME CONSISTING OF A SINGLE CLUSTER/PAPER

(a) Basic language skills: grammar and usage

The ability to fill in blanks, correct errors, choose correct forms out of alternative choices, join clauses, rewrite sentences as directed, replace indicated sections with single words/opposites/synonyms, etc.

To be assessed by objective/multiple-choice tests: 1x20=20% credit

(b) Comprehension of an unseen passage

This should imply not only (a) an understanding of the passage in question but also (b) a grasp of general language skills and issues with reference to words and usage within the passage and (c) the power of short independent composition based on themes and issues raised in the passage.

To be assessed by both objective/multiple-choice and short-answer type tests. 20% credit

(c) Composition: Paragraph-writing

15% credit

(d) Précis/summary writing

15% credit

There should be formal training in composition and précis/summary writing through instruction, discussion and written work. The students should not be left to conduct these exercises on the strength of their general reading and understanding of the language.

(e) Texts: Short prose pieces (fiction and non-fiction) and (if desired) short poems

The pieces should conform to the practice of simple modern English, whatever their actual date. They should cover a range of authors, subjects and contexts. With poetry, it may sometimes be advisable to include pieces from earlier periods, which are often simpler than modern examples. In all cases, the language should be accessible (with a modicum of explanation and reference to standard dictionaries) to the general body of students schooled in the medium of an Indian language.

Students should be able to grasp the content of each piece; explain specific words, phrases and allusions; and comment on general points of narrative or argument. Formal principles of literary criticism should not be taken up at this stage.

To be assessed by objective/multiple-choice tests (10%) + short answers (20%) = 30% credit
LEVEL 2

(A) SINGLE CLUSTER/PAPER AS ADD-ON TO LEVEL 1

(a) Language skills
Skills such as punctuation of passages, changing between direct and indirect speech, expanding points into complete sentences etc 20% credit

(b) Letter writing 15% credit

(c) Copy-editing/sub-editing an unseen passage (including correction of errors) 15% credit

(d) Basic report-writing/short essay 20% credit

(e) Additional texts: more advanced pieces than in Level 1, covering prose (fiction and non-fiction), poetry and one-act drama. In addition to the skills expected at Level 1, students should be able to discuss broader themes and issues raised by the pieces. To be assessed by objective/multiple-choice tests (10%) + short answers (20%) = 30% credit

(B) INTEGRATED PROGRAMME IN 2 CLUSTERS/PAPERS

Cluster/Paper - I

(a) Language skills
Of the types indicated in Level 1 and Level 2(A) above 30% credit

(b) Composition: writing a short essay 30% credit

(c) Comprehension of an unseen passage 20% credit

(d) Précis/summary writing 20% credit

Cluster/Paper - II

Section 1: Applied English skills

(a) Letter writing 15% credit

(b) Copy-editing/sub-editing a given passage 15% credit

(c) Basic report writing 20% credit
Section 2: Texts

More advanced pieces than in Level 1, covering prose (fiction and non-fiction), poetry and one-act drama.

To be assessed by:

Objective-multiple/choice tests 15% credit
Short-answer tests on factual and explanatory matters 15% credit
Short-answer tests on broader issues and problems 20% credit

LEVEL 3

CLUSTERS/PAPERS I & II AS IN INTEGRATED LEVEL 2 PROGRAMME (SEE ABOVE) +

Cluster/Paper - III

Section 1: Advanced applied skills 50% credit

See note in Preamble on the teaching of applied skills.

Students may be trained in two or more of the following areas, and tested in at least two.

Writing official reports and proposals
Copy-editing and academic editing (stylesheet practice, annotation, proof-reading)
Journalistic report-writing
Script-writing for the media
Writing advertisement copy
Translation
Writing for Internet and preparation of web content

Section 2: Texts 50% credit

The texts in this paper (prose and verse) can be of a more advanced and, in good part, literary nature. Their study may involve basic skills of literary analysis. The questions should be divided between the short-answer type and longer critical questions calling for essay-type answers.
ALTERNATIVE STRUCTURES FOR COMPULSORY ENGLISH PROGRAMMES

(1 or 2 or 3 clusters/papers at 3 levels)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Level 1</th>
<th>Level 2</th>
<th>Level 3</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Remedial</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Remedial</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.</td>
<td></td>
<td>Extra Credit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.</td>
<td></td>
<td>Extra Credit</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ALTERNATIVE STRUCTURES FOR ELECTIVE/SUBSIDIARY ENGLISH PROGRAMMES

(3 clusters/papers)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper - I</th>
<th>Paper - II</th>
<th>Paper - III</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Language:</td>
<td>Language:</td>
<td>Literature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General skills</td>
<td>Applications</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Language:</td>
<td>Language:</td>
<td>Literature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General skills</td>
<td>Applications</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Language:</td>
<td>Language:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General skills</td>
<td>Applications</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ELECTIVE/OPTIONAL/SUBSIDIARY PROGRAMME

This programme should assume that students have acquired basic language skills. If they need further training in this respect at college level, it should be provided through the Compulsory English programme. Elective English students should have the skills needed for Compulsory English Level 2. The substance of Compulsory English Level 3 is incorporated in the present programme.

The Elective programme can be developed along two different lines. Some study of literature, with basic training in literary analysis, may be thought advisable for effective training even in the practical use of English. At the same time, the Elective English programme should not be regarded as training for the academic study of English language and literature. (See remarks in Preamble.) Hence this Committee proposes four clusters/papers for this programme: two comprising practical applications of language skills, and two the study of literary texts. It is suggested that the specific programme devised by a university should follow the pattern of two clusters/papers (200% credit) for any one group, compressing the other group into a single cluster/paper (100% credit); or, alternatively, divide the credit equally between the two groups (i.e., 150% each). The Elective programme should not be exclusively literary, nor oriented exclusively to language training and applications.

As with the Compulsory English programme, the methods of evaluation set out below rely on formal classroom testing or examination, keeping in mind the large student numbers, limited time and other constraints of most Elective or Subsidiary programmes. Obviously, proper training demands a more interactive process of teaching/learning, with continuous assessment. It is left to the institutions to incorporate as much of this process as possible, and modify the pattern of evaluation accordingly. It is also left to the teachers and institutions to encourage students in habits of general English reading, listening to English radio and television programmes, etc. Wherever possible, language exposure sessions should be conducted on a regular basis, a part of it through fieldwork and practical experience sessions where students can observe and participate in the use of English in real life.

LANGUAGE SKILLS AND APPLICATIONS: ONE OR TWO CLUSTERS/PAPERS (SEE ABOVE)

Each cluster/paper in this area should train the student in 2-3 areas of advanced language skills and applications. If one cluster/paper is allotted to this group, it may be divided between (a) general skills and (b) applications. If two clusters/papers are allotted, one of them (100% credit) may be devoted to general skills and the other to applications; but it may be more appropriate at this level to allot only a half-cluster/paper (50% credit) to the former and one and a half clusters/papers (150% credit) to the latter component.

I. General language skills:
   Essay-writing
   Summary or précis-writing
   Report-writing.

II. Applied language skills:

   See note in Preamble on the teaching of applied skills.
   Copy-editing and academic editing (stylesheet practice, annotation, proof-reading)
   Journalistic report-writing, feature-writing, editorial-writing
   Script-writing for film, radio, television
   Broadcasting for radio and television: interview, news presentation, anchoring
   Writing advertisement copy
   Practical translation, interpreting and commentary
   Graphics: Pie-chart, Flow-chart, Storyboard, Comics
   Writing for Internet and preparation of Web content

LITERATURE IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE: ONE OR TWO CLUSTERS/PAPERS (SEE ABOVE)

   Each Cluster/Paper in this area should consist of 6-8 units. Each unit should comprise one long text (novel, full-length play) or a number of shorter texts (poems, short stories, one-act plays). The credit may be apportioned between

   (a) objective/multiple-choice questions to test knowledge of the texts;
   (b) short answers and explanations; and
   (c) longer critical questions requiring essay-type answers.

   The division of credit between these three components may vary according to the thrust of the total programme. In a programme of literary orientation, more weight may be laid on explanations and critical questions than in a programme oriented to language skills and applications.
HONOURS / MAJOR PROGRAMME

NB: THE SAME ITEMS SHOULD NOT BE PRESCRIBED IN CLUSTERS/PAPERS I-II AND III-V. HOWEVER, STUDENTS SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED TO STUDY LINKS AND RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN THE TEXTS IN THE TWO SETS OF CLUSTERS/PAPERS.

CLUSTERS/PAPERS I-II: Basic training in the study of literary texts

Cluster/Paper - I: Part - I: Reading Fiction

Part II: Reading Drama

50% credit

Each Part to include 3-4 units, each unit comprising one long text (novel or full-length play) or a number of shorter texts (one-act plays, short stories). They should cover a range of categories or sub-genres (see sample syllabi later). Basic concepts in the theory of these genres should be brought into their study. Both English-language texts and other texts in English translation to be studied. Basic ideas about these genres to be imparted.

Cluster/Paper - II: Reading Poetry

3-4 units each comprising a group of poems (including extracts from long poems if desired) illustrating the same genre, theme, or other common point of poetic language or practice. They should cover a range of categories or sub-genres (see sample syllabi later). Basic concepts in the theory of these genres should be brought into their study. Both English-language texts and other texts in English translation to be studied. Basic ideas about these genres to be imparted.

Practical Criticism:

Prosody

40% credit

10% credit

Both Practical Criticism and Prosody should have courses or class hours devoted to them, involving formal instruction, discussion and written work.

CLUSTER/PAPERS - III - V: period-wise study of literature in the English Language

Cluster/Paper - III: Literature in English, 1550-1750 (Renaissance to Augustan)

NB: Pieces from Chaucer may be included in this paper if so desired, and the title modified accordingly.
Cluster/Paper - IV: Literature in English, 1750-1900 (Pre-Romantic, Romantic, Victorian)

Cluster/Paper - V: 20th-Century Literature in English

Each Cluster/Paper to comprise

(a) the literary history of the period, with salient background of general history and culture.

Assessment by: Objective/multiple-choice testing 1x10=10% credit

Short-answer questions on authors/texts/issues not prescribed for detailed study 15% credit

(b) 4-5 units for detailed study, each unit comprising one long text (novel, full-length play, long poem etc.) or a number of shorter texts (short poems, one-act plays, short stories, essays etc.). Assessment by:

Objective/multiple-choice questions to test knowledge of texts 1x10=10% credit

Critical questions 50% credit

Explanations/commentary on passages from the above texts 15% credit

Cluster/Paper - VI

Rhetoric, Composition and applied language skills

Rhetoric 20% credit

Composition 40 % credit

‘Rhetoric’ should not merely imply the ability to identify figures of speech in a given text. It should be studied in an active way, enabling the students to recognize the action of rhetoric in their own speech and writing, and employ it more effectively - i.e., ‘rhetoric’ must not be allowed to mean figurative or ornamental writing, but the basic principles of composition. Students should be trained in these basic principles through formal instruction, discussion and written work. They should not simply be left to write an essay on the strength of their general reading and understanding.

Applied language skills

40% credit

See note in Preamble on teaching of applied skills.

One or two of the following areas:

- Précis and report writing
- Copy-editing and academic editing (stylesheet practice, annotation, proof-reading)
- Journalistic report-writing, feature-writing, editorial-writing
- Script-writing for film, radio, TV
- Writing advertisement copy
- Practical translation, interpreting and commentary
- Graphics: Piechart, flow-chart, storyboard, comics
- Writing for Internet and preparation of web content

CLUSTER/PAPER - VII

Language, early literature and critical Terms and concepts

- History of the English language, and History of Old and Middle English literature
  30% credit
- Elements of Linguistics and the Structure of Modern English
  30% credit
- Critical terms and concepts
  40% credit

CLUSTER/PAPER VIII (WITH PROVISION FOR PAPER IX IF DESIRED - VIDE PREAMBLE P. 3)

Universities may exercise their free choice here. However, this cluster/paper should not merely repeat or extend the contents of the previous ones.

Universities may adopt any two of the following choices or analogous ones, either as the two halves of a single cluster/paper, or expanded into two full clusters/papers. In the latter event, the curriculum will comprise 9 full clusters or papers, in terms of the flexible pattern suggested in the Preamble. Institutions with enough resources may offer a choice of options to the students. An affiliating university may approve a number of such courses, allowing individual colleges to choose one or more sets.
Some possibilities are:

(a) Composition (if not covered in Cluster/Paper VI)
(b) Applied language skills, of the types specified in the Elective programme above (if not covered in Cluster/Paper VI, or additionally to those covered there)
(c) History of the English language; structure of modern English; principles of linguistics
(d) History of Old and Middle English literature, with sample texts in modern English
(e) ‘Literature in Other Arts’: the incorporation of literature in another art form, e.g., song, film, theatre arts. This course should involve study of actual texts as well as basic theory where appropriate.
(f) Literature from other languages in translation. This may be restricted, if desired, to either translations from the Indian languages or translations from European and other languages.
(g) Indian writing in English
(h) American literature
(i) Commonwealth literature
(j) The classical and/or Biblical background to English literature
(k) Theory and practice of translation
MASTER OF ARTS PROGRAMME
CHOICE A : ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE
CHOICE B : ENGLISH AND LITERARY STUDIES

CLUSTERS/PAPERS I-IV

CHOICE A: ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

Four clusters/papers covering literature in the English language from 1550 to the present, divided chronologically:

1. 1550-1660
2. 1660-1798
3. 1798-1914
4. 1914 to the present

Each cluster/paper will comprise a core syllabus of 8-10 units for close study, each unit comprising one long text (novel, full-length play, long poem, etc.) or a number of shorter texts (short poems, one-act plays, short stories, essays, etc.). There will be a further list of 10-15 units, comprising primary texts, as background reading. This second group should include works in other European languages read in English translation. Students are to read these works and draw upon them in their study of the first group.

The texts in the core syllabus may include 2-3 items in other European languages, read in English translation.

There will be no formal study of literary history; but students are to have a broad knowledge of the political, social and literary history of the period, and draw upon it in their study of the texts. Some contextual instruction will therefore be needed in the culture, thought, literary trends and movements of the period. Special credit will be given to evidence of background reading in examination answers and other student input. The same will apply to the “background reading” specified for special papers/clusters VII-VIII in some options.

OR

CLUSTERS/PAPERS I - IV

CHOICE B: ENGLISH AND LITERARY STUDIES

Four clusters/papers studying four major literary genres, using texts from various languages:

1. Poetry
2. Drama
3. Fiction
4. Non-fictional prose
The texts will include both original English-language texts and translations into English from various languages (Indian, Western and others if feasible). Each cluster/paper will comprise 8-10 units for close study, each unit comprising one long text (novel, full-length play) or a number of shorter texts (short poems, one-act plays, short stories, essays). There will be a further list of 10-15 items, comprising primary texts, as background reading. Students are to read these works and draw upon them in their study of the first group.

The non-fictional prose texts may cover a number of subjects and genres, or focus on one or two genres or themes (essay, political writing, historical writing, travel writing, biography and autobiography etc.). In the latter case, the cluster/paper may be divided into two parts studying two such generic or thematic groups.

There will be no formal study of literary history; but students are to have a broad knowledge of the political, social and literary context of the works they study. They are also to have a basic knowledge of the critical theory relating to the genre/form/mode in question. Special credit will be given to evidence of background reading in examination answers and other student input. The same will apply to the “background reading” specified for special papers/clusters VII-VIII in some options.

CLUSTER/PAPER - V

CHOICE A: ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

Study of a genre as in any one of Choice B Clusters/Papers 1-4, with 6-8 texts for detailed study and 8-10 as background reading. Texts studied in Choice A Clusters/Papers I-IV are also to be utilised. If possible, universities should allow students an option in the choice of genre.

75% credit

Textual, editorial and bibliographical skills

25% credit

OR

CLUSTER/PAPER - V

CHOICE B: ENGLISH AND LITERARY STUDIES

Study of a period of English literature as in any one of Choice A Clusters/Papers 1-4, with 6-8 texts for detailed study and 8-10 as background reading. Texts studied in Choice B Clusters/Papers I-IV are also to be utilised.

Or

Study of an English literary movement or phenomenon (e.g., Neoclassicism, Romanticism, Modernism) in relation to European and other contexts as appropriate. 75% credit
If possible, universities should allow students an option in the choice of period or topic.

Textual, editorial and bibliographical skills

25% credit

CLUSTER/PAPER - VI (for both Choices A and B)

Critical Theory

The principles of major European critical theory, from early times to the present day, from a selection of representative texts and critics. Classical Indian theory may also be included if desired.

CLUSTERS/PAPERS VII - VIII (for both Choices A and B)+Paper IX if desired-vide Preamble p.4

A range of options to be offered (one or two per cluster/paper). The material studied in these clusters/papers should not overlap with that in Clusters/Papers I-VI, though of course texts and topics studied there can be brought to aid the study of these optional areas.

As these papers are intended to extend the student’s academic range, they should embrace critical and interdisciplinary study of texts in many languages. The suggested topics, texts and authors therefore cover languages other than English wherever appropriate.

Suggested options:

(a) Special study of a major English-language author, with reference to his/her selected works. For a half-cluster/paper, the selected corpus should include 4-5 long works (novel, full-length play) or an equivalent amount of other material. For a full cluster/paper, there should be 8-10 such items or their equivalent. Students should also have a basic knowledge of the life and literary milieu of the author, and the social context of his work.

(b) (For students offering Choice A) special study of a genre other than that studied in Choice A Cluster/Paper V, using examples from various languages. The paper to be structured like Papers 1-4 in Choice B, with texts for detailed study plus background reading.

(c) European literature in translation, of a particular period.

(d) The reception of English/European literature in India; its interaction with Indian literature. The study may focus on a particular region or language of India in relation to English/European literature. It can cover (i) English/European works important in the transaction; (ii) Indian works illustrating or incorporating the transaction; (iii) texts documenting reception and interaction; (iv) secondary works narrating or studying the process.
(e) Interdisciplinary areas, e.g.

- Literature and other arts (visual arts, music, theatre arts, film etc.)
- Literature and gender
- Literature and science
- Literature, psychology and psychoanalysis
- Literature and philosophy
- Popular literature

(f) Major critical concepts, movements and phenomena of literary history, e.g. humanism, Petrarchism, neoclassicism, romanticism, realism, modernism, postmodernism, absurdism, orientalism, imitation, symbolism, expressionism. Use may be made of the recommendations of the CDC Report of 1989 regarding ‘Special Studies’ for clusters/papers such as ‘Women’s Writing’, ‘Literature of Utopia and Dystopia’, ‘Literature of Protest’, ‘The Colonial Encounter’ (vide CDC Report, 1989, pp.259-272). Some of these areas are also covered by items in the present list.

(g) Old and Middle English, medieval European literature and the history of the English language

(h) American literature

(i) Indian writing in English

(j) The study of English in India

(k) New literatures in English: study of a special region or country, or a selection from several such

(l) Colonial and postcolonial studies

(m) Linguistics and stylistics

(n) English language teaching

(j) Translation and translation theory

(p) Theory and methodology of Comparative Literature

(q) The history of the book

(r) Mass communication and media studies

(s) Creative writing

CLUSTER/PAPER - IX (OR X)

Two or three of the following components, on a continuous basis where appropriate:

- Tutorial work, term papers, project work, short dissertation, viva voce.
STRUCTURE OF THE M. A. PROGRAMME

CHOICE - A

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE</th>
<th>ENGLISH AND LITERARY STUDIES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cluster/Paper I</td>
<td>Cluster/Paper I</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literature in English Language, 1550-1660</td>
<td>Poetry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cluster/Paper II</td>
<td>Cluster/Paper II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literature in English Language, 1660-1798</td>
<td>Drama</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cluster/Paper III</td>
<td>Cluster/Paper III</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literature in English Language, 1798-1914</td>
<td>Fiction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cluster/Paper IV</td>
<td>Cluster/Paper IV</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literature in English Language, 1914-</td>
<td>Non-Fictional Prose</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cluster/Paper V</td>
<td>Cluster/Paper V</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Study of a Genre</td>
<td>Study of a period of English literature or an English literary movement</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

+ Textual, editorial and bibliographical skills (Both Choices A and B)

Cluster/Paper VI: Critical theory

Clusters/Papers VII-VIII (or VII-IX)
Options (one or two per cluster/paper)

Cluster/Paper IX (or X)
Tutorials, term papers, projects, short dissertation, viva voce
SAMPLE SYLLABI FOR HONOURS AND MA PROGRAMMES

The sample syllabi given below are meant only as models and suggestions. They are neither exclusive nor comprehensive; not worked-out syllabi but merely a set of suggested items, structures and parameters. Departments are not expected to follow them in toto, but to design their own courses using these materials, or even fashion totally new courses of equivalent length and substance. Hence we have not provided samples for every cluster/paper and alternative proposed above; but all types of proposed clusters/papers can be constructed on the models given here.

The items listed under each head are designedly too numerous to be accommodated in a single cluster/paper. A list headed ‘Selections from…’ does not imply that all the named writers need be included. At the same time, the lists are not exhaustive: other items on a par can be added to them. Departments can select from the listed items or choose equivalent ones. They should, however, take care that their choice does not focus on one part of the topic or period to the exclusion of others.

Many texts are appropriate for more than one cluster/paper, and at different levels. We have listed them under a number of heads. It is for each department to determine where they wish to place them, and to ensure that there is no overlap.

The sample syllabi have greatly varying structures, illustrating various possibilities and reflecting the varied demands of the material. Sometimes, theoretical works or even secondary studies are listed alongside primary texts; elsewhere the primary material is left to tell its own story, perhaps through meaningful pairings and groupings. We have illustrated a variety of models to indicate the range of possible structures and approaches.

Departments are, however, asked to observe the following basic principles:

(I) The substance of each cluster/paper should be equivalent to that of the core clusters/papers (I-V in BA, I-IV in MA). If desired, a paper/cluster can be divided into two halves, or a cluster under the semester system divided into a number of courses as appropriate.

(II) In the clusters/papers oriented to a genre or to theory, there should be sufficient presence of English-language texts and/or those translated from other European languages.

(III) Themes, concepts and theories should be linked to texts and not merely studied in the abstract from secondary works.
THE BASIC PRINCIPLES TO REMEMBER:

(a) THE SAMPLE SYLLABI ARE NOT MEANT TO BE FOLLOWED TOTALLY AND EXACTLY. CHOOSE FROM THEM AND ADD TO THEM. THEY ARE DESIGNEDLY TOO LONG. NOT ALL ITEMS ARE APPROPRIATE FOR ALL SITUATIONS. PLEASE TREAT THESE SAMPLES AS SUGGESTIONS, NOT FINISHED SYLLABI.

(b) FEEL FREE TO MAKE UP YOUR OWN SYLLABI ON THESE MODELS, OR EVEN DESIGN EQUIVALENT MODELS, AS LONG AS THEY MATCH THE GENERAL STRUCTURES SUGGESTED HERE.

Given the time taken to formulate and sanction a new syllabus, it may be advisable to obtain formal approval of a multiple-point syllabus containing alternative items for every unit. The prescribed items can then be changed every 3-4 years without having to seek fresh approval in each case.

N.B.: First publication details have been given for secondary and reference works, and for collections of texts. Current editions, if any, may carry a different imprint, and there may also be other editions including Indian reprints. No references have been given for primary works included in the substantive body of texts suggested for each paper.

Where texts from languages other than English have been recommended for inclusion, we have tried to ascertain that there is an English translation. Omissions in this regard may be brought to our notice.
B.A. HONOURS / MAJOR PROGRAMME

In all clusters/papers below, a unit will comprise one long work (e.g., novel, full-length play, long poem etc.) or a number of shorter works (short poems, short stories, essays etc.).

CLUSTER/PAPER - I:
PART - I: READING FICTION

Examples may be chosen to illustrate 3-4 of the following categories or other similar ones.

Epic/romance/linked narrative-series. Possibilities: the Odyssey; the Ramayana; selections from the Mahabharata; selections from the Kathasaritsagaram or Arabian Nights or Manimekalai or Boccaccio’s Decameron or Chaucer’s Canterbury Tales (in modern English rendering)

The historical novel. Possibilities: a novel by Walter Scott or Bankimchandra Chatterjee

Gothic fiction. Possibilities: Mary Shelley, Frankenstein; Poe, The Fall of the House of Usher; a work by Isaac Dinesen or Joyce Carol Oates

The 19th-century realistic novel. Possibilities: a novel by Dickens, Balzac or George Eliot; later Indian instances by, e.g., Saratchandra Chatterjee or Premchand

The bildungsroman. Possibilities: Goethe, Wilhelm Meister; Dickens, David Copperfield; Charlotte Brontë, Jane Eyre; Lawrence, Sons and Lovers; Joyce, Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man

The stream-of-consciousness novel: Woolf, Mrs Dalloway

Short stories: works by one or more of Guy de Maupassant, O. Henry, Anton Chekhov, Tagore, Premchand, Manto, Bashir etc.

PART - II: READING DRAMA

Examples may be chosen to illustrate 3-4 of the following categories or other similar ones.

Roman comedy. A play by Plautus or Terence.

Realism and the drama of ideas: Possibilities: Ibsen, A Doll’s House or Ghost; a play by Shaw.

Epic theatre. Brecht, Galileo or The Caucasian Chalk Circle.
African theatre. Possibilities: Soyinka, The Road or The Lion and the Jewel

A play by Tagore: e.g., The Post Office

Modern Indian drama: e.g., Karnad, Hayavadana or Tendulkar, Silence! The Court is in Session

Japanese Noh drama, in conjunction with a play by Yeats, e.g. At the Hawk’s Well or The Only Jealousy of Emer

CLUSTER/PAPER - II: READING POETRY

Examples may be chosen to illustrate 3-4 of the following categories or other similar ones:

Lyric poetry: In view of the very large range of lyric poetry, it is suggested that a selection should be made of poems on a single major theme, e.g., love, nature, women’s experience, devotion, time, death. (Or two such themes may be adopted as 2 units.) Examples should be chosen from a range of languages and periods, e.g.,

- Vedic hymns; early Greek lyrics; Sanskrit lyrics; Sangam lyrics; Catullus and Horace; medieval European lyric; Elizabethan and early 17th-century lyric; Bhakti poetry; Sufi poetry; Ghalib and other Urdu ghazals; Haiku poetry; Chinese lyrics; women poets (C.Rossetti, E.Bronte, E.B. Browning, Dickinson, Plath, etc.); Tagore; the New Signatures poets; Dylan Thomas; Lorca; Frost; Pasternak.

- The Sonnet: Early Italian and Petrarch; Shakespeare and other Elizabethan sonnet-writers; Milton; Wordsworth, Keats; Hopkins; Auden; Graves

  [The elegy may also be used to study the pastoral convention.]

- Satire: Horace, Juvenal; Donne; Dryden, Pope, Swift, Johnson; Burns; Byron; T.S. Eliot; Roy Campbell; Auden

- The Ode: Pindar; Horace; the Renaissance Italian canzone and its English imitations; Marvell, Horatian Ode on Cromwell’s Return; Gray, Collins; the Romantic ode (Wordsworth, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats); Allen Tate, Ode to the Confederate Dead.

PROSODY: Suggested textbooks/reference books

CLUSTER/PAPER - III: LITERATURE IN ENGLISH, 1550-1750

4-5 units among the categories suggested below or equivalent ones, along with the literary history of the period and salient background of general and cultural history, for separate study and assessment.

Selected poetry I. E.g., from Wyatt, Sidney, Spenser, Ralegh, Shakespeare (non-dramatic), Drayton

Selected poetry II. E.g., from Donne, Herbert, Jonson, Herrick, Vaughan, Marvell, Milton

A Shakespearean comedy

A Shakespearean tragedy

A play by an English Renaissance dramatist other than Shakespeare

Augustan poetry. Selections from Dryden, Pope

Prose pieces. E.g., from Bacon, Donne, Burton, Browne, Milton, Hobbes, Addison, Steele, Johnson

Historical and literary topics: the Renaissance; humanism; the Reformation; the Civil War and Protectorate; the Restoration; voyages of discovery and the rise of colonialism

Earlier drama; Petrarchism and the sonnet cycle; the influence of Seneca and classical dramatic theory; the Elizabethan and Jacobean stage; the course of English Renaissance drama; Restoration drama; the rise of the periodical essay and the novel

CLUSTER/PAPER - IV: LITERATURE IN ENGLISH, 1750-1900

4-5 units among the categories suggested below or equivalent ones, along with the literary history of the period and salient background of general and cultural history, for separate study and assessment.

Earlier Romantic poetry. E.g., from Burns, Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge (and possibly others)

Later Romantic poetry. E.g., from Shelley, Keats, Byron (and possibly others)

Victorian poetry. E.g., from Tennyson, Browning, Arnold, the Rossettis, Morris, Hopkins (and possibly others)

American poetry. E.g., from Poe, Whitman, Dickinson

A novel by Dickens
Another novel from the earlier 19th century. E.g., a work by Austen, Charlotte Brontë, Emily Brontë, George Eliot, Thackeray or Gaskell

A novel of the later 19th century. E.g., a work by Twain, Hardy, Meredith or Samuel Butler

Selected short stories. E.g., from Poe, Hawthorne, Melville, O. Henry

Selected non-fictional prose. E.g., from Hazlitt, De Quincey, Wollstonecraft, Mill, Carlyle, Ruskin, Arnold, Thoreau, Emerson, Darwin

Historical and literary topics: The French Revolution; the American War of Independence; the Reform Acts; the impact of industrialization; colonialism and imperialism; Marx and Engels; scientific thought and discoveries; faith and doubt

Classical and Romantic; the Romantic concept of the imagination; varieties of Romantic and Victorian poetry; Scott; the Victorian novel; realism and the novel; Victorian prose; aestheticism

CLUSTER/PAPER - V: 20th-CENTURY LITERATURE IN ENGLISH

4-5 units among the categories suggested below or equivalent ones, along with the literary history of the period and salient background of general and cultural history, for separate study and assessment.

Selected poetry. The equivalent of 2-3 units to be chosen from Yeats, T.S. Eliot, Rupert Brooke, Sassoon, Owen, Auden, Spender, Macneice, Dylan Thomas, Larkin, Ted Hughes, Thom Gunn, Frost, Plath, Adrienne Rich, Nissim Ezekiel, Derek Walcott

A novel by Conrad, Kipling or Forster

Another novel. E.g., by Scott Fitzgerald, Achebe, Golding, J.D. Salinger, Joseph Heller, Ralph Ellison, R.K. Narayan, Anita Desai

Selected short stories. E.g., by Joyce, Lawrence, Katherine Mansfield, Hemingway, R.K. Narayan, Shashi Deshpande, Isaac B. Singer

A play. E.g., by Synge, Shaw, Sean O’Casey, T.S.Eliot, Miller, Williams, Beckett (Waiting for Godot), Osborne, Pinter, Stoppard or Soyinka.

Selected non-fictional prose. E.g., by Woolf, Forster, Lynd, Greene, Tagore, Nehru, Sri Aurobindo, Nirad C. Chaudhuri.

Historical and literary topics: The two World Wars; the Russian Revolution; the Great Depression; imperialism and decolonization; the Indian National Movement and Independence; the Vietnam War.

Freudian thought; existentialism, absurdism; feminism; modernism and post-modernism; new developments in fiction and drama; the rise of new literatures in English, with special reference to Indian writing in English.
IN CLUSTERS/PAPERS III - V, THE FOLLOWING WORKS ARE SUGGESTED FOR STUDYING THE LITERARY HISTORY OF THE PERIODS IN QUESTION:

Suggested textbooks:

Suggested reference books:

The Sphere History of Literature series

The New Pelican Guide to English Literature series

The Longman Literature in English series

CLUSTER/PAPER - VII

LANGUAGE, EARLY LITERATURE AND CRITICAL TERMS AND CONCEPTS

The History of the English language.

Suggested textbooks:

C.L. Wrenn, The English Language (Methuen, London, 1952)

D. Freeborn, From Old English to Standard English (Macmillan, 1992) - with workbook

Suggested reference books:

History of Old and Middle English Literature

See references for History of Literature under Clusters/Papers III-V above.

Linguistics and the structure of modern English.

Suggested textbooks/reference books:

Critical terms and concepts

Suggested textbooks/reference books:

D. Daiches, Critical Approaches to Literature (Longman, NY, 1956)

CLUSTER/PAPER - VIII

(F) LITERATURE FROM OTHER LANGUAGES IN TRANSLATION

(I) Translations from Indian languages: Choice of possible texts

Poetry:

Ramayana (whole or selections), Mahabharata (selections)

Kalidasa, Meghadutam

Thirukkural

Ilango Adigal, Silappadikaram

Kabir, Hundred Poems trans. Rabindranath Tagore

Bhakti and Sangam poetry

Vaishnava poetry, e.g., Vidyapati

Tukaram

Selections from Sufi literature

Tagore, Gitanjali
Fiction:

Banabhatta, Kadambari
Tagore, The Home and the World
Sharatchandra Chatterjee, Shrikanta
Premchand, Godaan
Phanishwarnath Renu, Maila Anchal
Bibhutibhushan Banerjee, Pather Panchali
Gopinath Mohanty, Paraja
U.R. Anantha Murthy, Samskara
Shrilal Shukla, Raag Darbari
M.T. Vasudevan Nair, The Second Turn
Chudamani, Yamini
Short Stories by Tagore, Premchand, Manto, Bashir, Ashokamitran etc.

Drama:

Bhasa, Svapnavasadatta
Kalidasa, Sakuntala
Shudraka, Mrichchhakatikam
Tagore, The Post Office
Tendulkar, Silence! The Court Is in Session
Girish Karnad, Hayavadana
Badal Sircar, Procession or Evam Indrajit
Indira Parthasarathy, Aurangzeb

Autobiography:

Gandhi, The Story of My Experiments with Truth

This list can be supplemented by titles from the appropriate regional literature.

(ii) Translations from European languages: Choice of possible texts

Homer: selections from the Iliad and/or Odyssey
Aeschylus, Agamemnon or Prometheus Bound
Sophocles, Antigone
Euripides, Medea or Hippolytus
Virgil, selections from the Aeneid
Dante, selections from The Divine Comedy
Petrarch, selected poems
Villon, selected poems
Cervantes, selections from Don Quixote
Voltaire, Candide
Schiller, William Tell or Joan Maid of Orleans
Hugo, Les Misérables or The Hunchback of Notre Dame
Maupassant, short stories
Dumas, The Three Musketeers or The Count of Monte Cristo
Chekhov, The Three Sisters or The Cherry Orchard
Turgenev, Mumu
Gorky, Mother
Mann, short stories
Ionesco, The Bald Prima Donna or Chairs
Anouilh, The Lark

(G) INDIAN WRITING IN ENGLISH: choice of possible texts

Poetry: E.g., by Derozio, Toru Dutt, Sri Aurobindo, Sarojini Naidu, Nissim Ezekiel, P.Lal, A.K. Ramanujan, Arun Kolatkar, R. Parthasarathy, Jayanta Mahapatra, Gauri Deshpande, Vikram Seth

Fiction:
Mulk Raj Anand, Untouchable
R.K. Narayan, The English Teacher or The Bachelor of Arts or The Dark Room
Manohar Malgonkar, A Bend in the Ganges
Kamala Markandeya, Nectar in a Sieve
Rama Mehta, Inside the Haveli
Ruskin Bond, The Room on the Roof or Vagrants in the Valley or Time Stops at Shamli
Salman Rushdie, Haroun and the Sea of Stories
Amitav Ghosh, The Shadow Lines or In an Antique Land

Drama:
Asif Currimbhoy, Goa or Inquilab or Darjeeling Tea
Mahesh Dattani, Final Solutions
Non-fictional prose:

Nirad C. Chaudhuri, The Autobiography of an Unknown Indian

Selected English prose by Gandhi, Nehru, Tagore

(H) American Literature: choice of possible texts

Poetry: selections from Poe, Whitman, Dickinson, Emerson, Frost, Sandberg, e e cummings, Plath, Langston Hughes, Gwendolen Brooks

Fiction:

Irving, The Legend of Sleepy Hollow

Twain, The Prince and the Pauper or A Connecticut Yankee at the Court of King Arthur

Hemingway, The Old Man and the Sea

Fitzgerald, The Great Gatsby

Steinbeck, The Winter of Our Discontent or The Red Pony

Salinger, The Catcher in the Rye

Alice Walker, Color Purple

Short stories by Poe, Hawthorne, Bret Harte, O.Henry, Willa Cather, Kate Chopin

Drama:

O’Neill, Long Day’s Journey into Night or Desire under the Elms

Wilder, Our Town

Williams, The Glass Menagerie or A Streetcar Named Desire

Albee, The Zoo Story

Miller, Death of a Salesman or All My Sons

Sam Shepard, Tooth of Crime

Lorraine Hansbury, Raisin in the Sun

Lillian Hellman, Little Foxes

Non-fictional prose:

Thoreau, Walden (selections); Emerson (selected essays); Lincoln, Gettysberg address, Presidential address after election to second term of office; Whitman, Preface to Leaves of Grass
(J) CLASSICAL AND BIBLICAL BACKGROUND TO ENGLISH LITERATURE

(a) Classical: choice of possible texts

Homer: Iliad or Odyssey (entire or selections)
Aeschylus, Agamemnon; Prometheus Bound
Sophocles, Oedipus Rex or Antigone
Euripides, Medea or Hippolytus
Plato, a short dialogue such as Ion
Theocritus, selected idylls
Longus, Daphnis and Chloe
Plutarch, selections from Moralia
Virgil, selected eclogues; Aeneid (entire or selections)
Catullus, Horace: selected lyrics
Horace, Juvenal: selected satires
Ovid, one book from Metamorphoses
Cicero, selections from the Familiar Letters
A comedy by Plautus or Terence
Seneca: Hercules Furens or Thyestes
Marcus Aurelius: selections

(b) Biblical: possible texts and topics

Genesis; Exodus; Job; Psalms (selections); narrative portions of Judges and Kings; Daniel; Ruth; Matthew, John (or all 4 Gospels); a simple introduction to the doctrines of the Pauline epistles, especially Romans and Corinthians; Revelation

For reference:

“ Classical Influences in English Poetry (G Allen & Unwin, London, 1951)
H.C. Baldry, Greek Literature and the Modern Reader (Cambridge UP, 1960)
M.A. PROGRAMME

In all these clusters/papers, III and IV in particular, the range of suggested authors and texts is so wide that only a limited number of them can be prescribed, even for 'background reading'. Students should be encouraged to carry out more background reading beyond the syllabus.

In all papers, a 'unit' should comprise one long work (novel, full-length play, long poem etc.) or an equivalent body of shorter texts (short poems, short stories, essays etc.). In the interest of serious analysis, any author included at all should be represented by a certain modicum of text. With shorter poetry and prose pieces in particular, we should not end up with a long, diffuse list of writers, each represented by one or two pieces. Usually, such a syllabus affords no particular insight into either the author or the age. At the same time, an entire unit should not be devoted to the short poems or prose pieces of a single author to the exclusion of other comparable ones. Provision has been made in later papers for specialised study.

CHOICE A : ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

N.B. In Choice A, Clusters/Papers I-IV, the texts for background reading, and the continental works suggested for close study, may include works from outside the period but related to it.

CLUSTER/PAPER - I: CHOICE A
LITERATURE IN ENGLISH, 1550-1660

(a) 8-10 units for close study from the categories below or equivalent ones.

1-2 units of selected poems: e.g., from Wyatt, Sidney, Spenser, Shakespeare’s non-dramatic poetry, Drayton, Jonson’s non-dramatic poetry, Donne, Herbert, Vaughan, Marvell or other poets. Excerpts from long poems may be included.

Spenser, The Faerie Queene: one book
Milton, Paradise Lost: one or more books
3-4 units comprising plays by Shakespeare
A play by a dramatist other than Shakespeare, 1550-1600
A play by a dramatist other than Shakespeare, 1600-1660
(Of the last two items, one should preferably be a comedy and the other a tragedy.)

Selected prose: e.g., by Sidney, Nashe, Hooker, Bacon, Donne, Ralegh, Browne, Burton, Milton, Hobbes. Excerpts from long works may be included.

Selected continental work(s) in English translation, e.g., Machiavelli, The Prince; Pico della Mirandola, Oration on the Dignity of Man; Rabelais, Gargantua and Pantagruel (one book); Castiglione, The Book of the Courtier, Bk.IV; Erasmus, The Praise of Folly or selections from Colloquies or Adagia; More, Utopia; Montaigne, selected essays; Calvin, selections from the Institutes.

(b) Background reading: 10-15 units.

From among units not prescribed for close study from the list above, plus the following possibilities or other equivalent ones. A balance should be maintained between English and continental works.

Seneca, selected tragedies (preferably in Elizabethan translation); Rabelais, Gargantua and Pantagruel (entire); Ariosto, Orlando Furioso (in part or whole); Tasso, Jerusalem Delivered; Cervantes, Don Quixote; Lyly, Euphues; English plays of the period not prescribed for close study; Sidney, Arcadia (in whole or part), An Apology for Poetry.

A suggested combination of units for this paper would be:

2-3 units poetry (including Spenser and Milton), 3-4 units Shakespearean drama, 2 units other drama, 1 unit non-fictional prose, 1-2 units continental literature in translation, comprising 8-10 units in all.

CLUSTER/PAPER - II: CHOICE A

LITERATURE IN ENGLISH, 1660-1798

(a) 8-10 units for close study from the categories below or equivalent ones.

2-3 units of selected poems: e.g., by Butler, Dryden, Pope, Swift, James Thompson, Johnson, Goldsmith, Burns, Gray, Collins, Crabbe. Excerpts from long poems may be included.

1-2 units from among a comedy of manners a heroic tragedy
a sentimental play
A novel by Aphra Behn
Defoe, Robinson Crusoe or Moll Flanders
Fielding, Tom Jones or Joseph Andrews
Smollett, Roderick Random or Humphrey Clinker
Sterne, Tristram Shandy
Swift, Gulliver’s Travels or A Tale of a Tub or A Modest Proposal or a selection of his other prose works

1-2 units comprising selected prose: e.g., by Pepys, Locke, Addison, Steele, Johnson, Boswell, Gibbon. Excerpts from long works may be included.

Johnson, selected prose
A play by Corneille, Racine or Molière
Voltaire, Candide
Rousseau, Confessions or Emile

Background reading: 10-15 titles/units.

From among units not prescribed for close study from the list above, plus the following possibilities or other equivalent ones. A balance should be maintained between English and continental works.

A suggested combination of units for this paper would be:

2-3 units poetry, 1-2 units drama, 2 units fiction, 1-2 units non-fictional prose, 1-2 units continental literature in translation, comprising 8-10 units in all.

Cluster/Paper - III: Choice A

Literature in English, 1798-1914

(a) 8-10 units for close study from the categories below or equivalent ones.

3 units of selected poems: e.g., by Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Scott, Shelley, Keats, Byron, Southey, Moore, Campbell, Tennyson, Browning, Arnold, Clough, Christina Rossetti, D.G.
Rossetti, Swinburne, Morris, Hopkins, Poe, Whitman, Dickinson. Excerpts from long works may be included.

3-4 units of fiction, including one novel by Dickens and works by e.g., Thackeray, the Brontës, George Eliot, Gaskell, Gissing, Trollope, Meredith, Hardy, Butler, Conrad, Poe, James, Hawthorne, Melville, Twain, Fenimore Cooper, O. Henry. (One unit among these might comprise short stories.)

Selected prose: e.g., by Arnold, Carlyle, Ruskin, Pater, Wilde, Emerson, Thoreau, Holmes. Excerpts from long works may be included.

A play by Shaw, Synge or Yeats composed during this period

1-2 units comprising works (in English translation) by e.g., Stendhal, Balzac, George Sand, Flaubert, Zola, Manzoni, Pushkin, Gogol, Tolstoy, Dostoevsky, Ibsen

(b) Background reading: 10-15 titles/units.

From among units not prescribed for close study from the list above, plus the following possibilities or other equivalent ones:

A suggested combination of units for this paper would be:

2-3 units poetry, 3-4 units fiction, 1-2 units non-fictional prose, 1 unit drama, 1-2 units continental literature in translation, comprising 8-10 units in all.

CLUSTER/PAPER IV: CHOICE A

LITERATURE IN ENGLISH, 1914-2000

(a) 8-10 units for close study from the categories below or equivalent ones.

1 unit comprising selected poems by Yeats and Eliot

2 of the following other units of poetry:

(a) British: e.g., by Hardy; Pound; Auden and associated poets (Spender, Macniece, Day Lewis); Dylan Thomas; a group comprising Larkin, Ted Hughes and Thom Gunn; Seamus Heaney

(c) Indian: e.g., by Sarojini Naidu, Sri Aurobindo, Nissim Ezekiel, A.K. Ramanujan, P.Lal, R. Parthasarathy, Jayanta Mahapatra, Arun Kolatkar, Keki Daruwalla, Kamala Das, Gauri Deshpande, Adil Jussawala, Vikram Seth

(d) Other New Literatures: e.g., by A.D. Hope, Margaret Atwood, Judith Wright, E.J. Pratt, Derek Walcott, E.R. Braithwaite, Leonard Cohen, Alan Curnew

1 unit of British fiction: a novel by Conrad, Kipling, Forster, Joyce, Woolf, Lawrence or Galsworthy

1 unit of American fiction: a novel by Fitzgerald, Faulkner, Hemingway, Steinbeck, Bellow, Updike, Toni Morrison, Pynchon, Barth or Richard Wright

1-2 of the following other units of fiction:

(a) British: e.g., a novel by Huxley, Greene, Orwell, Golding, Angus Wilson or Murdoch

(c) Other New Literatures: e.g., a novel by Doris Lessing, Alan Paton, Nadine Gordimer, J.M. Coetzee, Ngugi wa Thiong’o, Chinua Achebe, V.S. Naipaul, George Lamming, Samuel Selvon, Patrick White, Kinnelly, David Malouf, Margaret Laurence, Margaret Atwood, Michael Ondaatje, Kroetsch

(d) Short stories: e.g., by Mansfield, Joyce, Lawrence, Forster, Maugham, Kipling, Thomas Woolf, Willa Cather, Updike, R.K. Narayan, Raja Rao, Ruth Prawer Jhabvala

2 units of drama: e.g., by Sean O’Casey, T.S. Eliot, Christopher Fry, Osborne, Beckett, Pinter, Shelagh Delaney, Robert Bolt, Edward Bond, John Arden, Arnold Wesker, Tom Stoppard, Wole Soyinka, David Williamson, Eugene O’Neill, Tennessee Williams, Arthur Miller, Edward Albee, Derek Walcott, Ntozake Shange, Sam Shepard, Athol Fugard. The two units should be from different periods and national/contextual origins.

1 unit comprising a continental work in English translation, either

(a) Fiction. E.g., a novel by Proust, Mann, Kafka, Camus, Pasternak, Sholokhov, Grass (The Tin Drum), Lampedusa (The Leopard); or
(b) Drama. E.g., a play by Chekhov, Cocteau, the Capek brothers, Pirandello, Lorca, Brecht, Genet, Sartre, Ionesco, Anouilh, Giraudoux

(b) Background reading: 10-15 titles/units.

From among units not prescribed for close study from the list above, plus the following possibilities or other equivalent ones:

- Sartre: selections from On Being and Nothingness (in conjunction with Kierkegaard)
- Camus: The Myth of Sisyphus
- Selections from Freud, Frazer (The Golden Bough), Lenin, Bertrand Russell

A suggested combination of units for this paper would be:

- 3 units poetry (including poetry unit 1); 3-4 units fiction (including fiction units 1 and 2); 2-3 units drama; and, if desired, 1 unit of work in translation, comprising 8-10 units in all.
CHOICE B : ENGLISH AND LITERARY STUDIES

CLUSTER/PAPER I: CHOICE B

POETRY

(a) 8-10 units for close study from among the categories below or equivalent ones. They should be chosen to represent a range of countries, periods and types. Sometimes, however, two or three units may be chosen from the same category to allow intensive or contrastive study. Texts not originally written in English are to be read in English translation.

It is suggested that 3-4 units of the cluster/paper should comprise epic and narrative, and the rest shorter poems.

Epic poetry: whole texts or selections from among Homer, Iliad, Odyssey; Ramayana; Mahabharata; Virgil, Aeneid; Milton, Paradise Lost

The romantic epic: selections from Ariosto’s Orlando Furioso, Tasso’s Jerusalem Delivered and Spenser’s The Faerie Queene; or 1 complete book of The Faerie Queene.

Mythological narrative poetry: e.g., by Ovid, Metamorphoses (selections); Kalidasa, Meghadutam (whole) or Kumarasambhavam cantos 1-7; Marlowe, Hero and Leander; Sestiads 1-2; Shakespeare, Venus and Adonis.

Dante, The Divine Comedy: selections, or one of the 3 main divisions (e.g., Inferno)

Other narrative poetry: e.g., by Chaucer, The Canterbury Tales (selections); Shakespeare, The Rape of Lucrece; Coleridge, The Ancient Mariner; Keats, The Eve of St Agnes; Byron, Childe Harold’s Pilgrimage (selections) or Don Juan (selections); Pushkin, Eugene Onegin (whole or selections); Tennyson, Idylls of the King (selections); Walcott, Omeros

Classical European lyric and other shorter poetry: e.g., by Sappho, Alcaeus, Anacreon, Theocritus, Virgil (Eclogues), Catullus, Horace

Courtly love, Petrarchism and Renaissance love-poetry: e.g., from Dante (The New Life) and other poets of his time, Petrarch, Ronsard, Michelangelo, Shakespeare’s sonnets and other Elizabethan sonnets, Donne and Marvell

Satire: e.g., by Horace, Juvenal, Dryden, Pope, Johnson

Romantic and post-romantic lyric: e.g., by Blake, Wordsworth, Shelley, Keats, Heine, Hugo, Lamartine, Tennyson, Arnold, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Christina Rossetti, Emily Dickinson

Symbolist poetry: e.g., by Baudelaire, Rimbaud, Mallarmé, Verlaine, Valéry, Laforgue, Rilke

Modernism and after: e.g., by Yeats, Eliot, Pound, Auden, Dylan Thomas, Larkin; Roethke, Lowell, Crane, William Carlos Williams, Wallace Stevens, Sylvia Plath
Political and war poetry: e.g., by Langland, Blake, Mayakovsky, Blok, Owen

Religious and devotional poetry: e.g., hymns from the Rig-Veda; the Psalms and the Song of Solomon; Sufi poetry; Bhakti poetry (Kabir, Meera, Tukaram); poems by, e.g., Donne, Herbert; Hopkins; Kahlil Gibran

Indian poetry: e.g., by Tagore, Jibanananda Das, Subramanium Bharati, Nissim Ezekiel

Persian poetry: e.g., by Omar Khayyam, Firdausi

Chinese poetry (trans. Arthur Waley and/or later translations)

(b) Background Reading:

10-15 units from the titles and categories above not included among the core texts for close study.

CLUSTER/PAPER - II: CHOICE B DRAMA

(a) 8-10 units for close study from among the categories below or equivalent ones. Each unit will normally comprise one full-length play. They should be chosen to cover a range of periods and types. Sometimes, however, two or three units may be chosen from the same period or type to allow intensive or contrastive study. Texts not originally written in English are to be read in English translation.

Greek tragedy (suggested: 2 titles comprising 2 units)

Greek (Aristophanic) comedy

A comedy by Plautus or Terence

Shakespearean tragedy

Shakespearean comedy and history plays

English Renaissance drama other than Shakespeare

(suggested: 3 units of Renaissance English drama including Shakespeare)

Other Renaissance drama (e.g., a play by Calderón)

Heroic drama

Comedy of manners
French Neoclassical comedy (Molière)

French Neoclassical tragedy (Corneille or Racine)

Goethe, Faust Part I

Ibsen

Other realistic drama (suggested: Strindberg, Miss Julia or Chekhov, The Cherry Orchard)

Shaw

Brecht: e.g., Mother Courage, The Caucasian Chalk Circle or The Good Woman of Szechwan

20th-Century American drama: e.g., a play by O'Neill, Tennessee Williams or Miller

Post-war British drama: e.g., a play by Beckett, Osborne, Wesker, Arden, Pinter, Stoppard, Robert Bolt or Shelagh Delaney

Absurdist drama: e.g., Ionesco, Rhinoceros; Beckett, Waiting for Godot; Pinter, The Birthday Party or Albee, The Zoo Story

Modern verse drama: a play by T.S. Eliot; Fry, the Lady's Not for Burning; García Lorca, Blood Wedding

A play by Tagore

Modern Indian drama: e.g., a play by Karnad, Tendulkar or Badal Sircar

An African or Caribbean play, e.g. by Soyinka or Walcott

(b) Background Reading:

10-15 units from the titles and categories above not included among the core texts for close study.

CLUSTER/PAPER - III: CHOICE B

FICTION

(a) 8-10 units for close study from among the categories below or equivalent ones. Each unit will normally comprise one long romance or novel, or a group of short stories. They should be chosen to represent a range of periods and types. Sometimes, however, two or three units may be chosen from the same period or type to allow intensive or contrastive study. Texts not originally written in English are to be read in English translation.
A course might be constructed around the novel alone; or a broader range of texts may be included to allow a study of narrative generally. Particularly in the latter case, verse texts should also be included, including epic and narrative poetry. (See note below.)

Early prose narrative: e.g., Heliodorus, Aethiopica; Longus, Daphnis and Chloe; Banabhatta, Kadambari

Medieval and Renaissance narratives: e.g., Nibelungenlied (whole or selections); an Icelandic saga (e.g., Njal’s Saga or Laxdaela Saga); a work by Chrétien de Troyes; Sir Gawain and the Green Knight; Chaucer, Troilus and Criseyde; Sir Thomas Malory, Works (selections); Sidney, Arcadia (whole or selections); Nashe, The Unfortunate Traveller

[Other units comprising epic and/or narrative poetry (as suggested for Cluster/Paper I) can also be included here]

Rabelais, Gargantua and Pantagruel (whole or one book)

Cervantes, Don Quixote

Bunyan, The Pilgrim’s Progress

Richardson, Pamela or Clarissa

Sterne, Tristram Shandy

The Gothic novel: e.g., Radcliffe, The Mysteries of Udolpho; Mary Shelley, Frankenstein

The historical novel: e.g., a novel by Scott; Stendhal, The Red and the Black or The Charterhouse of Parma; Manzoni, The Betrothed; Thackeray, Henry Esmond; a novel by Bankimchandra Chatterjee

19th-century realistic novel: e.g., a novel by Dickens/Balzac/George Eliot; Thackeray, Vanity Fair

19th-century fiction by women: e.g., a novel by Jane Austen/Charlotte Brontë/Emily Brontë/George Eliot/Mrs Gaskell/George Sand

Flaubert, Madame Bovary or Zola, Nana

19th-century American fiction: e.g., Hawthorne, The Scarlet Letter or The House of the Seven Gables; Melville, Moby Dick or Billy Budd; Twain, Huckleberry Finn

19th-century Russian fiction: e.g., Tolstoy, War and Peace or Anna Karenina; Dostoevsky, Crime and Punishment; Turgenev, Fathers and Sons

Tagore, Gora or The Home and the World

A novel by Sharatchandra Chatterjee

The stream-of-consciousness novel: Woolf, Mrs Dalloway or To the Lighthouse

Earlier 20th-century British fiction: e.g., a novel by Conrad/Lawrence/Forster; Joyce, Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man

Earlier 20th-century American fiction: e.g., a novel by Faulkner/Hemingway/Steinbeck

Mann, Buddenbrooks or The Magic Mountain

Proust, Swann’s Way

Camus, The Outsider or The Plague

20th-century Russian fiction: e.g., Gorky, Mother; Pasternak, Doctor Zhivago; Sholokhov, And Quiet Flows the Don

Later 20th-century British novelists: e.g., a novel by Greene/Golding/Wilson/Lessing

Later 20th-century American novelists: e.g., a novel by Bellow/Barth/Pynchon/Malamud

Magic realism: e.g., García Márquez, One Hundred Years of Solitude; Rushdie, Midnight’s Children

Fiction from other new literatures in English: e.g., a novel by Naipaul/Atwood/Patrick White

Short Stories: up to 2 units of the cluster/paper may comprise short stories, from various periods and countries.

Popular fiction: one unit of the cluster/paper may be devoted to popular fiction from among the genres specified below under the optional cluster/paper on Popular Literature.

(b) Background Reading:

10-15 units from the titles and categories above not included among the core texts for close study.

CLUSTER/PAPER - IV: CHOICE B

NON-FICTIONAL PROSE

In view of the range and variety of non-fictional prose, the texts for close study in this cluster/paper may either

(a) be divided into two or three sections, each consisting of 4-5 units from a specific type or category such as those listed below; or
(b) consist of a total of 8-10 units as in Clusters/Papers I-III above, covering a range of types, contexts and backgrounds.

There should also be a body of 10-15 units for background reading, divided between the types or categories chosen.

Texts not originally written in English are to be read in English translation.

BIOGRAPHY AND AUTOBIOGRAPHY: Possible Items

- Plutarch, Lives
- Augustine, Confessions
- Thomas More, Life of Pico della Mirandola
- Vasari, Life of Michelangelo (and/or other selections from Lives of the Artists)
- Fulke Greville, Life of Sir Philip Sidney
- Boswell, Life of Dr Johnson (selections)
- Benjamin Franklin, Autobiography
- Rousseau, Confessions
- Newman, Apologia pro Vita Sua
- Yeats, Autobiographies
- Strachey, Eminent Victorians
- Gandhi, The Story of My Experiments with Truth
- Nehru, Autobiography
- Nirad C. Chaudhuri, The Autobiography of an Unknown Indian
- Kamala Das, My Story
- Sally Morgan, My Place

POLITICAL AND SOCIAL WRITINGS: Possible Items

- Plato, Republic Bks. II, X
- Chanakya, Arthashastra (selections)
- Cicero, selected speeches
- Erasmus, Colloquies (selections)
- Machiavelli, The Prince
- Bacon, Essays (selections)
- Hobbes, Leviathan
- Swift, A Modest Proposal
- Montesquieu, Persian Letters
Goldsmith, The Citizen of the World
Burke, The Impeachment of Warren Hastings or On Conciliation with America
Paine, The Rights of Man
Rousseau, The Social Contract
Wollstonecraft, A Vindication of the Rights of Women
Mill, On Liberty; On the Subjection of Women
Arnold, Culture and Anarchy
Ruskin, Unto This Last
Marx and Engels, Communist Manifesto
Marx, Capital (selections)
Lenin, selected writings
Selected political writings of e.g., Gandhi/Tilak/Gokhale/Nehru/Subhaschandra Bose/
Ambedkar
Selected speeches of e.g., Lincoln/Churchill/Nehru/Martin Luther King

PHILOSOPHICAL WRITINGS: Possible Items

Selections from the Upanishads
Plato, Selected dialogue(s)
Cicero, selections from philosophical texts
Seneca, selections from philosophical texts
Marcus Aurelius, Meditations
Augustine, Selections from The City of God
Pico della Mirandola, Oration on the Dignity of Man
Erasmus, selections from the Colloquies
Montaigne, Selections from the Essays
Bacon, Novum Organum or The Advancement of Learning
Browne, Religio Medici
Pascal, Selections from Pensées
Locke, An Essay concerning Human Understanding
Berkeley, Hume: Selections
Carlyle, Sartor Resartus
Emerson, selections
Thoreau, Walden
Schopenhauer, selected essays
Nietzsche, Thus Spake Zarathustra or Beyond Good and Evil
Selected writings of Vivekananda/Sri Aurobindo/Annie Besant Tagore, The Religion of Man
Bertrand Russell, selected writings
Sartre, On Being and Nothingness
Isaiah Berlin, selected writings
Karl Popper, One-Dimensional Man
J. Krishnamurthy, selected writings
R. Pirsig, Zen and the Art of Motorcycle Maintenance

HISTORICAL WRITINGS: Possible Items

Thucydides, Selections
Livy, Selections
Clarendon, The History of the Great War
Gibbon, The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire (selections)
Carlyle, The French Revolution (selections)
Burckhardt, The Civilization of the Italian Renaissance (selections)
Tawney, Religion and the Rise of Capitalism
Winston Churchill, selections from The Second World War and/or A History of the English-Speaking Peoples
Nehru, selections from Glimpses of World History or The Discovery of India
G. Trevelyan, a selection from his works on Garibaldi
A. Toynbee, selections from A Study of History
L. Namier, selections
F. Braudel, selections from On History (tr. S. Matthews, Chicago UP, 1980)
R. Cobb, selections from his works on French history
M. Foucault, selections from The Archaeology of Knowledge and The Order of Things
ESSAYS: Possible Items

Plutarch, Moralia (selections)
Montaigne, Essays (selections)
Bacon, Essays (selections)
Abraham Cowley, selected essays
Addison and Steele, selections from the Spectator and the Tatler
Dr Johnson, selections from the Idler and the Rambler
Lamb, selections from Essays of Elia and Last Essays of Elia
Hazlitt, selected essays
Macauley, selected essays
The 19th and early 20th-century personal essay: selections from, e.g., Stevenson/Lynd/‘Alpha of the Plough’
Bertrand Russell, selected essays
Tagore, Creative Unity (selections)
Graham Greene, selected essays
Isaiah Berlin, selected essays
Umberto Eco, selected essays

[This section can be extended to cover other short prose writings, e.g., by Swift, Ruskin or Arnold.]

Other areas that this cluster/paper might cover are (a) Travel writings; (b) Scientific writings; (c) Political and social commentary; (d) Writings on gender issues; (e) Writings on nature and ecology; (f) Criticism of arts other than literature.

Literary criticism should be excluded, as it is being covered in Cluster/Paper VI below.

CLUSTER/PAPER - V: CHOICES A & B

Study of a genre (for Choice A)

Study of a period (for Choice B)

As in Papers I-IV above, Choices B and A respectively, modified to allow only 75% credit.

Textual, editorial and bibliographical skills: The following skills might be considered. Much of the instruction will have to be conducted in the classroom on a practical basis. For items (a) to (c), a standard stylesheet (e.g., of the Modern Language Association of America (MLA) or Modern Humanities Research Association) may be followed. Reference may be made to guides such as the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers or the New York Public Library Writer’s Guide to Style and Usage.

(a) Documentation of references and composition of footnotes
(b) Stylesheet practice
(c) Correction and copy-editing of texts
(e) Rudiments of book production and publication: editions, reprints etc. How to gather publication details of a book.
(f) Consulting bibliographies and library catalogues 25% credit

CLUSTER/PAPER VI: CHOICES A & B
CRITICAL THEORY
(May also include a component of classical Indian theory)

N.B.: Critical theory should not be studied only from secondary sources. At least one or two key texts should be read as the basis for an understanding of each theory. Sample texts have been suggested below.

Classical Indian theory: Selections from, e.g., Bharata’s Natyashastra, Abhinavagupta’s Dhvanyaloka, Visvanath’s Sahitya Darpana and Rajashekhara’s Kavyamimamsa, all of which are available in English translation.

Representative English texts, e.g., Sidney’s An Apology for Poetry; selected critical essays by Dryden, Pope’s An Essay on Criticism and Johnson’s Preface to Shakespeare. Boileau’s On the Art of Poetry should also be considered.

Romantic and Post-Romantic theory: Selected texts from Lessing, Schiller and Fichte, as available in David Simpson (ed.), The Origins of Modern Critical Thought (Cambridge UP, 1988)
Selections from Wordsworth (Preface to Lyrical Ballads), Coleridge (Biographia Literaria), Shelley (A Defence of Poetry), Keats (letters), Ruskin (Modern Painters, Stones of Venice), Arnold (Essays in Criticism), Pater (Appreciations), Oscar Wilde (Intentions)

Modern and Post-modern theory: Texts, critics, schools and movements have been placed below singly or in groups as appropriate. They may be selected according to demand and expectation, but should include a fair proportion of continental theorists down to post-modern times.

Theory of Fiction: Henry James, The Art of Fiction and/or Preface to Roderick Hudson; V. Woolf, Modern Fiction and/or Mr Bennett and Mrs Brown

American New Criticism: e.g., J.C. Ransom, a section from The New Criticism; Cleanth Brooks, an essay from The Well-Wrought Urn

Allied British criticism: e.g., I.A. Richards, a section from Principles of Literary Criticism; F.R. Leavis, selected essays from Revaluation and/or selected chapters from New Bearings In English Poetry; W. Empson, a section from Seven Types of Ambiguity or Ch.1 of Some Versions of Pastoral.

Marxist criticism: e.g., Lukács, a section from the early chapters of The Historical Novel; Raymond Williams, a section from Marxism and Literature; Pierre Macherey, a section from A Theory of Literary Production (or E. Balibar & P. Macherey, ‘On Literature as an Ideological Form’)

Bakhtin: a section from The Dialogic Imagination (for the concept of dialogism) and/or from Rabelais and His World (for the concept of the carnivalesque)

Structuralism: Saussure, a section from Course in General Linguistics (perhaps Part I, ‘General Principles’); Jakobson, perhaps ‘Linguistics and Poetics’ and the discussion of metaphoric and metonymic modes in Jakobson & Halle, Fundamentals of Language; Barthes, a section or whole of Writing Degree Zero or Myth Today or Introduction to the Structural Analysis of Narratives

Poststructuralism: Derrida, ‘On Différance’ (Margins of Philosophy) and/or ‘Plato’s Pharmacy’ (Disseminations); Foucault, ‘The Order of Discourse’

Psychonanalytic criticism: Freud, extract from The Nature of Dreams; Lacan, The Mirror Stage, seminar on The Purloined Letter

Postcolonialism: E. Said, a section from Orientalism; Homi J. Bhabha, ‘Signs Taken for Wonders’
New Historicism/Cultural Materialism: selected pieces from S. Greenblatt and A. Sinfield

Semiotics: selected pieces from Umberto Eco

CLUSTERS/PAPERS - VII - VIII: CHOICES A & B

Possible structures for many options are suggested below. Suggestions for other optional clusters/papers will be found among the general curricular structures given above. IN ALL CLUSTERS/PAPERS, WORKS NOT ORIGINALLY COMPOSED IN ENGLISH ARE TO BE READ IN ENGLISH TRANSLATION.

(c) EUROPEAN LITERATURE IN TRANSLATION, OF A PARTICULAR PERIOD

Suggested structures are given below for clusters/papers on Classical Literature, Renaissance Literature, and Modernist Literature, 1875-1945. Clusters/papers on other periods may be structured on the same model. The continental titles proposed as supplementary reading for Choice A, Clusters/Papers I-IV may also be considered for these optional papers.

CLASSICAL LITERATURE

(a) For close study: 4-5 units for a half cluster/paper, or 8-10 units for a full cluster/paper. The units should cover a range of genres and backgrounds. Possible items:

I. Classical texts

Homer, Iliad or Odyssey (whole or extracts)
Aeschylus, Agamemnon or the entire Oresteia; Prometheus Bound

Sophocles, Oedipus Rex or Antigone or Oedipus at Colonus

Euripides, Medea or Hippolytus or Iphigenia in Aulis or Bacchae

Aristophanes, The Frogs or Lysistrata or The Birds

Selected lyrics by Sappho and Alcaeus

Plato, selected dialogue(s)

Theocritus, selected Idylls

Virgil, selections from Eclogues and Georgics; Aeneid (whole or extracts)

Catullus, selected lyrics

Horace, selections from Odes, Epodes, Satires

Ovid, selections from Metamorphoses, Heroides and/or Elegies

Plautus, The Ghost or Menaechmi

Terence, The Brothers

Seneca, Hercules Furens or Thyestes or Oedipus or Phaedra

II. Rewritings of classical texts, and works on classical models

Milton, Lycidas; Samson Agonistes

Johnson, London; Vanity of Human Wishes

Arnold, Merope; Empedocles on Etna

Cocteau, The Infernal Machine

Sartre, The Flies

Eliot, The Family Reunion

Anouilh, Antigone

O’Neill, Mourning Becomes Electra

Walcott, Omeros

(b) Background reading: 6-8 units for a half paper, or 10-15 units for a full paper, from items not selected for special study from those listed above.
RENAISSANCE LITERATURE

(a) For close study: 4-5 units for a half cluster/paper, or 8-10 units for a full cluster/paper. The units should cover a range of genres and backgrounds. Possible items:

Pico della Mirandola, Oration on the Dignity of Man

Erasmus, The Praise of Folly; selections from Colloquies and Adages

More, Utopia

Machiavelli, The Prince; selections from The Discourses

Castiglione, The Book of the Courtier (whole or Book IV)

Vasari, selections from Lives of the Artists

Selected lyrics by Petrarch, Michelangelo, Ronsard, Tasso

Women’s writings as in K.M. Wilson (ed.), Women Writers of the Renaissance and Reformation (Univ of Georgia P, Athens, Georgia, 1987): particularly Vittoria Colonna, Gaspara Stampa, Louise Labé. (There are also other anthologies of such material.)

Ariosto, Orlando Furioso (selections)

Tasso, Jerusalem Delivered; Aminta

Guarini, The Faithful Shepherd

Rabelais, Gargantua and Pantagruel (whole or one book)

Montaigne, selected essays

Cervantes, Don Quixote

Garnier, Cleopatra (trans. Mary Herbert)

Calderon, Life Is a Dream or The Surgeon of His Honour

Corneille, The Cid

(b) Background reading: 6-8 units for a half paper, or 10-15 units for a full paper, from items not selected for special study from those listed above.

MODERNIST LITERATURE, 1875-1945

N.B.: The chronological limits of the paper can be varied to yield other clusters/papers offering different perspectives on 20th-century literature.
(a) For close study: 4-5 units for a half cluster/paper, or 8-10 units for a full cluster/paper. The cluster/paper may be confined to a single genre, or two genres chosen for two halves. Possible items:

Drama:

A play by Ibsen
Strindberg, Dream Play
Capek Brothers, The Insect Play
Chekhov, The Cherry Orchard or The Three Sisters or The Seagull or Uncle Vanya
Pirandello, Six Characters in Search of an Author or Henry IV
A play by Brecht
García Lorca, Blood Wedding
Sartre, The Flies
Camus, Caligula
Ionesco, Rhinoceros or The Bald Prima Donna or Amédée
Beckett, Endgame or Waiting for Godot
Weiss, Marat/Sade
Anouilh, Antigone
Genet, The Balcony or The Maids
Dario Fo, Accidental Death of an Anarchist

Poetry:

Selected poems by, e.g., Mallarmé, Rimbaud, Valéry, Rilke, García Lorca, Mayakovsky, Blok, Pasternak, Neruda

Fiction:

Zola, Germinal or Nana
Short stories by Maupassant and Chekhov
Kafka, The Trial or The Castle
Thomas Mann, The Magic Mountain
Gide, The Coiners (The Counterfeiters) or Strait Is the Gate
Romain Rolland, Jean Christoph (one or more volumes)
Proust, Swann’s Way

Robert Musil, Jan Torless

Gorky, Mother

Sholokhov, And Quiet Flows the Don

Nabokov, Invitation to a Beheading

(b) Background reading: 6-8 units for a half paper, or 10-15 units for a full paper, from items not selected for special study from those listed above.

(e) INTERDISCIPLINARY AREAS

Suggested structures are given below for a number of clusters/papers proposed under this rubric. It will be seen that they are differently structured, presenting a range of possibilities to suit the material in question. Other clusters/papers may be designed on similar or other appropriate models.

Clusters/papers on areas such as ‘Literature and the Visual Arts’, ‘Literature and Theatre Arts’ and ‘Literature and Film’ should be offered only where the institution has the appropriate equipment (projector, music system, VCP etc.) and accompanying audio or visual material (slides, illustrations, audio or video cassettes, CDs etc.). In certain clusters/papers (e.g., ‘Literature and Theatre Arts’), provision should also be made for hands-on experience.

LITERATURE AND OTHER ARTS

(i) Literature and the Visual Arts

Possible topics for study are listed below. A half cluster/paper may incorporate 2-3 of these or similar items, and a full cluster/paper 5-6.

(a) Gothic art and late medieval European literature

(b) Leonardo’s Il Paragone

(c) Michelangelo’s art in conjunction with his poems and letters

(d) Landscape art and nature-poetry

(e) Romantic art and Romantic painting (Delacroix, Fuseli, Turner)

(f) William Blake: the convergence of his poetry and painting

(g) Pre-Raphaelite poetry and painting

(h) Impressionist/Post-impressionist painting and Symbolist poetry
(i) Surrealist poetry and painting
(j) Expressionism
(k) Portrait-painting and ideas of self and personality
(l) The representation of the artist in fiction:
   (i) based on actual lives: Maugham, The Moon and Sixpence; Stone, Lust for Life and The Agony and the Ecstasy
   (ii) fictional narratives: Joyce Cary, The Horse's Mouth; Patrick White, The Vivisector

Reference should be made to the work of art critics and iconologists such as Lessing, Laokoon, Ruskin, Pater, Croce, Edgar Wind, Erwin Panofsky, Heinrich Wolfflin, Ernst Gombrich, Rudolf Wittkower, Adrian Stokes, and works such as Worringer’s Empathy and Abstraction and T.E. Hulme’s Speculations (Kegan Paul, London, 1924).

(ii) Literature and Theatre Arts

A half cluster/paper may confine itself to parts of the first two sections. A full cluster/paper should comprise all three.

I. History: survey of world theatre in selected periods.

Ancient Greek and Roman theatre; Sanskrit theatre; Chinese theatre; Japanese theatre; medieval European drama-cycles; the theatre of the English Renaissance; the theatre of the Spanish ‘golden age’; French neoclassical theatre; the theatre of German classicism and Romanticism; realistic and naturalistic theatre; symbolist theatre; absurdist theatre; expressionist and political theatre; other modern Western theatre, Modern Indian theatre.

II. Theory: selected readings

Aristotle, Poetics
Bharata, Natyasastra
Stanislavsky, An Actor Prepares
Artaud’s ‘Theatre of Cruelty’
Brecht’s ‘Epic Theatre’
Grotowski, Towards a Poor Theatre
Brook, The Empty Space
III. Practice

A project which may comprise any one of the following:

(a) performance of a play
(b) detailed review of a production seen by the students
(c) artistic work on a hypothetical production, such as preparing a director’s script from a printed original; set design; costume design
(d) transcription of the performance text of a folk/traditional Indian play

(iii) Literature and Film

A full cluster/paper should take up all the areas cited below, or at least the first three. A half cluster/paper may confine itself to the first three areas, studied in brief with a smaller number of examples.

I. Basic concepts: the cinematic image; aspects of mis-en-scène; editing styles
II. The historical relation between film and literature; their interaction and mutual influence
III. The adaptation of literature to film: theory and analysis.

[Possible case studies: Kurosawa, Throne of Blood; Orson Wells, Macbeth; Polanski, Macbeth; Kosintzev, King Lear; Pasolini, Medea; Pramathesh Barua, Devdas; Bimal Roy, Devdas; Satyajit Ray, Pather Panchali or Charulata; Guru Dutt, Piyasaa; A.J. Lerner, My Fair Lady; Kumar Shahani, Char Adhyay; Tapan Sinha, Atithi; Dev Anand, The Guide; Girish Karnad, Samskara; Dev Benegal, English August; The Remains of the Day; Sila Nerangalil Sila Manithargal; Chemmeen]

IV. The relation of theatre to film: study of cinematic versions of theatrical texts.

[Possible case studies: the Shakespeare films noted above.]

LITERATURE AND GENDER

I. Theory: possible texts to consider

Wollstonecroft, A Vindication of the Rights of Woman
Mill, On the Subjection of Women
Engels, Origins of the Family, Property and the State
Woolf, A Room of One’s Own
Simone de Beauvoir, The Second Sex bell hooks, Ain’t I a Woman: Black Women and Feminism or Feminist Theory: From Margin to Center (South End Press, Boston, 1989)
Luce Irigaray, This Sex Which Isn’t One (tr. C. Porter, Cornell UP, 1985)
Nawal el Sadani, The Hidden Face of Eve

Collections of theoretical texts are to be found in Mary Jacobus (ed.), Women Writing and Writing about Women (Barnes & Noble, NY, 1979)

II. Texts. Possibilities:

Katherine Philips, selected poems
Aphra Behn, selected works
Charlotte Brontë, Jane Eyre read with Jean Rhys, Wide Sargasso Sea
George Eliot, The Mill on the Floss
Woolf, To the Lighthouse or Orlando

Selected poems by, e.g., Emily Brontë, Charlotte Mew, Christina Rossetti, Emily Dickinson, Sylvia Plath, Judith Wright, Gwendolyn Brooks, Anne Sexton, Evaan Boland
Doris Lessing, The Golden Notebook
Toni Morrison, Beloved
Charlotte Perkins Gilman, ‘The Yellow Wallpaper’
Kate Chopin, The Awakening
Margaret Atwood, The Handmaid’s Tale or Surfacing
Michelle Roberts, Daughters of the House or The Book of Mrs Noah
Margaret Drabble, Waterfall
Marsha Norman, ‘night Mother’ Charlotte Keatley, My Mother Said I Never Should
Maria Fornes, Fefu and Her Friends

Early autobiographies and other writings by 19th-century Indian women, e.g., Pandita Ramabai, Rassundari, Binodini Dasi

Tagore, The Home and the World or Tapati
Sharatchandra Chatterjee, The Final Question
Anita Desai, Fire on the Mountain
Kamala Markandeya, Nectar in a Sieve
Shashi Deshpande, That Long Silence

Selected works in translation by Ismat Chugtai/Amrita Preetam/Qurratulain Hyder/Mahasweta Devi

Kamala Das, My Story
Bapsi Sidhwa, The Bride
‘Ambai’, short stories
Manjula Padmanabhan, Lights Out

III. Study of other texts, especially male-written texts, from a feminist angle.
LITERATURE AND SCIENCE

A half cluster/paper may comprise one of the two areas below; a full cluster/paper may comprise both.

I. Literature and scientific thought. Possible texts and topics:

Plato, Timaeus

Lucretius, On the Nature of Things

Bacon, Novum Organum and The Advancement of Learning in conjunction with Essays

The history of the Royal Society and 18th-century prose (possibly in conjunction with Swift, Gulliver's Travels Book III)

Darwin, The Origin of Species in conjunction with Tennyson, In Memoriam

Lamarck’s theories in conjunction with Butler, Erewhon and Shaw, Man and Superman

Wells, A Modern Utopia in conjunction with Huxley, Brave New World

C.P. Snow, F.R. Leavis and the ‘Two Cultures’ controversy

The literature of the computer: e.g., W. Gibson, Neuromancer; Umberto Eco, Foucault’s Pendulum; Amitav Ghosh, The Calcutta Chromosome

Recommended reading:

II. Science Fiction. Possibilities:

M. Shelley, Frankenstein (possibly read with Brian Aldiss, Frankenstein Unbound)

Works by Poe

Works by Jules Verne

Conan Doyle, The Lost World and/or other Professor Challenger stories

Works by H.G. Wells

Olaf Stapledon, Sirius

Works by John Wyndham/J.G. Ballard/Brian Aldiss/Arthur C. Clarke/Isaac Asimov/ Michael Crichton/Michael Moorcock

Carl Sagan, Contact

Ursula Le Guin, The Left Hand of Darkness
W. Gibson, Neuromancer

Stanislav Lem, Solaris

Amitav Ghosh, The Calcutta Chromosome

Reference: B. Aldiss, Billion Years’ Spree

LITERATURE, PSYCHOLOGY AND PSYCHOANALYSIS

The course may be oriented towards either psychology or psychoanalysis; or it can be divided into two halves treating of the two areas.

I. Theory. Possible Items:

Burton, The Anatomy of Melancholy, in relation to treatments of melancholy in Renaissance drama and other works

Shaftesbury in relation to the literature of Sensibility

Hartley Coleridge: philosophical writings on association and imagination, in relation to the poetry of Wordsworth and Coleridge

William James, Principles of Psychology in relation to the stream-of-consciousness novel

Freud, selections from Mourning and Melancholia; ‘Psychopathic Characters on the Stage’, ‘Dostoevsky and Parricide’; ‘The Theme of the Three Caskets’; ‘Humour’; ‘Creative Writers and Day-Dreaming’; ‘Some Character-Types Met with in Psycho-analytic Works’

Jung, selection from Memories, Dreams, Reflections

Ernest Jones, Hamlet and Oedipus

Lacan, The Mirror Stage; seminar on The Purloined Letter; ‘Antigone between Two Deaths’ (in Ethics of Psycho-analysis); ‘Desire and the Interpretation of Desire in Hamlet’ (to be found in S. Selman ed., Literature and Psychoanalysis, Johns Hopkins UP, 1982); ‘Metaphor/Metonymy’ (to be found in Ecrits: A Selection)

Luce Irigaray, This Sex Which Isn’t One (tr. C. Porter, Cornell UP, 1985)

Reference:

M. Bodkin, Archetypal Patterns in Poetry (Oxford UP, 1934)

M.A. Skura, The Literary Use of the Psychoanalytic Process (Yale UP, 1981)
S. Felman, Psychoanalysis and Literature (Johns Hopkins UP, 1982)
J. Mitchell, Psychoanalysis and Feminism (Vintage, NY, 1925)

II. Texts. Possible items:

Aeschylus, Oresteia
Sophocles, Oedipus Rex; Electra
Euripides, Hippolytus; Medea
Shakespeare, Henry IV; Hamlet
Racine, Phèdre
Diderot, Rameau’s Nephew
Shelley, The Cenci
Browning, selected dramatic monologues
Emily Brontë, Wuthering Heights
Poe, ‘The Purloined Letter’
Ibsen, Rosmersholm
Strindberg, Dream Play
Lawrence, Sons and Lovers

The stream-of-consciousness novel (sample excerpts, or a simple novel like Woolf, Mrs. Dalloway)

Sample passages from Finnegan’s Wake

T.S. Eliot, The Family Reunion

O’Neill, Mourning Becomes Electra; Desire under the Elms; The Hairy Ape

LITERATURE AND PHILOSOPHY

Possible items

Plato, Phaedrus; Ion; Republic Book X

Lucretius, On the Nature of Things
Dante, The Divine Comedy (selections, or one entire book such as the Inferno)
Pico della Mirandola, Oration on the Dignity of Man, read with Marlowe, Doctor Faustus
Browne, Religio Medici
Pope, Essay on Man
Voltaire, Candide with Johnson, Rasselas
Blake, selected poems with relevant occult texts
Rousseau, Emile
Wordsworth, The Prelude (selections) read with Coleridge, Biographia Literaria (selected chapters)
Kierkegaard, Fear and Trembling read with Ibsen, Brand
Nietzsche, The Birth of Tragedy; Beyond Good and Evil / The Genealogy of Morals
Dostoevsky, Crime and Punishment
Bergson, Creative Evolution read with Butler, Erewhon & Shaw, Man and Superman
Yeats, selected poems read with The Vision and relevant occult texts
Bertrand Russell, short stories
Debate between Leavis and Wellek in Scrutiny
Sartre, Existentialism and Humanism and/or On Being and Nothingness read with Nausea, No Exit and/or The Flies
Camus, The Myth of Sisyphus read with The Outsider and The Plague
Tagore, selected poems read with selected Upanishadic texts and/or The Religion of Man
Sri Aurobindo, selected poems read with his philosophical writings
Raja Rao, The Serpent and the Rope

Recommended reading
T.S. Eliot, ‘Dante’
Kathleen Nott, The Emperor’s Clothes (Indiana UP, Bloomington, 1958)
POPULAR LITERATURE

I. Theory and History. Possible texts:

R. Barthes, Mythologies (tr. A. Lavers, Granada, St Albans, 1973)

P. Burke, Popular Culture in Early Modern Europe (Temple Smith, London, 1978)

B. Waites et al. (ed.), Popular Culture, Past and Present: A Reader (Croom Helm, London, & Open UP, 1982)

T. Bennett (ed.), Popular Television and Film: A Reader (British Film Inst. & Open UP, 1985)

T. Bennett et al. (ed.), Popular Culture and Social Relations (Open UP, Milton Keynes, 1986)

C. MacCabe (ed.), High Theory/Low Culture (Manchester UP, 1986)

J. Fiske (ed.), Understanding Popular Culture (Unwin Hyman, Boston, 1989)

J. Carey, The Intellectuals and the Masses (Faber, London, 1992)

D. Strinati, An Introduction to Theories of Popular Culture (Routledge, London, 1995)

II. Texts/topics/genres. Possibilities:

The ballad: original folk and popular ballads, and later imitations

The song lyric down the ages

The picaresque novel: Lazarillo di Tormes; Nashe, The Unfortunate Traveller; Greene, Repentance pamphlets; Defoe, Moll Flanders; Smollett, Roderick Random; Le Sage, Gil Blas
The popular Gothic novel: Lewis, The Monk; Maturin, Melmoth the Wanderer; works by Le Fanu; Stoker, Dracula

Detective fiction: Poe; Wilkie Collins; Conan Doyle and his contemporaries; Agatha Christie and her British contemporaries; the American school (Dashiell Hammett, Raymond Chandler etc.)

The thriller: British thrillers and spy fiction from Edgar Wallace to Len Deighton and John Le Carré; the contemporary American thriller (Lawrence Sanders, Stephen King etc.)

Popular romantic fiction: Mills and Boone romances; Harlequin romances; Barbara Cartland

Humour: British humour from P.G. Wodehouse to Tom Sharpe; American humour (Thurber, Dorothy Parker, Damon Runyan, Ogden Nash etc.)

The comic strip, comic books and cartoons

Children’s literature

(f) MAJOR CRITICAL CONCEPTS, MOVEMENTS AND PHENOMENA.

Suggested syllabi are laid down below for some sample topics. Others may be constructed on the same model.

Petrarchism

Possible texts:

The early Italian lyric including Dante’s The New Life

Selection of Italian and French love-poetry of the Renaissance as available in the Penguin Books of Italian and French poetry

The English Renaissance love-sonnet: Wyatt, Surrey, Sidney, Spenser, Shakespeare, Drayton

Other English Renaissance love-poetry as available in anthologies such as Penguin Book of Renaissance Verse, New Oxford Book of Sixteenth-Century English Verse etc.

Donne, Songs and Sonnets

Aftermath of Petrarchism: Pope, Eloisa to Abelard; Burns; Shelley; E.B. and Robert Browning

Recommended reading

Neoclassicism

I. Basic theoretical texts. Possible items:

   Aristotle, Poetics

   Cicero, selected rhetorical texts

   Sidney, An Apology for Poetry

   Selections from Minturno and Castelvetro in A.H. Gilbert (ed.), Literary Criticism: Plato to Dryden (American Book Co., NY, 1940)

   Boileau, The Art of Poetry

   Dryden, An Essay on Dramatic Poesy, The Original and Progress of Satire

   Swift, The Battle of the Books

   Pope, An Essay on Criticism

   Johnson, Preface to Shakespeare

   Lessing and Winckelmann, selections in German Literary and Aesthetic Criticism (Cambridge University Press)

II. Illustrative texts. Possible items:

   Jonson, Sejanus

   Corneille, The Cid

   Racine, Phèdre or Andromache

   Milton, Samson Agonistes

   Dryden, Absalom and Achitophel

   Pope, Satires and Epistles

   Johnson, London, The Vanity of Human Wishes

   Addison, Cato
Matthew Arnold, Merope or Empedocles in Etna

Recommended reading

Romanticism

I. Basic theoretical texts. Possible items:

Schiller, On Naïve and Sentimental Poetry

A.W. Schlegel, Commentary on Shakespeare

Wordsworth, Preface to Lyrical Ballads

Coleridge, Biographia Literaria (whole or selected chapters)

Shelley, A Defence of Poetry

Keats, selected letters

De Quincey, Recollections of the Lakes and Lake Poets

Delacroix, Journals

Turner, Journals and letters

II. Illustrative texts. Possible items:

Rousseau, The New Eloise

Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Shelley, Byron, Keats: selected poems. (Byron should be given an importance commensurate with his reputation and influence on the continent.)

Shelley, Prometheus Unbound

Scott, Marmion; The Bride of Lammermoor

Mary Shelley, Frankenstein
Peacock, Nightmare Abbey

Emily Brontë, Wuthering Heights

Heine, Hugo, Novalis, d’Annunzio: selected poems

Chateaubriand, Atala or René

Stendhal, The Red and the Black

Manzoni, The Betrothed

Poe, selected writings

Swinburne and the aesthetes: selected writings

Russian romanticism: selected works of Pushkin, Lermontov, Turgenev

‘The last Romantics’: Yeats and associates

Recommended reading

I. Babbitt, Rousseau and Romanticism (Houghton Mifflin, Boston, 1919)

Pater, ‘Postscript’ to Appreciations

Grierson, ‘Classical and Romantic’

Herbert Read, The True Voice of Feeling (Faber, London, 1947)

Wellek, A History of Modern Criticism, vol.2 (Yale UP, 1955)

Realism and Naturalism

I. Theory, Possible texts:

II. Illustrative Texts. Possible Items:

(a) Fiction

Mrs. Gaskell, North and South

A novel by Dickens (e.g., Bleak House)

Thackeray, Vanity Fair

Gissing, New Grub Street

A novel by Balzac (e.g., Père Goriot)

Zola, Germinal or Nana

Maupassant, selected short stories

Twain, Huckleberry Finn

Tolstoy, The Death of Ivan Illich

Dostoevsky, Crime and Punishment

Turgenev, Fathers and Sons

Gorky, Mother

Sholokhov, And Quiet Flows the Don

Hacek, The Good Soldier Schweik

Thomas Mann, Buddenbrooks

A. Bennett, The Old Wives’ Tale

J. Galsworthy, The Man of Property

Graham Greene, Brighton Rock or The Heart of the Matter

Steinbeck, The Grapes of Wrath

Hemingway, A Farewell to Arms
Robbe-Grillet, Jealousy

Beyond realism: Garcia Marquez, One Hundred Years of Solitude or Love in the Time of Cholera; Rushdie, Midnight’s Children

(b) Drama

Ibsen, Ghosts or The Doll’s House

Strindberg, Miss Julie or The Father

Chekhov, The Cherry Orchard or The Three Sisters or The Seagull or Uncle Vanya

Hauptmann, Before Dawn or The Weavers

Sean O’Casey, The Shadow of a Gunman or Juno and the Paycock or The Plough and the Stars

O’Neill, The Iceman Cometh or Long Day’s Journey into Night

Osborne, Look Back in Anger

(g) OLD AND MIDDLE ENGLISH, MEDIEVAL EUROPEAN LITERATURE AND THE HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

Two or more of the above components may be used to constitute a full cluster/paper. At least two components, on a shorter scale, may constitute a half cluster/paper. It is suggested that Old English should not be studied in isolation from Middle English and/or the history of the English language.

Alternatively, the history of the English language may be studied along with the option on linguistics/stylistics (see below) as two parts of a full language-oriented cluster/paper.

I. Old English

Texts: selected pieces (to be read in the original) can be found in

Students should be trained in detailed philological and critical commentary of passages as well as general critical study. They should also study other Old English works in full (including Beowulf, the Elegies and Genesis B) in modern English rendering.

II. Middle English: possible texts

The Owl and the Nightingale

Ancrene Wisse (extracts)

Other texts in K. Sisam (ed.), Fourteenth-Century Verse and Prose (Oxford UP, 1921)

Sir Gawain and the Green Knight or Pearl

Chaucer, The Canterbury Tales (selections not included in core paper) or Troilus and Criseyde

Selected lyrics from R.T. Davies (ed.), Medieval English Lyrics

Selected plays from the Mystery cycles

A Morality Play (e.g., Everyman or Mankind)

Malory: a section of the Works (e.g., The Death of Arthur)

III. Medieval European Literature: possible texts

Augustine, Confessions

Boethius, The Consolation of Philosophy

Nibelungelied

An Icelandic saga (suggested: Njal’s Saga or Laxdaela Saga)

The Song of Roland

A romance by Chrétien de Troyes

The Quest of the Holy Grail (French Arthurian romance)

Dante, The Divine Comedy (selected cantos, or one complete book such as the Inferno)

Early Italian lyrics, including Dante’s The New Life (D.G. Rossetti’s translations, or the Penguin translation of The New Life)

Petrarch, selected lyric poetry (complete translation available in R.W. Durling, Petrarch’s Lyric Poems); The Ascent of Mount Ventoux

Boccaccio, Decameron (selected tales)
IV. History of the English Language

The course should be studied with reference to sample texts from various periods to illustrate linguistic grown and change. A selection of such texts will be found in A.G. Rigg (ed.), The English Language: A Historical Reader (Appleton-Century-Crofts, NY, 1968). Alternatively, the teacher can prepare his/her own collection of passages. Students should also look at the texts in W.F. Bolton & D. Crystal (ed.), The English Language (2 vols., Cambridge UP, 1966-69)

Basic reference works:

Reference may be made as necessary to the following more specialized works:

B.B. Kachru (ed.), The Other Tongue: English across Cultures (Oxford UP, 1996)

(h) AMERICAN LITERATURE

(a) For close study: 4-5 units for a half cluster/paper, or 8-10 units for a full cluster/paper. The units should cover a variety of genres, periods and backgrounds. Alternatively, they may focus on one genre for a half cluster/paper or two genres for a full one. Possible Items:

Poetry:

Selected poems by, e.g., Anne Bradstreet, Poe, Whitman, Emerson, Dickinson, Frost, Allen Tate, Wallace Stevens, Robert Lowell, Sylvia Plath, William Carlos Williams, Theodore Roethke, Langston Hughes, Ginsberg, Adrienne Rich, Gwendolen Brooks, Anne Sexton
Fiction:

Short stories by Poe, Hawthorne, O. Henry, Bret Harte, Updike

Stowe, Uncle Tom's Cabin

Hawthorne, The Scarlet Letter or The House of the Seven Gables

Melville, Moby Dick or Billy Budd

Mark Twain, Huckleberry Finn

Scott Fitzgerald, The Great Gatsby or Tender Is the Night

Faulkner, The Sound and the Fury or Light in August

Steinbeck, The Grapes of Wrath

Hemingway, A Farewell to Arms or For Whom the Bell Tolls or The Old Man and the Sea

Bellow, Herzog or Humboldt's Gift

Salinger, The Catcher in the Rye

Harper Lee, To Kill a Mockingbird

Barth, Giles Goat-Boy

Pynchon, V or The Crying of Lot 49

Updike, Rabbit, Run

Flannery O'Connor, Wise Blood

Zora Neale Hurston, Their Eyes Were Watching God

Alice Walker, The Color Purple

Toni Morrison, Beloved or The Bluest Eye

Drama:

Eugene O'Neill, Long Day's Journey into Night or The Iceman Cometh or Mourning Becomes Electra

Tennessee Williams, The Glass Menagerie or A Streecar Named Desire

Miller, Death of a Salesman

Albee, The Zoo Story or Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?
Ntozake Shange, For Colored Girls
Sam Shepard, Buried Child
Hellman, Little Foxes
Hansberry, A Raisin in the Sun
Lanford Wilson, The Fifth of July
David Manet, Glengarry Glen Ross
August Wilson, Fences

Non-Fictional Prose

Emerson, selected essays
Thoreau, Walden
William Carlos Williams, In the American Grain
Ellison, Invisible Man

(b) Background reading: 6-8 units for a half paper, or 10-15 units for a full paper, from items not selected for special study from those listed above.

(I) INDIAN WRITING IN ENGLISH

(a) For close study: 4-5 items for a half cluster/paper, or 8-10 items for a full cluster/paper. The items should cover a variety of genres and periods. Alternatively, they may focus on one genre for a half cluster/paper or two genres for a full one.

Again, some of this material may be linked to a study of Colonial and Postcolonial Literature (see below) as two parts of a single cluster/paper or two related clusters/papers. Possible items:

Poetry:

Selected poems by Toru Dutt, Sri Aurobindo, Sarojini Naidu
Tagore, Gitanjali (English version)
Selected poems by, e.g., Nissim Ezekiel, P. Lal, Dom Moraes, A.K. Ramanujan, Kamala Das, Arun Kolatkar, Gieve Patel, Gauri Deshpande, Jayanta Mahapatra, Vikram Seth

Fiction:

Mulk Raj Anand, Coolie or Two Leaves and a Bud
Raja Rao, Kanthapura
K. Venkataramani, Murugan, Tiller

G.V. Desani, All about H. Hatter

Bhabani Bhattacharya, So Many Hungers or He Who Rides a Tiger

Anita Desai, In Custody

Kamala Markandeya, The Golden Honeycomb or Nectar in a Sieve or Nowhere Man

Rushdie, Midnight’s Children

Amitav Ghosh, The Shadow Lines

Rohinton Mistry, Such a Long Journey

Arundhati Roy, The God of Small Things

Drama:

Asif Currimbhoy, Goa or The Doldrummers or The Dumb Dancer

Mahesh Dattani, Final Solutions or Tara

Non-fictional prose:

Nehru, The Discovery of India (whole or selections); selected speeches

Tagore, selected English prose writings (e.g. Nationalism, Creative Unity or The Religion of Man, whole or selections)

Nirad C. Chaudhuri, The Autobiography of an Unknown Indian

The Literature of Indo-European Encounters:

Kipling, Kim

Forster, A Passage to India

Edward Thompson, An Indian Day

John Masters, Nightrunners of Bengal or Bhawani Junction

Paul Scott, Staying On

Ruth Prawer Jhabvala, Esmond in India or Heat and Dust

(b) Background reading: 6-8 units for a half paper, or 10-15 units for a full paper, from items not selected for special study from those listed above.
(k) NEW LITERATURES IN ENGLISH

Suggestions are put down below for clusters/papers on Australian, African and Caribbean literature in English. Similar clusters/papers can be prepared for English writing in other countries. It is also possible to make up a single cluster/paper consisting of works from various countries and regions; but in such cases, certain links - generic, thematic or historical - should be kept in mind.

Alternatively, the literature from Africa or the Caribbean may be linked to a study of Colonial and Postcolonial Literature, as two parts of a single cluster/paper or as two related clusters/papers.

Australian Literature

(a) For close study: 4-5 items for a half cluster/paper, or 8-10 items for a full cluster/paper. The items should cover a variety of genres and periods.

Many of the items suggested below will be found in Ken Goodwin and Alan Lawson (ed.), The Macmillan Anthology of Australian Literature (Macmillan, London, 1990). Other possible items can also be found there.

Possibilities:

Early responses to Australia:

Extracts from James Cook’s journal

Mary Gilmore, ‘Australia’

Henry Lawson, ‘The Drover’s Wife’

Extracts from the Ojanggawuls Song Cycle

Selected poems from Christopher Brenan, Hugh McCrae, A.D. Hope, Judith Wright, Bruce Beaver, Bruce Dawe, David Campbell, Peter Porter, R.D. Fitzgerald, James McAuley, Rosemary Dobson, Kenneth Slessor, Judith Rodrigues, Dymonna Cusak, Kylie Tennant, Michael Dransfield

Henry Handel Richardson (Ethel Florence Richardson): a novel from The Fortunes of Richard Mahony

Patrick White, The Vivisector or Voss or Riders in the Chariot or The Tree of Man

Thomas Keneally, Bring Larks and Heroes

Barbara Baynton, Woman to Man

David Malouf, 12 Edmonstone Street
Kath Walker, We Are Going

Sally Morgan, Daisy Corunna’s Story

Joseph Furphy, Such is Life

Randolph Stow, The Bystander or The Haunted Land

Sally Morgan, My Place

Selections from Kata Carenville, Colin Yuiele and/or Vichi Viidikaas

Alexander Buzo, Norm and Ahmed

Jack Hibbard, A Stretch of the Imagination

Ray Lawler, Summer of the Seventeenth Doll

Selected short stories by Henry Lawson, Frank Moorhouse, Patrick White, Peter Carey, Thea Astley, Elizabeth Jolley, Beverley Farmer, Patricia Wrightson, Frank Morehouse, Michael Wilding

(b) Background reading

6-8 units for a half paper, or 10-15 units for a full paper, from items not selected for special study from those listed above.

African Literature in English

(a) For close study

4-5 items for a half cluster/paper, or 8-10 items for a full cluster/paper. The items should cover a variety of genres and periods. Possibilities:

Poems by Dennis Brutus, Roy Campbell, Mongane Waley Serote, Oswald Mbuyiseni Mtshali, John Pepper Clark, Gabriel I.G. Okara, Christopher Okigbo, Wole Soyinka, Kofi Awoonor, Lenrie Peters, Okot p’Bitek

Chinua Achebe, Things Fall Apart or No Longer at Ease or A Man of the People

Wole Soyinka, The Interpreters or Season of Anomy (fiction)

Wole Soyinka, A Dance of the Forests or Madmen and Specialists or Death and the King’s Horseman (drama)

Ngugi wa Thiong’o, A Grain of Wheat or Petals of Blood (fiction)

Ngugi wa Thiong’o, Decolonising the Mind (commentary)

Ngugi wa Thiong’o & Miceri Mugo, The Trial of Dedan Kimathi

Efua Sutherland, Foriwa or The Marriage of Anansewa

Alan Paton, Cry, the Beloved Country
Doris Lessing, The Grass is Singing

Ayi Kwei Armah, The Beautiful Ones Are Not Yet Born

Amos Tutuola, The Palm-Wine Drinkard

Elechi Amadi, The Concubine

Nadine Gordimer, Burger's Daughter or July's People

J.M. Coetzee, Waiting for the Barbarians

Alex La Guma, A Walk in the Night

Athol Fugard, My Children! My Africa! or Sizwe Bansi Is Dead

Franz Fanon, The Wretched of the Earth or Black Skins, White Masks

Es’kia Mphahlele, Down Second Avenue

(b) Background reading: 6-8 units for a half paper, or 10-15 units for a full paper, from items not selected for special study from those listed above.

Caribbean Literature

(a) For close study: 4-5 items for a half cluster/paper, or 8-10 items for a full cluster/paper. The items should cover a variety of genres and periods. Possibilities:

Poems by, e.g., E.K. Braithwaite, Claude McKay, Andrew Salkey, Derek Walcott

Jean Rhys, Wide Sargasso Sea

V.S. Naipaul, A House for Mr Biswas or The Mystic Masseur or The Minute Men

Orlando Patterson, The Children of Sisyphus

George Lamming, In the Castle of My Skin or Water with Berries or The Pleasures of Exile

Wilson Harris, Palace of the Peacock or Companions of the Day and Night

Merle Hodge, Crick Crack Monkey

Short stories by Jean Rhys, Roger Mais, Samuel Selvon, Shiva Naipaul, Wilson Harris

Derek Walcott, Omeros or The Dress or Monkey Mountain

Derek Walcott, Dream or Henri Christophe or Drums and Colours (plays)

C.L.R. James, Toussaint L'Ouverture
Background reading: 6-8 units for a half paper, or 10-15 units for a full paper, from items not selected for special study from those listed above.

I. COLONIAL AND POSTCOLONIAL STUDIES

1. Theory. Possible texts:

   Harish Trivedi, Colonial Transactions (Papyrus, Calcutta, 1993)

   F. Barker, P. Hulme & M. Iversen, Colonial Discourse/Postcolonial Theory (Manchester UP, 1994)

   Derek Walcott, Nobel Prize acceptance speech

2. Texts: possibilities

   Conrad, Heart of Darkness

   Forster, A Passage to India
Kipling, Kim

Orwell, Burmese Days

Edward Thompson, An Indian Day

Paul Scott, Staying On

George Lamming, In the Castle of My Skin, Water with Berries

Chinua Achebe, Things Fall Apart or Arrow of God

Ngugi wa Thiong’o, Petals of Blood or A Grain of Wheat

Doris Lessing, The Grass is Singing

Alan Paton, Cry the Beloved Country

Nadine Gordimer, My Son’s Story

J.M. Coetzee, Waiting for the Barbarians

Dinabandhu Mitra, The Indigo-Planting Mirror

Letters of an Indian Judge to an English Gentlewoman

Gandhi, The Story of My Experiments with Truth

Tagore, Gora; Quartet

Premchand, Karmabhumi

R.K. Narayan, Waiting for the Mahatma

Raja Rao, Kanthapura

Mulk Raj Anand, Coolie

Rushdie, Midnight’s Children or Shame

Shashi Tharoor, The Great Indian Novel

Amitav Ghosh, The Glass Palace

LANGUAGES AND STYLISTICS

One of the following may be used as a basic textbook:

Reference:

Sapir, Language (Harcourt, Brace & World, NY, 1921)

B.B. Kachru (ed.), The Other Tongue: English across Cultures (Oxford UP, 1996)

STYLISTICS. Possible textbooks/reference books:

I. Theory and techniques. Possible textbooks/reference books:

English Language Teaching Documents (British Council, London, 1977)

C.J. Brumfit, Communicative Methodology in Language Teaching (Cambridge UP, 1984)

M. Celce-Murcia & L. McIntosh (ed.), Teaching English as a Second or Foreign Language (Newbury House, Rowley, Mass., 1979)

R. Quirk & H. Widdowson (ed.), English in the World: Teaching and Learning the Language and Literatures (Cambridge UP, 1985)

V.V. Yardi, Teaching English in India Today (Parimal Prakashan, Aurangabad, 1977)

II. Practice:

The course should contain a component of practice teaching.

(φ) TRANSLATION AND TRANSLATION THEORY

I. Theory. Possible texts:

F.R. Amos, Early Theories of Translation (Columbia UP, 1973)
S. Bassnett, Translation Studies (Methuen, London)

R. Schulte & J. Biguenet (ed.), Theories of Translation: an Anthology of Translations from Dryden to Derrida (Chicago UP, 1992)

Walter Benjamin, ‘The Task of the Translator’ (Illuminations)

Derrida, ‘Plato’s Pharmacy’ (Disseminations); ‘Structure, Sign and Play in the Discourse of the Human Sciences’ (Writing and Difference)

George Steiner, After Babel (Oxford UP, 1975)

J.F. Graham (ed.), Difference in Translation (Cornell UP, 1985)

I. Even-Zohan, Papers in Historical Poetics (Porter Institute, Tel Aviv, 1968)

S. Mukherjee, Translation as Discovery (Allied Publishers, Delhi, 1981)

II. Study and practice

The second part of the course should consist of the study of translations in relation to the original. For this purpose, works translated from the student’s mother tongue, or from other languages known to him/her, should be studied alongside the originals.

In addition or alternatively, a study may be undertaken of a writer’s translation of his own work (Tagore, Nabokov, Beckett); or of a body of translated pieces from/by various hands.
(p) THEORY AND METHODOLOGY OF COMPARATIVE LITERATURE

I. Theory. Possible texts:

N.P. Stallknecht & H. Franz, Comparative Literature: Method and Perspective (Southern Illinois UP, 1971)

F. Jost, Introduction to Comparative Literature (Bobbs-Merrill, Indianapolis, 1974)

C. Koelb & S. Noakes (ed.), The Comparative Perspective on Literature (Cornell UP, 1977)

II. Textual study

This part of the course should consist of a comparative study of texts from various languages. The material suggested for genre-based clusters/papers earlier in the MA curriculum may be adapted for this purpose.

(q) THE HISTORY OF THE BOOK

I. General Principles; Book Production and Bibliographical History

The course should cover the following areas:

Conceptual issues: orality, literacy and the printed book

Pre-history of the printed book; early book production; incunabula

Outline of printing techniques down the ages

Related matters of book production such as paper, binding, illustrations

The book trade: relations between authors and publishers; copyright

Readers and reception

New developments: the electronic book, on-line publishing and the Internet
Recommended reading:

S. Steinberg, Five Hundred Years of Printing (3rd edn., Penguin, Harmondsworth, 1974)

B.S. Kesavan, A History of Printing and Publishing in India (National Book Trust, Delhi, 1985-)

J. McGann, ‘The Rationale of Hypertext’ (variously reprinted)

II. Practice:

Students should be trained in the basics of book production by visits to, and contacts with, printing presses and publishing houses. (This should include a basic knowledge of paper sizes, fonts etc.) They should also be trained in analyzing the components of a printed book and deducing the history of its production and publication.

(r) MASS COMMUNICATION AND MEDIA STUDIES

Possible topics and areas of study are given below. A half cluster/paper may include 1-2, and a full one 2-4 of these areas.

1. History and theory. The institutions of mass communication through history. Codes of representation: ‘reality’, modes and forms of representation, ideologies of representation.
2. Journalism. The history of journalism (a) global; (b) Indian (with its role in the freedom movement and rise of nationalism). Rise of the daily newspaper. The tabloid. Rise of periodicals -their various kinds. Ownership patterns. News services and agencies. Electronic journalism. Journalistic skills: news-gathering, editing, leader-writing, feature-writing, reviews, interviews. Different kinds of journalistic style: according to subject, or to nature of publication.

5. Radio. History of radio broadcasting. Apparatus and technology. Types of programme, their nature and the techniques involved: music, sports broadcast, news, interviews, talks, community programmes; interactive programmes such as call-in sessions, talk shows, letters. Practical analysis of programmes.

PART-II

(ENGLISH)
CURRICULA FOR WESTERN LANGUAGES

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE FOR ENGLISH AND OTHER WESTERN LANGUAGES

UNIVERSITY GRANTS COMMISSION
NEW DELHI

February 2001
PREFACE

A revision of the University Curricula in Western Languages, as in other subjects, was mooted by the UGC and discussed during the tenure of the last All-India Panel for English and Other Western Languages (1997-2000). Unfortunately, owing to the absence of a Panel Secretary during 1999-2000, the Panel was unable to proceed with the idea, or hold the Regional Workshops proposed to initiate the exercise.

A Curriculum Development Committee for English and Other Western Languages was finally formed in September 2000 and asked to submit its recommendations by the first week of February 2001. We are grateful to the UGC for extending the time-limit to the end of February 2001. All the same, the time-span was limited, and did not allow preliminary consultation with university departments or individual teachers.

The Committee therefore prepared a set of draft recommendations and circulated them to all universities teaching Western languages in India. Unfortunately, we received very little feedback. That little has been taken into account in preparing the final recommendations.

Western languages other than English face a broadly common situation across India, though of course there are differences from region to region and language to language. Hence it was adjudged best to begin by preparing a common structure for courses at various levels in all languages. This is followed by detailed curricula for the four languages most widely studied, viz., Russian, Spanish, French and German, with outline courses for Italian as well. Courses in other languages can be formed by drawing upon the common structure.

These recommendations are not meant to be prescriptive. They should be regarded as providing general models that universities can adapt or extend according to their need. At the same time, they should provide certain common standards and parameters. To ensure these is the purpose of the Curriculum Development Committee.

We are grateful to everyone who has advised and assisted us. We also thank the UGC for giving us the opportunity to undertake this exercise.

Sukanta Chaudhuri

Convenor, Curriculum Development Committee

for English and Other Western Languages
MEMBERS OF THE UGC CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE
FOR
ENGLISH AND OTHER WESTERN LANGUAGES
2000-2001

Sukanta Chaudhuri, Jadavpur University (English), Convenor
Rekha Vaidya Rajan, Jawaharlal Nehru University (German)
K. Madanagobalane, University of Madras (French)
J.P. Dimri, Central Institute of English and Foreign Languages, Hyderabad (Russian)
Sonya S. Gupta, Central Institute of English and Foreign Languages, Hyderabad (Spanish)
Sharmishtha Lahiri, University of Delhi (Italian)
C.T. Indra, University of Madras (English)
Prashant K. Sinha, University of Pune (English)
Rajiva Verma, University of Delhi (English)
Panel Secretary: Dr N.A. Kazmi, Joint Secretary, UGC Report of the Curriculum Development Committee

Western European Languages

1. Preamble

A Curriculum Development Committee for English and Western European Languages was set up by the UGC in September 2000 to review the previous report of the Curriculum Development Centre published in 1990 and to suggest changes for the future. Ten years later foreign languages still have not received their due importance as an independent discipline. This is also reflected in the fact that there is still no separate panel for foreign languages in the UGC. The other problems mentioned in that report have also not yet been adequately tackled. These are:

- Only a handful of states have provided for teaching of foreign languages at the high school level.
- Foreign languages are taught at the graduate level in very few universities.
- Though foreign languages are taught at the Certificate and Diploma level in many universities, very few of them have adequate facilities for teaching foreign languages at the B.A. (Hons.) and the M.A. levels.
- In many universities foreign languages are still grouped together in a single department instead of there being a separate department for each foreign language. This impedes the overall growth of foreign languages. In some universities foreign languages still remain under the jurisdiction of departments of English, Linguistics, etc.
- Grants available for preparation of dictionaries, textbooks etc. are very meagre. With the development of information technology, departments now require grants for computers, which are often not available.

The Committee reviewed the changes of the last ten years and suggested some changes in the framework of the different syllabi, which are given in Section 3.

2. Foreign Language Teaching in India: The Decade Since 1990

In the last ten years a greater number of postgraduate programmes in Foreign Languages have been launched at different universities (Spanish, Italian, Portuguese). At the same time this period has seen an increase in need based courses, such as for the Information Technology and Communication sectors, as well as for other upcoming areas of industry due to the opening up of the Indian economy. Simultaneously, foreign language teaching and research have been significantly influenced by their interaction with several new disciplines like Culture Studies, Translation Studies, Studies centred on India and Europe etc.

Taking these emerging dimensions into consideration, the Committee reviewed the syllabi and programmes of five European languages. Syllabi for the other languages can be formulated using the common structures proposed at the outset.

The CDC document of 1990 remains pertinent to FLT programmes even today. However, taking into account the diversity of programmes available at present, the committee felt that a review related to FLT be undertaken. The 1990 report of the Curriculum Development Centre (UGC, New Delhi) gives in Chapter I a detailed historical overview of FLT in India, which has formed the basis of discussion for the present committee.

At present, courses are conducted at the following levels:

Language proficiency courses (Certificate of Proficiency, Diploma of Proficiency, and Advanced Diploma of Proficiency)

These form the majority of courses offered at Indian universities, and are the backbone of FLT in India. They have a double role to play: firstly they impart foreign language skills to a large number of students, professionals etc.; but also, since very few universities offer undergraduate programmes in the foreign languages, these language proficiency courses act as feeder courses for the postgraduate programmes. At present the span of each course is one academic year. The committee recommends that the possibility of acceleration be explored, by making these courses intensive ones to be covered in a shorter span. This would take into account the needs of today's language learners to achieve maximum gain in the minimum possible time.

Undergraduate programmes

Full-fledged undergraduate programmes at the Honours level in the foreign languages are offered only at a few universities. However, many universities offer foreign language courses as subsidiary/optional courses at the undergraduate level, which are generally similar to the language proficiency courses in content. The committee feels that it is important for the development of FLT in India to have more optional courses and honours programmes in the foreign languages at the undergraduate level.

Postgraduate programmes

M.A. programmes

This is the level at which many changes have taken place in the syllabi of different universities. Also, more universities are offering M.A. programmes in foreign languages.
Western Languages

M.Phil./Ph.D programmes

There has been a tremendous expansion in research activity in various new areas such as methodology, comparative literature, translation studies, comparative and contrastive linguistics.

3. Recommendations

In the last 10 years, new thrust areas have emerged, which call for an expansion of the parameters within which foreign language teaching and research have to be reframed. This reframing may gain from insights in new areas. With a view to framing future directions for FLT in India, the committee felt that:

- At the postgraduate level, a wide variety of courses should be envisaged to make the programme more flexible, so that students can have a wider choice. The choice could include courses in allied disciplines.

- Foreign language departments at the postgraduate level, instead of being isolated compartments, should envisage a number of common courses, such as: Methodology of Teaching a Foreign Language, Introduction to General Linguistics, Theories of Literature, Theories of Translation, Research Methodology, Comparative Literature etc. This would allow for an interdisciplinary perspective as well as a more rational use of human resources. This should also apply to teacher-training courses conducted by the Central Institute of English and Foreign Languages, as well as the UGC Refresher Courses. The committee feels that it is imperative that teachers' training as well as the syllabi move towards a more integrative and interdisciplinary approach.

- Since new areas requiring foreign language skills have opened up, it is important that syllabi be updated and revised to incorporate the needs of new areas such as the IT and communication sectors.

- At the postgraduate level, new fields like media studies, European studies etc. could be incorporated.

- Wherever possible, a move from the system of annual examinations to a semester system with continuous evaluation should be effected.

- At all levels, it is recommended that students be exposed to computer assisted language learning and teaching.

- Further, the Committee also recommends that the sample syllabi provided at the end of the report should be reviewed periodically, at least once in three years.
In the light of the above comments this report presents a revised version of the syllabi for language proficiency courses, undergraduate courses, postgraduate programme and for M.Phil./Ph.D. programmes.
CERTIFICATE COURSE IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

A. Aims and Objectives

The course should aim at:

1. Developing the following language skills:
   i. Listening to and understanding spoken language which uses the elementary spoken structures
   ii. Speaking: to engage in simple dialogue
   iii. Reading: to read and understand elementary texts
   iv. Writing: to write simple sentences and short paragraphs.

2. Giving the learners the mastery of and the ability to manipulate the basic grammatical structures of the language and the most essential vocabulary items.

3. Exposing the learner to the written system of the language (in the case of Russian).

4. Exposing the learner to the culture of the relevant country/countries.

B. Duration of the course

About 150 hours of classroom instruction and roughly 30-40 hours of self study on the basis of home assignments. These teaching hours could be spread over one semester or two semesters (one academic year) depending on the needs of the learners.

C. Entrance Qualifications

SSC or equivalent.

D. Contents

1. Type of language:
   a. The language taught should be contemporary in nature.
   b. The language taught should be suited to everyday situations.
   c. Vocabulary should be pertinent to the day-to-day communication needs of the learner.
2. Grammar and language structures:

The grammar and language structures learnt should be functional in nature and in conformity with the aims and objectives. Elementary structures required for the basic communication needs of the learners and the grammatical elements underlying such structures should be learnt.

3. Cultural Content:

The cultural aspects of the relevant country/countries should be part of the teaching of the language.

E. Techniques of Instruction

Without prejudice to the specific language teaching approach adopted by the teacher, the following parameters are suggested for realising the above objectives and contents:

1. To avoid monotony in the classroom and to reduce the role of mechanical reproduction of the material learnt, stress should be laid on creativity in the classroom.

2. Use of modern technical aids such as computers, CD-ROMs, tape recorders, slide projectors etc. should be encouraged.

3. An intercultural approach to the teaching of language and cultural aspects should be encouraged.

4. Supplementary teaching material should be used.

F. Evaluation

Without stipulating specific evaluation procedures for testing the material learnt, the following guidelines are suggested:

1. That the evaluation be continuous in nature.

2. That a fair balance be established between oral and written components.

3. That oral fluency, linguistic accuracy and cultural content be given due weightage.

Note:

In universities which follow the practice of internal assessment, a balance should be struck between continuous evaluation and the final examination, e.g.: 40:60 or 50:50.
DIPLOMA COURSE IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

A. Aims and Objectives

The course should aim at:

1. Reinforcing, further strengthening and developing the following language skills:
   i. Listening to, understanding and developing language which uses spoken structures of an intermediate level.
   ii. Speaking: to engage in simple conversation
   iii. Reading: to read and understand intermediate level texts and
   iv. Writing: to write paragraphs and short essays.

2. Giving the learners the mastery of and the ability to use the grammatical structures of the language and essential vocabulary items.

3. Exposing the learner to the culture of the relevant country/countries.

B. Duration of course

About 150 hours of classroom instruction and roughly 40-50 hours of self-study on the basis of home assignments. These teaching hours could be spread over one semester or two semesters (one academic year) depending on the needs of the learners.

C. Contents

1. Type of language:
   a. The language taught should be contemporary in nature.
   b. The language taught should be suited to everyday situations.
   c. The vocabulary taught should be pertinent to the day-to-day communication needs of the learner.

2. Grammar and language structures:
   a. The grammar and language structures learnt should be functional in nature and in conformity with the aims and objectives outlined above. Elementary and intermediate-level structures required for the basic communication needs of the learners and the grammatical elements underlying such structures should be learnt.
b. At this level, the core grammatical elements of the foreign language should be covered.

3. Cultural Content:

   a. Specific elements dealing with the culture in question should be overtly introduced.

   b. Cultural aspects of the relevant country/countries should continue to form an important component of language teaching.

D. Techniques of Instruction

Without prejudice to the specific language teaching approach adopted by the teacher, the following parameters are suggested for realising the above objectives and contents:

1. To avoid monotony in the classroom and to reduce the role of mechanical reproduction of the material learnt, stress should be laid on creativity in the classroom.

2. Use of modern technical aids such as computers, CD-ROMs, tape recorders, slide projectors and other audio-visual aids should be encouraged.

3. Supplementary teaching material, even in the form of films and mass media material etc., should be used.

4. An intercultural approach should be encouraged

5. Use of authentic material should be encouraged.

E. Evaluation

Without stipulating specific evaluation procedures for testing the material learnt, the following guidelines are suggested:

1. That the evaluation be continuous in nature.

2. That a fair balance be established between oral and written components.

3. That oral fluency, linguistic accuracy and cultural content be given due weightage.

Note:

In universities that follow the practice of internal assessment, a balance should be struck between continuous evaluation and the final examination, e.g., 40:60 or 50:50.

See Appendix for sample syllabi.
ADVANCED DIPLOMA IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

A. Aims and Objectives

The course should aim at:

1. Consolidating, strengthening and further developing the following language skills:

   i. Listening to and understanding the language spoken by native speakers at normal conversation speed and rhythm on topics familiar and required by the learner.

   ii. Speaking: to maintain sustained conversation among the learners themselves and also with native speakers on topics of general interest.

   iii. Reading: to read and understand graded texts from contemporary writings.

   iv. Writing: to compose and write on a variety of topics: descriptive, narrative, brief essays and letters.

2. Exposing the learner to authentic documents and cultural artifacts of the target language.

3. Initiating the learner in the use of monolingual dictionaries.

4. Developing the ability to translate from and into the foreign language.

B. Duration of the Course

About 150 hours of classroom instruction accompanied by 50-60 hours of self study based on home assignments. These teaching hours could be spread over one or two semesters, depending on the needs of the learners.

C. Contents

1. Language: The language taught should be pertinent to the communicative and professional needs of the learner. At this level a student should be able to express his/her ideas on a wide variety of subjects in a cogent manner.

2. Grammar: At this level the student should have fairly good command of the elementary and intermediate-level grammatical structures. Suitable texts from the foreign language could be used for translation exercises into English/Indian languages and vice versa.
3. Cultural Content: Specific elements dealing with culture, including cinema, music, arts etc., and elements satisfying the professional needs of the learner should be overtly introduced. The culture of the target language should also continue to form an important component of language and literature teaching.

D. Techniques of Instruction

Without prejudice to the specific language teaching approach adopted by the teacher, the following parameters are suggested for realising the above objectives and contents.

1. To avoid monotony in the classroom and to reduce the role of mechanical reproduction of the material learnt, stress should be laid on creativity in the classroom.

2. Use of modern technical aids, such as slide projectors, tape recorders, computers, CD-ROMs etc. should be encouraged.

3. Supplementary teaching material on cultural aspects, such as art, films etc. may be used in the classroom. An intercultural approach should be encouraged.

4. Suitable methods/techniques should be employed, to encourage the learners to do independent work by way of reading, writing and self-correction.

E. Evaluation

Without stipulating specific evaluation procedures for testing the material learnt, the following guidelines are suggested:

1. That the evaluation be continuous in nature.

2. That a fair balance be established between the oral and the written components.

3. That the wide variety of written skills, including translation, proposed in the aims and objectives be suitably tested.

4. That oral fluency in using the language, as well as linguistic accuracy and cultural content, be given due weightage.

Note:

In universities which follow the practice of internal assessment, a balance should be struck between continuous evaluation and the final examination, e.g., 40:60 or 50:50.

See Appendix for sample syllabi.
BACHELOR’S DEGREE IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Introduction

On the whole, two main types of graduate teaching programmes in foreign languages may be distinguished among the wide diversity of programmes in the country:

1. A specialised programme comprising a certain number of papers and termed variously as Major, Special, Honours etc. in the foreign language concerned.

2. A general programme comprising 2-6 papers, where a broad framework of the foreign language concerned is provided, termed variously as Subordinate, Minor, General/Optional etc.

Whereas some universities provide for both streams (General and Special/Hons.), in certain other universities only one of these options is integrated in the infrastructure.

The situation of graduate teaching is further complicated by the fact that in certain states foreign language input exists even at the 10+2 level. Such courses, where the foreign language is taught at the school or the +2 level, are termed in this report as Feeder Level courses, as opposed to Non-Feeder courses, to which students with no prior knowledge of the foreign language are admitted.

In order to bring about uniformity in the teaching of foreign languages at the undergraduate level, the following proposals should be integrated into the university infrastructure:

1. That at the General Level (Non-feeder or Feeder)

   a. Foreign language teaching should be spread over all the 3 years of the degree course and not just over 2 years.

   b. The foreign language should be taught at the rate of at least 4 hours per week per paper/course.

   c. The foreign language at the general level should have at least two papers/four courses per year.

2. That at Honours Level (Non-feeder or Feeder)

   a. Foreign language teaching should be spread over all the three years of the Degree course, so as to allow phased teaching.

   b. The foreign language should be taught at the rate of at least 4 hours per week per paper/course.
c. In addition to the general course, the foreign language at the Honours Level should have at least two papers/four courses per year.

3. Wherever the Feeder Level exists, i.e. where there is an input in the foreign language at the 10+2 or the +2 level, two streams be created at the General Level:

a. A Feeder Stream for those who have already studied the foreign language at the 10+2 or the +2 level, and whose academic competence in the foreign language is equivalent to that of the Certificate Level.

b. A Non-Feeder stream for those who have not earlier offered the foreign language, but are desirous of doing so at the B.A. level.

Creation of these two levels, at least in the First Year of the B.A. programme, would avoid the anomalous situation in which the learners have different degrees of competence.

Syllabi:

a. The syllabi for the general non-feeder courses could be the same as those for the language proficiency courses. The three courses (Certificate, Diploma and Advanced Diploma) could also be spread over the three years of the degree course.

b. Wherever the possibility of including a Feeder Stream exists, the first year of the General Feeder Stream should creatively inculcate elements of both the Certificate and Diploma courses in the first year, while merging the two streams in the Second year to follow the syllabus of the Diploma Course in a more systematic fashion.

c. In view of the fact that more Honours programmes at the undergraduate level need to be introduced, the present committee has upgraded the earlier description of the graduate course in foreign languages to a major/special/honours course, and has also included a common pattern for B.A.(Hons.) programmes in foreign languages.
BACHELOR'S/COURSE IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Honours Stream

(Non-Feeder and Feeder - Major/Special/Honours)

A. Nature of the Component

Many universities offer the possibility of specialising in a particular foreign language at the undergraduate level, culminating in a B.A. (Hons.) degree in the foreign language concerned. The Honours stream can include papers/courses in allied disciplines in addition to the papers/courses in the foreign language concerned.

B. Aims and Objectives

1. To prepare the learner for admission to the Master's degree programme of an Indian university.

2. To consolidate and strengthen the four basic skills, especially with reference to the elements outlined below:
   a. Reading: to be able to read a wide variety of texts in the original, initially with a bi-lingual dictionary and eventually with a monolingual dictionary.
   b. Listening: to be able to comprehend language spoken at a normal speed and rhythm.
   c. Writing: to be able to write (independently or with the help of dictionaries), letters, narrative, and descriptive as well as discursive texts.
   d. Speaking: to be able to communicate ideas and opinions with a fair degree of fluency.

3. To make the learner aware of the basic variants in register, both oral and written.

4. To acquaint the learner with the main literary trends, genres and authors through specially chosen annotated texts and anthologies.

5. To give the learner a broad-based knowledge of the history, geography and culture of the relevant country/countries, so as to sufficiently equip him/her for a better understanding of the language and literature of the pertinent culture.

C. Duration

3 years / 6 semesters. To comprise 10 papers under the annual system (plus subsidiary papers and papers in allied disciplines) or 10 papers divided into courses under the semester system. (3 papers in the first year, 3 in the second year, 4 in the third year)

Under allied disciplines there could be common courses for students of different European languages in areas such as:

a. Social and cultural history of Eastern and Western Europe.

b. History of Western Philosophy.

c. Introduction to Linguistics.

D. Contents

1. Grammar and language use

2. Carefully chosen texts from the field of literature and culture with a view to stimulating intercultural dialogue.

3. Essay writing and composition. These skills are to be stressed. The learner must be made aware of the basic rhetorical devices underlying composition.

4. Adequate stress on language, literature, culture and history.

5. Introduction to the techniques of translation. Translation both from and into the foreign language.

E. Techniques

Without prejudice to the specific pedagogical approach adopted by the teacher, the following parameters are suggested for realising the above objectives and contents:

1. To avoid monotony in the classroom and to reduce the role of mechanical reproduction of the material learnt, it is felt that stress should be laid on discussions and creativity in the classroom.

2. Use of modern technical aids, such as computers, CD-ROMs, slide projectors, tape-recorders, videos etc. should be encouraged.

3. Supplementary teaching material on culture, arts, cinema etc. should be used. An intercultural approach should be encouraged.

4. Suitable methods/techniques should be used to encourage the learners to do independent work by way of reading, writing and self-correction.
5. Regular home assignments, also requiring library work, should be set, in order to instill independent study habits in the learners.

F. Evaluation

Without stipulating specific evaluation procedures for testing the material learnt, the following guidelines are suggested:

1. That the evaluation be continuous in nature.

2. That a fair balance be established between the oral and the written components.

3. That the wide variety of written skills proposed in the objectives, including translation, is suitably tested.

4. That oral fluency in the language as well as linguistic accuracy and cultural orientation is given due weightage.

Note:

In universities that follow the system of internal assessment, a balance should be struck between continuous evaluation and the final examination, e.g. 40:60 or 50:50.

General Recommendatory Note:

A system of tutorials could be introduced to supplement lectures.

See Appendix for sample syllabi
A. Aims and Objectives

This level envisages advanced theoretical and practical training and also human resources development. In keeping with these twin goals, the aims and objectives of a Master's course in foreign languages would be as under:

1. To arrive at a high level of competence in all language skills, both written and oral.
2. To encourage creative independent thinking.
3. To develop the capability both to analyse and to synthesise.
4. To instill independent reading habits in the learner.
5. To make the learner aware of language registers and styles, both oral and written.
6. To instill in the learner a critical appreciation of literary works.
7. To give the learner a wide spectrum of both theoretical and applied knowledge to equip him/her for professional exigencies.
8. To foster an intercultural dialogue by making the learner aware of both the source and the target cultures.
9. To develop critical faculties and scientific thinking to prepare the learner for research.
10. To encourage an interdisciplinary approach for cross-pollination of ideas.

B. Duration

It is proposed that the above aims and objectives may be achieved through a study programme spread over 2 academic years/four semesters comprising 8-10 papers under the annual system or 16-20 courses under the semester system.

C. Contents

The M.A. programme should be a judicious blend of all components of the discipline, both theoretical and applied. It is strongly recommended that at the M.A. level the concept of core/compulsory and optional/elective courses/papers should be introduced. In departments offering M.A. in various foreign languages, the possibility of conducting common courses across departments should be explored. For instance, the following courses/papers could be common to students of different foreign languages:

- Introduction to Linguistics
- Methodology of Foreign-Language Teaching
- History of Western Philosophy
- Social and Cultural History of Western & Eastern Europe
- European Classics in Translation
- Comparative Literature

These and other courses could also be taught partly as common courses and partly with reference to the language concerned.

In general the contents suggested are as under:

1. Language use
2. Linguistics, general and applied, as pertinent to the foreign language
3. Literature and literary theory
4. Culture Studies
5. Translation and translation theory

D. Techniques of Instruction

1. Lectures, Seminars and Group discussions
2. Course Papers and Reviews (book and film)
3. Use of supplementary readings to complement the course material prescribed.
4. Use of technical aids for specialised courses.

E. Evaluation

Without stipulating specific evaluation procedures, the following guidelines are suggested:
1. That there should be continuous evaluation through seminars, tutorials, tests, course papers etc.

2. That oral competence be a necessary component of testing.

3. That linguistic accuracy be given due weightage.

4. That critical and analytical ability be an important component of evaluation.

Note:

In universities that follow the system of internal assessment, a balance should be struck between continuous evaluation and the final examination, e.g. 40:60 or 50:50.

For sample syllabi of M.A. courses refer to the Appendix.
COMMON PATTERN FOR M.A. COURSES IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Name of the Programme: M.A.

Admission Eligibility: B.A. degree in the concerned foreign Language, or any Bachelor's degree with requisite knowledge of the foreign language on the basis of an admission test.

Duration: 2 years/4 semesters.

System of instruction and examination: Annual/Semester system

Number of papers: Annual system: 8 to 10.

Number of courses: Semester system: 16 to 20.

Division into M.A. I and II:

Annual system:

Where a University offers 8 papers:
M.A. I: 4 papers; M.A. II: 4 papers.

Where a University offers 9 papers:
M.A. I: 4 papers; M.A. II: 5 papers.

Where a University offers 10 papers:
M.A. I: 5 papers; M.A. II: 5 papers.

Semester system:
4 to 5 courses per semester.

It is strongly recommended that at the M.A. level the concept of core/compulsory and optional/elective courses be encouraged. For instance, out of 8 papers in the annual system 6 could be core and 2 could be optional; out of 16 courses in the semester system, 4 could be optional.
PRE-DOCTORAL/ M.PHIL./ PH.D. IN FOREIGN LANGUAGE STUDIES

A. Aims and Objectives

The main goal at the pre-doctoral/M.Phil. level is to prepare the learner for research. In keeping with this goal the main aims and objectives of the M.Phil. programme should be as under:

1. Consolidating and reinforcing the aims and objectives already laid down at the M.A. level.
2. Providing an introduction to research methodology.
3. Providing an introduction to techniques of documentation and write-up.
4. Inculcating an interdisciplinary/comparative approach to research.
5. Updating knowledge in areas of research through advanced courses pertinent to those areas.

B. Duration

M.Phil. : At least two semesters/12 months, of which one semester is devoted to course work and one semester to the writing of a dissertation.

Ph.D. : Minimum of 6 semesters / 3 years.

C. Areas

Given the nature of this programme, the areas need not be specifically defined. However, an interdisciplinary/comparative approach should be stressed. A course/paper on research methodology should form the core component of the programme, while the other courses/papers can be related to the candidate's area of research.

D. Evaluation

As far as possible, the evaluation of the courses/papers should be continuous and based on the following:

1. Seminars
2. Paper presentations
3. Book-reviews
4. Preparing abstracts

5. Library work

The course work for the Ph.D. programme will be related to the area of research of the candidate and will be determined by the supervisor, research committee or research board of the university. The courses could be taught and/or reading courses.
SYLLABI FOR NEED-BASED COURSES

1. Typology:

The main aim of these courses is to provide a minimum vocational infrastructure, whereby the foreign language caters to the needs of the learners and is, directly or indirectly, instrumental to his acquiring gainful employment. The Committee has tried to identify potential areas for need-based courses. Two major types of vocational courses can be visualised:

1. Courses where the foreign language is the major tool and whose practice leads to the satisfaction of certain needs. These courses demand an extremely high degree of knowledge of the foreign language concerned. The potential areas of application of such courses are:

   a. Translation
   b. Interpretation
   c. Banking
   d. Dubbing
   e. Sub-titling
   f. Commercial Correspondence
   g. Reporting and journalism
   h. Information technology

2. Courses where the knowledge of the foreign language is secondary and acts as an ancillary tool. In such courses, which could be termed Foreign Language for Special Purposes (FLSP), the foreign language acts as an armature or a secondary skill that complements and supplements a primary skill. Below are enumerated a few potential areas of FLSP, although in reality their applications are unlimited:

   a. Hotelry
   b. Tourism
   c. Science and Technology
   d. Defence
e. Diplomacy
f. Trade and Commerce
g. Communication.

Each of these, as the title FLSP suggests, uses the foreign language for bettering the main skill that the learner has acquired, and very often also for advancement of knowledge.

2. Problems.

At present very few institutions have syllabi specifically designed to meet the demands of both types of courses. As a matter of fact, two types of problems beset this situation:

1. There exist no surveys or analyses of the real consumer needs of a foreign language in our country. Potential areas can be identified, but a lot of work has to be done to find out the exact needs. In this respect the universities need to create an Extension Unit which could profitably interact with the community and supplement its needs, thereby contributing to both national development and human resource development.

2. Once the needs are identified through questionnaires, interviews, surveys etc. there remains the problem of designing specific syllabi to suit these demands. It needs to be stressed here that every need is specific in an FLSP situation and can be met only through a specially designed syllabus. The syllabi given here are mainly examples and can serve as models for other syllabi.

3. Eligibility

Candidates who have passed Advanced Diploma or an equivalent examination will be eligible.

SPECIALISED TRANSLATION COURSE IN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE.

The course can include the following aspects:

a. Scientific and technical
b. Social Sciences and Humanities
c. Literary Translation

Aims and Objectives:

a. To strengthen and further develop language skills. Special attention to be paid to developing translation skills/techniques.
b. To develop the comprehension level.

c. To acquaint learners with the major theories and with the methodology of translation.

d. To make the learners aware of different language styles and registers.

e. To train learners to use a variety of dictionaries and reference materials.

f. To train learners to translate a variety of texts from the foreign language into English and Indian languages.

g. To acquaint learners with the history, geography, culture, economic and socio-political systems of target- and source-language countries.

Duration:

The above aims and objectives should be achieved through a study programme spread over at least two semesters (150-200 hrs.).

Contents:

The course should have two parts:

Part I

a. Language usage

b. Language styles and registers

c. Theories of translation

d. Problems of lexis, terms and terminology

e. Problems of equivalence

Part II

Translation of scientific, technical, social science and literary texts from the foreign language into English/Indian languages.
INTERPRETATION COURSE IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Aims and Objectives

a. To strengthen, develop and further consolidate language skills. Major emphasis should be laid on speaking, listening and note-taking.

b. To develop the comprehension level of the learner.

c. To train the learner to grasp the content and message of an oral text.

d. To develop the technique and methodology of consecutive and simultaneous interpretation.

e. To train the learner to render consecutive and simultaneous interpretation of deliberations of a conference/seminar etc.

f. To train the learner to translate a document at sight from the target to the source language and vice-versa.

g. To acquaint the learner with the history, geography, culture and economic and socio-political system of the target and source language countries.

h. To train the learner to take notes, prepare resumé and grasp salient points of an oral text.

i. To train the learner to develop reference skills, skimming, scanning etc.

j. To train the learner to make use of technical aids for translation/interpretation.

Duration:

This course should be spread over at least two semesters (200-250 hrs.).

Eligibility:

M.A. or an equivalent degree in the foreign language concerned with a good command over English/ an Indian language. Language competence may be examined on the basis of an entrance test.

Contents:

The course shall have two parts:

Part I

a. Usage (the features of the spoken language to be duly stressed).

b. Language styles and registers.

c. Problems of consecutive and simultaneous interpretation.
d. Lexico-grammatical problems.

e. Background courses.

Part II

a. Intensive training in consecutive and simultaneous interpretation.

b. Techniques of expressive reading.

c. Practice in making short speeches on various topics.
COURSE IN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE FOR M.PHIL./Ph.D. SCHOLARS

Aims and Objectives

a. Introducing the learners, where necessary, to the writing system of the foreign language concerned.

b. Developing comprehension skills: Silent reading of simple passages and answering (orally) in the source language in response to questions requiring factual and inferential comprehension.

c. Developing the following study and reference skills:
   i. making notes through reading
   ii. identifying and isolating basic/essential ideas in the text
   iii. consulting relevant need-oriented and experience-based materials in the foreign language
   iv. translating relevant materials from the foreign language concerned into English/Indian languages.

Duration

The course should be spread over one academic year or two semesters (150 hrs.)

Contents

The grammar and language structures should be in conformity with the aims and objectives outlined above. The basic grammar of the foreign language concerned should be covered, so that the scholar is able to consult and comprehend literature in the foreign language relevant to the requirements of his/her specialisation.
APPENDIX

SAMPLE SYLLABI

The sample syllabi given here could be used as a guide for framing the detailed syllabus of each of the courses and specifying the text-books, recommended reference books and other teaching materials.
CERTIFICATE OF PROFICIENCY IN RUSSIAN SYLLABUS

A. AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

The course should aim at:

I. Developing four skills:

   a) Listening : To listen to and understand the spoken language, which uses elementary spoken structures.

   b) Speaking : To engage in simple dialogues.

   c) Reading : To be able to read and understand elementary texts.

   d) Writing : To write a few simple sentences and short paragraphs.

II. Introducing the learners to the written system of the Russian language.

III. Giving the learners the mastery of and the ability to manipulate the basic grammatical structures and the most essential vocabulary items.

IV. Exposing the learners to relevant aspects of the life and culture of the Russian people.

B. DURATION OF THE COURSE

One academic year / two semesters. About 150 hours.

C. ENTRANCE QUALIFICATION

Pass in S.S.C. (10th class) or equivalent qualification.

D. CONTENT

1. Phonetics:

   a) Sounds and letters

   b) Stress and reduction of vowels

   c) Syllables

   d) Voicing and devoicing of consonants
e) Alternations of sounds
f) Various intonation patterns

2. Grammar:

a) Gender and number of nouns
b) Particles such as ýòî, àïò, õëüøëî, äåæå, ðàçâå, ôàé, ìè, åáãü, æå
c) Conjunctions and conjunctive words such as è, à, í, åñëè, ñòîðîøî, ëîëî, êðàñèâî, ñðåäíî, òðóäíî, òåïëî, áëåæíî, ñðåäíî.
d) Pronouns:
   i) Personal pronouns
   ii) Interrogative pronouns such as êòî, ñòîðîøî, ëåãêî, òðóäíî, ñðåäíî.
   iii) Possessive pronouns including íîëîëóäà
e) Adjectives:
   1. Declension in singular number
f) Adverbs:
   i) Adverbs of manner such as õëîäíî, íåéèêîëî, êðàñèâî, ëåãêî, òðóäíî, áëåæíî, ñðåäíî.
   ii) Adverbs of time such as óðîòíå, òåëî, íåéèêîëî, êðàñèâî, ëåãêî, òðóäíî, íåéèêîëî, êðàñèâî, ëåãêî, òðóäíî, áëåæíî, ñðåäíî.
   iii) Adverbs of place such as ññòîí, òàì, çàâñû, âøáå, ñéäà, áëåæíî, ñâèåëî, ñðåäíî.
   iv) Predicative adverbs such as õëîäíî, òåëî, áããëæíî, âðîïðîöî.
g) Numerals:
   i) Cardinal - 1 to 1000
   ii) Ordinal - 1 to 20

h) Verbs:
   i) Infinitive
   ii) Tenses
   iii) Conjugation patterns
   iv) Imperative mood (introduction)
   v) Verbs of motion
      a) without prefixes, such as ëåòåòü-ëåòàòü, åõàòü-åçäèòü,
         îëûòü-îëàâàòü, ëåòåòü-ëåòàòü,
         ããæøø-ãøäøø,
         ããñøø-ãñøøø.
      b) with prefixes such as ïï-, ïðè-, ïã-, ïé-, ïû-

i) Cases:
   a) Nominative case:
      i) to denote the subject: Ñòóäåíò ñêàòàåò.
      ii) to denote the predicate: Îí ñòóäåíò.
   b) Prepositional case:
      i) to denote place and time of action (prepositions å, íà)
      ii) to denote the object of speech or thought (preposition ï).
   c) Accusative case:
      i) to denote direct objects (without prepositions)
      ii) to express the direction (prepositions å, íà)
      iii) to denote the time without prepositions: Îí ðàáîòàë äâà äíÿ.
   d) Dative case:
      a) without prepositions:
i) to denote indirect objects with verbs like ïîìîãàòü, ìåøàòü, äàðèòü, äàâàòü, ïîêóïàòü, ïîêàçûâàòü.

ii) to denote age

iii) to denote the person performing an action or experiencing a certain state in impersonal sentences

1. with words like íääí, íääóïääéëí, íóæëí, íâéëëí

2. with verbs like îðàâèòüñÿ, òñòèòüñÿ etc.

3. in structures like Ííá õíëëíí

b) with preposition ïî in constructions like ïîñûëàòü ïî ïî÷òå, ñëóøàòü ïî ðàäèî, ñìîòðåòü ïî òåëåâèçîðó.

e) Genitive case:

a) With prepositions like ó, èç, ň, òî, îñëéà, æëé, àí, ààç, àäëêå ñðóàëî, íëííåê.

b) Without prepositions

i) to denote possession (ëàðàäàíéëà ãðàäàòà)

ii) to denote the agent of an action (íëàäî ñòóäåíòà)

iii) to denote the object acted upon (íîñèëëå ëëëàëè)

iv) with words like ìíëëí, ìëëí, ñèëëëëëëí, íëëëëëëëí

v) after words denoting negation: íåò, íå áûëî, íå áóäåò

vi) with words denoting a measure (ëëëí õëàëàà)

f) Instrumental case:

a) with prepositions like Ìíëëíò, ììàëëíò, çà, ìäàäàäà, ìåæëñò.

b) without prepositions:

i) to denote the instrument of action

ii) to denote the means of transport

iii) with verbs like ãûëòü, ñòàæëò, ðàäàìëàìëò, çàìëëëëëëëí.
3. Simple, Compound and Complex sentences.

E. EXAMINATION SCHEME

1. Assignments, including
   a) Class tests
   b) General class performance
   c) Home assignments

2. Written paper (one):
   Elements of basic grammar and guided composition.

3. Oral: i) Diction
   ii) Retelling of an unknown text
   iii) Short conversation (questions and answers)

F. EVALUATION (Recommendation)

A candidate's performance will be assessed on the basis of:
   a) assignments during the semester / academic year
   b) examinations at the end of the semester / academic year.

The relative weightage for a) and b) shall be 40:60.

G. LIST OF BOOKS RECOMMENDED (4 sets - optional)

SET I

1. V.G. Kostomarov (Ed.): “RUSSIAN FOR EVERYBODY”
   Lessons 1 to 36 and 40.

2. S. Khavronina et al: “RUSSIAN IN EXERCISES” (Selected exercises only)
SET II

1. Y.G. Ovsienko et al: “RUSSIAN”
   Introductory course on phonetics & Lessons 1 to 26.

2. S. Khavronina et al: “RUSSIAN IN EXERCISES” (Selected exercises only)

SET III

1. V.N. Wagner et al: “RUSSIAN”; Lessons 1 to 32.

2. S. Khavronina et al: “RUSSIAN IN EXERCISES” (Selected exercises only)

SET IV

1. J.P. Dimri & V.S. Totawar: “RUSSIAN-100”
   An Intensive Course for beginners

2. S. Khavronina et al: “RUSSIAN IN EXERCISES” (Selected exercises only)

NOTE: The proposed syllabus can be covered during an academic year or can be completed through an Intensive Course Spread over 3 to 4 months’ duration. It is desirable to conduct an Intensive Course of 3 to 4 months’ duration. In case of Intensive Courses, classes will have to be conducted 5 to 6 days a week.
DIPLOMA IN RUSSIAN SYLLABUS

A. AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

The course should aim at:

I. Strengthening and developing the following language skills:
   i) Listening to and understanding spoken language
   ii) Speaking (Conversation on topics of daily importance)
   iii) Reading (to read and understand texts of about 300 words)
   iv) Writing (simple texts of about 250 words on topics of general interest, answers to questions based on known as well as unknown texts).

II. Acquainting the learners with important aspects of life and culture of the Russian people.

B. DURATION OF THE COURSE

One academic year / two semesters. About 150 hours.

C. ENTRANCE QUALIFICATION

Certificate of Proficiency in Russian or an equivalent qualification.

D. CONTENT

I. Grammar:

1. Revision of basic grammar done during the Certificate of Proficiency Course with special emphasis on the following:

   i) Use of Accusative case with the verbs ëñèîæåñòü - ïîëîæèòü, ñòàâèòü - ïîñòàâèòü, âåøàòü - ïîâåñèòü

   ii) Use of Accusative case to denote time:
       Ñêîëüêî âðåìåíè? Çà ñêîëüêî âðåìåíè? Âî ñêîëüêî âðåìåíè? Íà ñêîëüêî âðåìåíè?
       ×åðåç ñêîëüêî âðåìåíè?

   iii) Use of Genitive case to denote time, dates:
       Ýîìàìàë? Ýàëåäà ñàâîððåí çåñêîï?
iv) Use of Genitive case
   a) with verbs like æääõů, æäääöû, óööäóü, áîéüýý
   b) with prepositions like èç, ó, ò, ñäáééêéí òó, ñëëîé, ñööäéë, ääëéëóóãóó, óö... ãî... ó... óî...
      íâëëëêéëêéë, ëëëüëãóó, íëëëë
v) Use of Instrumental case with the prepositions ñáàì, íííí, íââáëëëëëëëë, çà, òëëêíëëëëëë.
vi) Use of Instrumental case
   a) in passive constructions
   b) to indicate the time of action (ûëåëëíì, ðëëëëíêëóóìóóìóó)

vii) Use of Dative case in impersonal sentences.

viii) Use of Dative case with prepositions è, íí.

2. Declension of Cardinal Numerals.
   Declension of phrases whose principal component is a cardinal numeral.

3. a) Declension of Russian first names, surnames and patronymics.
   b) Declension of the following:
      âðåìÿ, èìÿ, ãî÷ü, ìàòü, îáùåæèòèå, ñàíàòîðèé, ëàáîðàòîðèéèé, áðàò, ñûí, çäàíèå, òðåòèé, Ìîñêîâñêèé, ñîáà÷èé, ãðàæäàíèí.

c) Declension of
   i) Definitive pronouns such as ñàì, ñàìûé, âåñü, êàæäûé
   ii) Reflexive pronoun ñåáèë
   iii) Demonstrative pronouns such as ýôîé, òàêîé, òîò
   iv) Mutuality pronoun äðóã äðóãà

d) Declension of adjectives in the plural

e) Short form adjectives

4. Direct and Indirect speech (Introduction):
   i) the direct speech is a statement,
   ii) The direct speech is a question containing an interrogative word,
   iii) The direct speech is an order or request.
5. Verbs of motion with the prefixes

\[-, ïðè-, ó-, â- (âî-), âû-, ïîä-, îò-, äî-, ïðî-, ïåðå--.

6. Reflexive verbs:

i) verbs with passive meaning,
ii) verbs with middle reflexive meaning,
iii) verbs with meaning of reciprocal action,
iv) verbs with meaning of reflexive proper.

7. Comparative and superlative degrees of adjectives and adverbs.

8. Aspects of the verb:

a) Imperfective aspect

i) to name an action
ii) to denote an action in process
iii) to denote repeated actions
iv) to denote simultaneous actions
v) after verbs such as íâ÷ìîìâû, ïîêíââîêàòû, ëîíî÷àòû

b) Perfective aspect

i) to denote the completion or result of an action
ii) to denote consecutive actions
i) to denote momentary actions
ii) to denote the time (prepositions â, ÷åðåç, çà)

c) Use of imperfective and perfective verbs in the future tense

9. Verbal Adverbs (Introduction):

- Imperfective verbal adverbs
- Perfective verbal adverbs

10. Participles (Introduction):

- Present and Past Participles - Active
- Present and Past Participles - Passive
- Short form participles
II. Syntax:

Complex sentences
Clauses introduced by the conjunctions and conjunctive words êôï, ÷ôï, êâëêé, êàêë, êîëåâà, âàâà, êóëûå, îôêóîîî, çà÷åì, ñêîëüêî, ñôîðîéêî êòîðûé, ïîòîìó êàêë, êëîëëêî êóäà, îòêóäà, åñëè, ÷òîáû, åñëè áû

III. Composition:

Writing short guided compositions on topics of general interest.

E. EXAMINATION SCHEME:

1. Assignments, including:
   a) Class tests
   b) General class performance
   c) Home assignments

2. Paper-I (Written):
   i) Grammar
   ii) Questions on known texts

3. Paper-II:
   i) Composition (guided)
   ii) Comprehension (questions based on unknown texts)

4. Oral:
   i) Reading
   ii) Comprehension
   iii) Simple conversation

F. EVALUATION:

A candidate's performance will be assessed on the basis of:
   a) assignments during the semesters / academic year
   b) the examination at the end of the semesters / academic year, the relative weight assigned to (a) and (b) being 40:60.

G. LIST OF BOOKS RECOMMENDED

A - TEXT BOOKS

1. V.N. Wagner : “Russian for English speaking students”, Lessons 32 to 45.
Part-I : Lessons 10-21
Part-II : Lessons 1-10

B - ADDITIONAL READING

1. O.P. Rassudova: “Temp”, Part-I
2. S.Khavronina: “Russian in Exercises”
3. S.Khavronina: “Russian as we speak it”
4. G. Bogatova et al.: “Practical Russian”
6. O.V. Vishnyakova: “Sbornik tekstov i uprazhnenij”

NOTE:

The proposed syllabus can be covered during one academic year or can be completed through an Intensive course spread over 3 to 4 months’ duration. It is desirable to conduct an Intensive Course of 3 to 4 months’ duration. In case of Intensive Courses, classes will have to be conducted 5 to 6 days a week.

—x—
ADVANCED DIPLOMA IN RUSSIAN SYLLABUS

A. AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

I. Consolidating, strengthening and further developing the following skills:

i) Listening : Listening to and understanding of language as spoken by native speakers as well as radio programmes, news bulletins and documentary films at normal conversation speed and rhythm on topics familiar to and needed by the learner.

ii) Speaking : To be able to engage in meaningful dialogues among the learners themselves and with the other speakers on topics of mutual interest.

iii) Reading : To be able to read fluently and understand texts from need-based / contemporary writings.

iv) Writing : To be able to compose and write under guidance short essays on topics of day-to-day interest. To be able to paraphrase, retell known as well as unknown texts and answer questions based on them.

II. Developing the ability to translate from Russian into English / Indian languages.

III. Initiating the learner to use suitable bilingual / monolingual dictionaries for the purpose of reading / translating.

IV. Exposing the learner to the culture and life of the Russian people through visual and textual materials selected for the purpose.

B. DURATION OF THE COURSE

One academic year / Two semesters. 6 hours per week.

C. ENTRANCE QUALIFICATION

Diploma in Russian or an equivalent qualification.

D. COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is a follow-up to the Diploma course and is designed to help the student speak fluently and accurately in Russian and use the linguistic skills productively and confidently. Exposure to contemporary technical prose, newspapers, etc. forms part of the training.

E. CONTENT

a) Reinforcement of the following grammatical items:

i) Comprehensive review of declension of nouns, pronouns (interrogative, negative, indefinite pronouns with particles), numerals (including collective numerals >•1•0•, >•1•5•, 4•2•>•5•, B•@•>•5•, G•5•B•2•5•@•>•), adjectives (2•>•;G•8•9•, ;8•A•8•9•), possessive adjectives ending in -8•=•, ->•2•; meaning and use of all cases.

ii) Verb aspects: Formation of imperfective and perfective aspects; use and meaning of aspects; use of imperfective and perfective infinitives.

iii) Use of reflexive verbs.

iv) Meaning and use of the imperative and conditional - subjunctive mood.

v) Sentences containing: present and past participles (active and passive), full and short forms of participles; verbal adverbs.

vi) Direct and indirect speech.

vii) Verbs of motion with different prefixes: ?>-, ?@8-, C-, 2-(2>-), 2K-, ?>4-(?>4>-), >B- (>B>-), 4>-?, 70-, ?@>-?, ?5@5-.

viii) Compound and Complex sentences with different conjunctions.

b) Emphasis to be laid on

1. Expansion of vocabulary, preferably in thematic units (socio-political, popular science, biography, culture, etc.)

2. Word formation

3. Phrases and collocations

4. Verbal prefixes and prepositions

c) READING (both guided and independent) of selected supplementary texts for comprehension and guided composition. It is recommended that the texts cover a variety of subjects, including short fiction, newspaper articles, etc.
d) TRANSLATION of texts of various types. Extensive use of a variety of dictionaries.

F. EXAMINATION SCHEME

a) Assignments during the Semesters / academic year

b) Two written papers

c) Oral examination

Written paper I

1. Grammar
2. Questions on known texts

Written paper II

1. Composition (guided)
2. Questions on unknown texts
3. Translation from Russian into English/Indian languages.

Oral

1. Reading
2. Comprehension
3. Conversation

G. EVALUATION

A candidate’s performance will be assessed on the basis of

a) Assignments during the semesters / academic year,

b) Examinations at the end of the semesters / academic year, the relative weight assigned to (a) and (b) being 40:60.

H. BOOKS RECOMMENDED

NOTE:

The proposed syllabus can be covered during one academic year or can be completed through an Intensive Course spread over 3 to 4 months. It is desirable to conduct an Intensive Course of 3 to 4 months’ duration. In case of Intensive Courses, classes will have to be conducted 5 to 6 days a week.
B.A. (HONS.) IN RUSSIAN

Annual System

FIRST YEAR (Three papers)

1. Use of language I (Written expression)
   Writing system of Russian; Practical grammar: gender, number and cases, verb aspects, numerals; Sentence patterns.

2. Use of language II (Oral expression)
   Development of listening, speaking and reading skills.

3. Introduction to Russian pronunciation
   Norms of pronunciation of Russian vowels and consonants; Stress; Intonation patterns.

SECOND YEAR (Three papers)

1. Use of language III
   Participle and verbal adverb constructions; Active and Passive constructions; Direct and Indirect speech; Cardinal and Ordinal numerals.

2. Introduction to Russian Literature I
   Initiation into analysis of literary texts. Reading of texts such as:
   À.Ñ. Ïóøêèí: ß âàñ ëþáèë, Óçíèê, Åâãåíèé Îíåãèí (îòðûâêè);
   Ï.Þ. Ëåðìîíòîâ: Ïàðóñ, Ãåðîé íàøåãî âðåìåíè (îòðûâêè);
   Í.Â. Ãîãîëü: Øèíåëü;
   Ë.Í. Òîëñòîé: Ïîñëå áàëà;
   À.Ï. ×åõîâ: Õàìåëåîí, ×åëîâåê â ôóòëÿðå.

3. Culture and Civilisation
   Outline of the history and geography of Russia; Socio-cultural activities in Russia.

THIRD YEAR (Four papers)

1. Advanced Russian Grammar
   Use of cases, verb aspects, verbs of motion, reflexive verbs; Use of prefixes and prepositions.

2. Sentence patterns in Russian
   Syntax of simple, compound and complex sentences.

3. Practical Stylistics and Translation
   Functional styles; Lexical and grammatical stylistics; Practical translation from Russian into English or an Indian language and vice versa.
4. Introduction to Russian Literature II

Reading and analysis of texts such as:
À.Ì. Äîðüêèé: Ìàéæå òîôãåä;
È.À. Àóíèé: Ïåíúå àëåéàè;
Ì.À. Øîëîõîâ: Ðîäèíêî;
Ì.À. Áóëãàêîâ: Ñòàëüíîå ãîðëî;
Ê.Ã. Ïàóñòîâñêèé: Ñíåã;
Â.Ô. Ïàíîâà: Ñåð¸æà;
Â.Ì. Øóêøèí: Íîëü íîëü öåëûõ;
×.Ò. Àéòìàòîâ: Ïåðâûé ó÷èòåëü.

Note:

In addition to the above-mentioned papers/courses, there will be subsidiary papers/courses.
B.A. (HONS.) IN RUSSIAN
Semester System

SEMESTER I (Three courses)

1. Use of language I (Written expression)
   Writing system of Russian; Practical grammar: gender, number, cases, tense, aspect and mood.

2. Use of language II (Oral expression)
   Development of listening, speaking and reading skills.

3. Introduction to Russian pronunciation
   Norms of pronunciation of Russian vowels and consonants; Stress; Intonation patterns.

SEMESTER II (Three courses)

1. Use of language III (Written expression)
   Verb aspects; Verbs of motion; Degrees of comparison.

2. Use of language IV (Written expression)
   Comprehension; Êçëîæåíèå; Composition and letter writing.

3. Use of language V (Oral expression)
   Oral comprehension; Further strengthening of listening, speaking and reading skills; Russian speech etiquette.

SEMESTER III (Three courses)

1. Use of language VI
   Participle and verbal adverb constructions; Cardinal, Ordinal and Collective numerals.

2. Introduction to Russian Literature I
   Initiation into appreciation of literary texts such as:
   À.Ñ. Ïóøêèí: ß âàñ ëþáèë, Óçíèê;
   Í.Þ. Ëåðìîíòîâ: Ïàðóñ, Âûõîæó íäè íà äîðîãó;
   Í.À. Íåêðàñîâ: Â÷åðàøíèé äåíü, ×àñó â øåñòîì, Íåñæàòàÿ ïîëîñà;
   À.À. Áëîê: Two poems;
   Ñ.À. Áñáíèí: Ïèñüìî ìàòåðè, Øàãàíý, òû ìîÿ Øàãàíý.

3. Culture and Civilisation I
   Outline of the history and geography of Russia; Socio-political system in Russia after the disintegration of the USSR.
SEMESTER IV (Three courses)

1. Use of language VII
   Active and Passive constructions; Use of prepositions and prefixes; Reflexive verbs.

2. Introduction to Russian Literature II
   Reading and analysis of literary texts such as:
   À.Ñ. Ïóøêèí: Åâãåíèé Îíåãèí (îòðûâêè);
   Ì.Þ. Ëåðìîíòîâ: Ãåðîé íàøåãî âðåìåíè;
   Í.Â. Ãîãîëü: Øèíåëü;
   Ë.Í. Òîëñòîé: Ïîñëå áàëà;
   À.Ï. ×åõîâ: Õàìåëåîí.

3. Culture and Civilisation II
   Socio-cultural activities in Russia; Cinema, theatre, music; Cultural life in Russia after perestroika and disintegration of the Soviet Union.

SEMESTER V (Four courses)

1. Advanced Russian Grammar I
   Tense, aspect and mood; Use of cases and their meanings.

2. Sentence patterns in Russian I
   Types of clauses and sentences.

3. Practical Stylistics
   Functional styles; Lexical and grammatical stylistics.

4. Introduction to Russian Literature III
   È.À. Áóíèí: Ò¸ìíûå àëëåè;
   À.Ì. Ãîðüêèé: Ìàêàð ×óäðà;
   Ì.À. Øîëîõîâ: Ðîäèíêî;
   Ê.Ã. Ïàóñòîâñêèé: Ñíåã.

SEMESTER VI (Four courses)

1. Advanced Russian Grammar II
   Verbs of motion with prefixes; Reflexive verbs; Use of prefixes and prepositions.

2. Sentence patterns in Russian II
   Syntax of simple, compound and complex sentences.

3. Practical Translation
   Translation of textual materials on topics such as: visits, bilateral relations, trade, commerce and industry, cultural, scientific and technical cooperation, economic affairs, sports.
4. Introduction to Russian Literature IV
   Reading and analysis of texts such as:

   À.Ô. Ïàíîâà: Ñåð¸æà;
   Ù.Ò. Àéòìàòîâ: Ïåðâûé ó÷èòåëü;
   Ì.À. Áóëãàêîâ: Ñòàëüíîå ãîðëî;
   À.À. Ø óêøèí: Íîëü íîëü öåëûõ.

Notes:

1. In addition to the above-mentioned courses, there will be subsidiary courses.
2. The sample syllabi given above could be used as a guide for framing the detailed syllabus of each of the courses and specifying the textbooks and recommended reference books and other teaching materials.
A.Core (Compulsory) Papers / Courses

1. Use of language / Practical Russian
   Development of language skills. Listening, speaking, reading and writing. Use of Russian. Verb aspects, verbs of motion, compound and complex sentences.

2. Modern Russian Language I: Phonetics and Lexicology
   Sound system of Russian; Classification of Russian sounds. Reduction of vowels; Stress and Intonation; Assimilation. Russian vocabulary and phraseology. Synonymy, Polysemy, Homonymy.

3. Modern Russian Language II: Morphology and Syntax

4. Russian Literature I (19th century)
   Close reading of texts such as
   À.Ñ. Ïóøêèí: Ñòàíöèîííûé ñìîòðèòåëü, Èåäíûé âñàäíèê, any 4 short poems;
   Í.Ð. Ëåðìîíòîâ: Ãåðîé íàøåãî âðåìåíè and any 2 poems;
   Í.Á. Ðåâèçîð: Ìåðòâûå äóøè (îòðûâêè), Ïîñëå áàëà; Ó.Ì. Àëèíîâ: Ïîêëîáèêà, Ïîñëå áàëà; Ò.Í. Ìåäíêàéëàíèçàèå, Òîëñòûé è òîíêèé.

5. Russian Literature II (20th century)
   Close reading of texts such as
   À.Á. Òîñêà, íàøåãî âðåìåíèå ñîáîé è òîíêèé.
   Ê.Í. Ìåäíêàéëàíèçàèå, Ìîðîç, êðàñíûé íîñ;
6. Culture and Civilization
Cultural aspect of the study of Russian language. History, geography and economy of Russia. Art, cinema and music, etc.

B. Optional (Elective) Papers / Courses

1. Introduction to Linguistics
Language and society; function of language; writing systems; human vs. animal communication systems; dialects and registers; basic concepts in phonology, morphology and syntax.

2. Contrastive / Comparative Linguistics
Principles of comparative / contrastive analysis; core features of the phonology, morphology and syntax of Russian and an Indian language(s).

3. Translation (Theory and Practice)
Various theories of translation; problems of lexico-grammatical nature and cultural interference; practical translation from Russian into English or Indian languages and from English or Indian languages into Russian.

4. Methodology of Teaching Russian as a foreign language
Various methods and approaches to language teaching; language teaching and related disciplines; teaching of linguistic aspects and language skills; evaluation; practice teaching.

5. Introduction to Literary Theory
History of literature; towards a definition of literature; principles of literary analysis.

6. Comparative Literature
Theory, practice and principles of comparative literature.

7. Literature and Other Arts
Interrelations between literature and other arts such as painting, sculpture, cinema and music, etc.
8. Single Author Studies
   Study of the works of a single author.

9. Study of a Genre
   Study of a particular literary genre such as fiction, drama, etc.

10. Teaching of Literature
    Study of the issues and problems related to the teaching of Russian literature in an Indian classroom.

11. Contemporary Russian Literature
    Pre-perestroika and Post-perestroika Russian literature.

12. European Classics in Translation
    Study of major works of European literature in translation.

13. History of Literary Trends in Russian Literature
    Detailed survey of the major literary trends in Russian literature.

—x—
M.A. in RUSSIAN

Semester System

Semester I

A. Core (Compulsory) Papers / Courses

1. Use of language (Written expression)
   Verb aspects, verbs of motion, use of prefixes and prepositions, development of written expression.

2. Use of language (Oral expression)
   Russian rhythmic and intonation patterns, development of listening, speaking and reading skills.

3. Modern Russian Language: Phonetics
   Sound system of Russian; Classification of Russian sounds. Reduction of vowels; Stress and Intonation; Assimilation.

4. Culture and Civilization
   Cultural aspect of the study of Russian language. History, geography and economy of Russia. Art, cinema and music, etc.

Semester II

A. Core (Compulsory) Papers / Courses

1. Use of language
   Compound and complex sentences, Direct and indirect speech; Russian speech etiquette.

2. Modern Russian Language: Morphology
   Morphemic structure of a word. Parts of speech in Russian. Principles of word formation in Russian.

3. Introduction to Russian Literature
   Close reading of selected texts from Russian classics of XIX and XX centuries such as:
   À.Ñ. Ïóøêèí: One story from Ïîâåñòè Áåëêèíà; 2-3 poems;
   Í.Þ. Ëåðìîíòîâ: One chapter from Íàøåãî âðåìåíè; 1-2 poems;
Í.Á. Āiāīēā: One short story like Őèíåëü, Íïñ;
Selected texts from È.Ñ. Õóðäåáíåâ, Ō.Í. Àïïøîâåâëåëéë, É.Í. Óïëøîïé, Á.Í. ×åõîâ and Á.Í. Àïðüëëéë.

B. Optional courses (Any one)

1. Introduction to Linguistics
   Language and society; function of language; writing systems; human vs. animal communication systems; dialects and registers.

2. Introduction to Literary Theory
   History of literature; towards a definition of literature; principles of literary analysis.

3. Literature and Other Arts
   Interrelations between literature and other arts such as painting, sculpture, cinema and music, etc.

Semester III

A. Core (Compulsory) Papers / Courses

1. Modern Russian Language: Lexicology
   Russian vocabulary and phraseology. Synonymy, Polysemy, Homonymy.

2. Russian Literature of XIX century
   Close reading of texts such as
   Á.Ñ. Ïóøêèí: Ñòàíöèîííûé ñìîòðèòåëü, Ìåäíûé âñàäíèê, any 4 short poems;
   Î.Ð. Èâøèíêîâ: Àääòåëíåëíàëêíàëû, Êàêìåêë ñíîâíåì, Íåäíûé äåíü, Êðàñíûé íîñ; Í.Á. Àïïøîâåâëåëéë: Ñåðîëèàëîâëåäåëû, Ñìåðòü ÷èíîâíèêà, Òîëñòûé è òîíêèé.

B. Optional Courses (Any two)

1. Translation (Theory and Practice)
   Various theories of translation; problems of lexico-grammatical nature and cultural interference; practical translation from Russian into English or Indian languages and from English or Indian languages into Russian.
2. Contrastive / Comparative Linguistics
   Principles of comparative / contrastive analysis; core features of the phonology, morphology and syntax of Russian and an Indian language.

3. Comparative Literature
   Theory, practice and principles of comparative literature.

4. Single Author Studies
   Study of the works of a single author.

5. History of Literary Trends in Russian Literature
   Detailed survey of the major literary trends in Russian literature.

Semester IV

A. Core (Compulsory) Papers / Courses

1. Modern Russian Language: Syntax
   Clauses, their types. Simple, compound and complex sentences.

2. Russian Literature of XX century
   Close reading of texts such as
   À.Ì. Áïðüêé: Ìàðóï, Ðàííèå ðîìàíòè÷åñêèå ðàññêàçû; À.Á. Íàðòêé: Óëîêîòîâê, Îáëàêî â øòàíàõ, Êëîï; È.À. Áóíèí: Any 2 short stories;
   È.À. Áóíèí: Íàðîõåê, Èçêëîêîâûå ÿéöà;
   Í.À. Óëîêîâ: Ñîáà÷üå ñåðäöå, Ðàêîâûå ÿéöà;
   Í.À. Øîëîø: Ñóäüáà ÷åëîâåêà;
   Ó. Áîíäàðåâ: Any 1 short story;
   Â. Øóêøèí: Any 2 short stories;
   À.È. Ñîëæåíèöûí: Îäèí äåíü â æèçíè Èâàíà Äåíèñîâè÷à; ×.Ò. Àéòìàòîâ: Áóðàííûé ïîëóñòàíîê, Áåëûé ïàðîõîä.

B. Optional Courses (Any two)

1. Methodology of Teaching Russian as a foreign language
   Various methods and approaches to language teaching; language teaching and related disciplines; teaching of linguistic aspects and language skills; evaluation; practice teaching.
2. Teaching of Literature
   Study of the issues and problems related to the teaching of Russian literature in an Indian classroom.

3. Study of a Genre
   Study of a literary genre such as fiction, drama, etc.

4. European Classics in Translation
   Study of major works of European literature in translation.

5. Contemporary Russian Literature
   Pre-perestroika and Post-perestroika Russian literature.
M.Phil. in RUSSIAN

The main goal of this level is to prepare the learner for research programmes leading to a doctoral degree. In keeping with this goal, the major aims and objectives of the M.Phil. programme would be as under:

1. Consolidating and reinforcing the aims and objectives envisaged at the M.A. Level.
2. Introduction to research methodology particularly to the area of research.
3. Introduction to techniques of documentation and write-up.
4. Emphasizing different approaches to research: interdisciplinary / comparative.
5. Updating knowledge in areas of research through advanced courses pertinent to those areas.

Duration

One year / Two semesters. Six months will be devoted to M.Phil. course work and six months for writing of dissertation.

Period for the completion of the dissertation:
- Minimum: six months.
- Maximum: one-and-a-half years.

Total period of registration shall be two years.

Course Work

1. Compulsory papers / courses (4 in all):
   I. Research Methodology
   II. Any three of the following:
      1. General and Russian Linguistics
      2. Russian Phonology
      3. Russian Morphology
      4. Russian Syntax
      5. History of Russian language
      6. Semantics
      7. Lexicography
      8. Stylistics
      9. Translation Studies (theory and practice)
     10. Foreign Language Teaching: Methods and Approaches
11. Comparative / Contrastive Linguistics
12. Error Analysis
13. Methods of Linguistic Analysis (including use of computer software)
14. General Phonetics
15. Language and Society (Sociolinguistics)
16. Second Language Acquisition Studies
17. Interlanguage Studies
18. Natural Language processing
19. Media Studies
20. Studies centred on India and Europe
21. Slavic Studies
22. Historico-Literary Trends of the XVII and the XVIII centuries
23. Historico-Literary Trends of first half of XIX century
24. Historico-Literary Trends of second half of XIX century
25. Historico-Literary Trends of the period 1917-1940
26. Historico-Literary Trends of the Post-war period
27. Literary trends of the post-perestroika period
28. Evolution of Russian fiction
29. Evolution of Russian drama
30. Evolution of Russian poetry
31. Comparative study of literature: theory and practice
32. Critical analysis of a Literary Work
33. Russian folklore / mythology
34. Russian Formalism
35. Study of a Genre
36. Special author(s)
37. New Trends in literary criticism
38. Feminist Criticism
39. Russian History
40. Land and People
41. Philosophical Thought
42. History of Culture and Art
43. Political Science
44. Economics
45. Sociology
46. Culture Studies
47. Introduction to Cultural Theory
48. Media Studies
49. Studies centred on India and Europe

Evaluation

A student’s performance in each Course will be assessed on the basis of
a) assignments and tests done during the year / semester, and
b) examinations at the end of the course work.
The relative weight of (a) and (b) will be 50:50. The evaluation of the Course Work will be based on a maximum of 400 marks or an equivalent grading system.

Dissertation

A student’s dissertation will be evaluated by the research supervisor and an external examiner.
A viva-voce will be held if considered necessary. The successful defence of the dissertation is a necessary condition for the award of the M.Phil. degree.

Award of M.Phil.

If a student’s overall performance in the course work is satisfactory and his/her dissertation is accepted by the two examiners, he/she will be awarded the M.Phil. degree.
CERTIFICATE OF PROFICIENCY COURSE IN SPANISH
SAMPLE SYLLABUS

A. Aims and Objectives of the Course

i. To develop the following skills: Listening, speaking, reading & writing.

   Learners should be able to

   a. listen and comprehend elementary structures of the spoken language.

   b. participate in simple conversations in different situations of everyday life.

   c. read and understand simple texts.

   d. write sentences and short paragraphs on general topics and situations.

ii. To develop the creative aspect of language learning i.e. the ability to work out different patterns and combinations with the help of basic grammatical structures and lexical items.

iii. To introduce the learner to aspects of life and culture of the Spanish and Latin American people.

B. Duration of the Course

One academic year or two semesters — 3 days a week (six teaching hours a week).

C. Entrance qualification: SSC or equivalent qualification.

D. Course Contents

1. Phonetics:

   a) Sounds and alphabet (special mention on variations in Latin America)

   b) Syllables

   c) Accent

   d) Intonation Patterns

2. Functional grammar

   I. (a) Nouns and Articles: gender and number

   (b) Pronouns - personal, interrogative, reflexive. Indirect and Direct object pronouns. Use of "se"
(c) Verbs - i) Regular, radical changing, irregular and reflexive verbs.
   ii) Infinitive form.
   iii) Introduction to Imperative mood.

(d) Adjectives and Adverbs.

(e) Prepositions; Use of ‘por’ and ‘para’

II. (a) Idiomatic expressions and their uses.
   (b) Paraphrasing, summarising simple texts (written and oral).
   (c) Simple essay writing.
   (d) Simple conversation.

3. Life and culture of Spanish speaking people: Linguistic and geographical diversity of Spanish speaking countries, their demographic/racial profile, current issues of general interest.

E. Evaluation

A candidate's performance will be assessed on the basis of:

a. class tests, general class performance, home assignments during the semester/academic year
b. examinations (written and oral) at the end of the semester/academic year

The relative weightage for (a) and (b) should be 40:60

F. Books recommended:

Textbook

Or

Additional Reading

Lourdes Miquel & Neus Sans, El hombre que veia demasiado, edi-6, Madrid
DIPLOMA COURSE IN SPANISH
SAMPLE SYLLABUS

A. Aims and objectives of the course:

The objective of the course should be to strengthen the basic knowledge of the language imparted in the Certificate of Proficiency course in Spanish and to develop further the acquired skills through introduction of new lexical items and more complex syntactical structures so as to enable the learner to use Spanish effectively in written and oral communication.

The course should therefore aim at

I. Strengthening and developing the following language skills:

   a) Listening - Aural comprehension of texts with new lexical items.

   b) Speaking - Conversation and reporting on general topics, retelling of an unknown text.

   c) Reading - Reading comprehension of selected texts from literary, technical & journalistic sources.

   d) Writing - Writing simple essays, summaries, descriptions and narrations.

II. Enabling the learner to translate simple passages from Spanish to English.

III. Acquainting the learners with the culture and contemporary life of the People of Spain & Latin America.

B. Duration of the Course

One academic year - 2 semesters

3 days a week

(6 teaching hours per week)

C. Entrance qualification

Certificate of Proficiency in Spanish or equivalent qualification.

D. Course Content:

I. Grammar: Consolidation of

   i. Present tense of regular verbs, main irregular verbs + radical changing verbs.
ii. Participles (present & past) of regular & irregular verbs.

iii. Reflexive verbs & reflexive pronouns.

iv. Direct & Indirect object pronouns — use of two object pronouns —

v. Prepositional pronouns.

vi. Use of tenses: past, present & future (regular & irregular verbs)

Introduction of

i. Future and conditional.

ii. Subjective mood with various clauses in present & past tenses.

iii. Comparative & superlative degrees of adjectives and adverbs.

iv. Complex sentences with the use of relative pronouns.

v. Suffix, prefix, diminutive, augmentative & pejorative.

II. (a) Idiomatic expressions & their use.

(b) Essay writing on general topics.

(c) Letter writing.

E. Evaluation

A candidate’s performance will be assessed on the basis of:

a. class tests, general class performance, home assignments during the semester/academic year

b. examinations (written and oral) at the end of the semester/academic year

The relative weightage for (a) and (b) should be 40:60

F. Books recommended:

Textbook

Or

ADVANCED DIPLOMA IN SPANISH

SAMPLE SYLLABUS

Aims and Objectives of the Course

Advanced Diploma is a follow-up course of Diploma in Spanish or its equivalent; therefore, the main aim is to strengthen, consolidate and further develop already acquired language skills. The skills to be developed during the course are:

Listening

Aural comprehension of texts taken from various sources: news bulletins, documentary films/cinema, literary texts in modern Spanish.

Speaking

Active participation in conversation and discussions on a variety of subjects.

Reading

Reading fluently and understanding texts from journalistic, administrative, literary sources in modern Spanish.

Writing

Writing short essays on current topics, summaries and guided compositions.

B. Duration of the Course

One academic year/two semesters

C. Entrance qualification

Diploma in Spanish or an equivalent qualification.

D. Course Contents

Use of Language

A. Revision and further strengthening of the following grammatical items:

- Preterito indefinido, imperfecto, pluscuamperfecto and correlation of tenses;
- Direct and indirect speech, compound, complex sentences;
Subjunctive mood — present and past subjunctive with various clauses. Conditional clauses with "si" (Potencial simple, compuesto):

Interrogative, negative and exclamatory sentences;

Adjectives and adjectivisation and its position with respect to the noun; adverb; adverbs with respect to verbs.

Definite and indefinite articles: forms, use and omissions: neutral article.

Verbal perifrasis with Gerund and participle

Active and passive voice

B. Emphasis to be laid on expansion of vocabulary on topical subjects.

Resume writing of selected texts in modern Spanish

Use of phraseological expressions and modismos

Essay writing (guided and independent) of about 3000-5000 words

Formulation of brief reports on current affairs based on newspaper and Radio/TV news items

Texts in Commercial Spanish (business letters and translation)

2. Cultural History and Literature

Brief outline of political and cultural history of Spain and Latin America with special emphasis on various movements in the field of music, art, painting, architecture and literature.

E. Evaluation

A candidate's performance will be assessed on the basis of:

C. class tests, general class performance, home assignments during the semester/academic year

D. examinations (written and oral) at the end of the semester/academic year

The relative weightage for (a) and (b) should be 40:60
F. Books recommended

Textbook

Or

Western Languages

B A (HONS.) IN SPANISH
SAMPLE SYLLABUS

The B A (Hons) programme will equip students for the postgraduate programme and prepare the students to use the knowledge of a foreign language for professional purposes in a variety of employment opportunities.

Papers

1st Year

Paper I  Communicative Spanish

   Functional Grammar and Language

   Books Recommended:

   Lourdes Miquel & Neus Sans, Intercambio 1 & II (Libro del alumno, cuaderno de ejercicios, casetes), Difusion, Madrid, 1989

   Or

Paper II  Written Expression and Comprehension

   Reading, writing and comprehension of simple texts.

   Guided essays' letters, questions and answers on the text.

   Books Recommended:

   Lourdes Miquel & Neus Sans, Intercambio 1 & II (Libro del alumno, cuaderno de ejercicios, casetes), Difusion, Madrid, 1989

   Or

Paper III  Oral Expression

   Conversation practice, listening comprehension and reproduction of the text. Use of audio and video materials.
Books Recommended:

Or

2nd Year

Paper IV  Introduction to the Study of Literature (I)

A selection of shorter narrative texts, poems, one play and one novel in Spanish with special focus on the XX century.

Paper V  Spanish for Specific Purposes

Spanish for business and tourist trade

Commercial and official letters

Translation of simple texts from Spanish to English and vice-versa.

Paper VI  Communicative Spanish

Expressing reasons and discussing issues of general interest

Comprehension and commentary on texts

Guided essays and letters

Functional grammar

3rd Year

Paper VII  Introduction to the Study of Literature (II)

A selection of shorter narrative texts, poems, plays and novels from Spanish and Latin American Literature.

Paper VIII Advanced Spanish Discourse

Reading and analysis of journalistic and semi-literary texts, writing of reports, essays on specific themes.
Discussion on contemporary, political, socio-cultural topics, films and radio talks.

Paper IX  Translation

Translation of technical, scientific and economic texts from Spanish to English and vice-versa.

Paper X  Cultural History of Spain and Latin America

Social, economic, political and cultural aspects of contemporary Spain and Latin America.
M.A. IN SPANISH

SAMPLE SYLLABUS

A. Core (Compulsory) Papers

1. Introduction to General Linguistics
   Some characteristics of language; language and society; writing systems; human vs. animal communication systems; language and dialects; basic concepts about the structure of language; phonology, morphology, syntax and lexicology.

2. Advanced Spanish Discourse — I
   Further strengthening of writing, speaking, and reading and listening comprehension skills of students who already have a fair grasp of the language. Analysis and commentary on texts from print media, television, films etc.

3. History of Literary Movements of Spain and Latin America
   Panoramic vision of Spanish and Latin American Literature; close reading of selected texts in modern Spanish; basic concepts of theory of literature, literary criticism and analysis.

4. Cultural History of Spain and Latin America
   An overview of social, historical and cultural developments in Spain and Latin America. Texts for study will be drawn from philosophy, social theory, visual arts and other cultural documents.

5. Methodology of Foreign Language Teaching
   Various methods and approaches to language teaching; curriculum-planning, material production, testing and evaluation, problems of teaching Spanish as a foreign language in India.

6. Translation (Theory and Practice)
   History of translation, different theories of translation, practical translation from Spanish into English or Indian languages and vice-versa.

B. Optional Papers

The rest, of 2-4 papers, can be chosen from a group of optionals leading to some kind of streaming into:

1. Literary and Cultural Studies
2. Linguistics and Applied Linguistics
3. Translation
A sample list of optional courses:

1. Advanced Spanish Discourse II
2. Advanced Studies in Linguistics
3. Study of a Genre
4. Methodology of Foreign Language Teaching — Advanced Perspectives
5. Translation Studies
6. Perspectives in Literary and Cultural Studies
7. History of Western Thought
8. Modern European Studies
9. Computer Assisted Language Teaching and Learning
M.Phil. IN SPANISH
SAMPLE SYLLABUS

The main aim of this level is to prepare the learner for research programmes leading to a doctoral degree. In keeping with this goal, the major aims and objectives of the M.Phil. programme would be as under:

1. Consolidating and reinforcing the aims and objectives envisaged at the M.A. Level.
2. Introduction to research methodology, particularly to the area of research.
3. Introduction to techniques of documentation and write-up.
4. Emphasizing different approaches to research: interdisciplinary/comparative.
5. Updating knowledge in areas of research through advanced courses pertinent to those areas.

Duration of the course

One year/two semesters. Six months will be devoted to M.Phil course work and six months for writing of dissertation. Total period of registration shall be two years.

Dissertation

A student’s dissertation will be evaluated by the research supervisor and an external examiner. A viva-voce will be held if considered necessary.

Award of M Phil

If a student’s overall performance in the course work is satisfactory and his/her dissertation is accepted by the two examiners, he/she will be awarded the M Phil degree.

Course Work

The six months' course-work will include four courses: while a course on Research Methodology will be compulsory, the other three courses will be related to the areas/topic of research being undertaken. Such courses will broadly fall under the following specializations:

Literary and Cultural Studies

Linguistics and Applied Linguistics

Translation studies

Methodology of Teaching Spanish as a Foreign Language
The following is a list of suggested courses:

1. Cultural History of Spain/Latin America
2. Social history of Spanish/Latin American Literature
3. Critical Readings in Spanish/Latin American Literature
4. Study of genre/author/movement/theme
5. Translation Studies
6. Spanish Phonetics and Phonology
7. Spanish Lexicology
8. Spanish Morphology and Syntax
9. Advanced Perspectives on Methodology of FLT
10. Materials Production
11. Introduction to Cultural Theory
12. Modern European Studies

Evaluation of the course work

A student's performance in each Course will be assessed on the basis of

a. Internal assessment : This will be on paper presentations (at least 3) based on secondary material and theoretical analysis.

b. Examinations at the end of the course work.
FRENCH: GENERAL COURSE AT U.G LEVEL: YEAR 1*
or
CERTIFICATE OF PROFICIENCY IN FRENCH
(Refer also to general guidelines for Certificate course in FLE)

Choice of the one of the following methods:

1. Panorama - 1, CLE International
2. Libre Echange - 1, Didier
3. Le Nouvel Espaces - 1, Hachette
4. Initial - 1 & 2, CLE International
5. Champion - 1, CLE International
6. Cadences - 1, CLE International
7. Nouveau Sans Frontières-1, CLE International
8. Ado-1, CLE International
9. Café Crème-1, Hachette

Contenu:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grammaire</th>
<th>Notions / Actes de parole</th>
<th>Aspects socio-culturels</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Déterminants, pronoms</td>
<td>saluer, présenter, identifier, s’excuser, demander/donner des informations, exprimer les goûts et les préférences, exprimer son accord/son désaccord, s’orienter, indiquer, contester, donner une opinion, exprimer la volonté et l’obligation, interdire, demander/donner la permission, féliciter, rassurer, expliquer, exposer, comparer, proposer, insister, refuser …</td>
<td>Modes et rites de salutation et de présentation, comportements et attitudes, cinéma, vie quotidienne, art, fêtes et célébrations françaises, habitudes, nourriture …</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Temps/modes verbaux: Présent, passé composé, imparfait, présent progressif, futur proche, passé récent, futur, discours rapporté, subjonctif présent…</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* The syllabus offered for French General course at the UG Level I (year I) corresponds to the syllabus of the Certificate for Proficiency in French.
The syllabus offered for French General course at the UG Level II (year II) corresponds to the syllabus of the Diploma for Proficiency in French.

FRENCH: GENERAL COURSE AT U.G LEVEL: YEAR II

or

DIPLOMA OF PROFICIENCY IN FRENCH

(Refer also to general guidelines for Diploma course in FLE)

A choice of 2 streams is offered to the Diploma Students:

Stream: A

Choice of one of the following methods' depending on the method chosen for the first year:

1. Panorama - 2, CLE International
2. Libre Echange - 2, Didier
3. Le Nouvel Espaces - 2, Hachette
4. Champion - 2, CLE International
5. Cadences - 2, CLE International
6. Nouveau Sans Frontières - 2, CLE International
7. Ado - 2, CLE International
8. Café Crème - 2, Hachette

Contenu de la méthode du FLE:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grammaire</th>
<th>Notions / Actes de parole</th>
<th>Civilisation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>temps/ modes verbaux:</td>
<td>décrire des personnes, identifier, comparer, apprécier, exprimer des émotions, refuser,</td>
<td>Relations hommes-femmes,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>passif, gérondif,</td>
<td>s'informer, reprocher, se justifier, exprimer le doute, la probabilité, la certitude,</td>
<td>comportements</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>participe, présent,</td>
<td>faire des hypothèses, convaincre, revendiquer, se plaindre, négocier, avertir, juger,</td>
<td>Vie professionnelle,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>conditionnel présent,</td>
<td>critiquer un acte/ une attitude, accuser...</td>
<td>informatique,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>passé simple, futur</td>
<td></td>
<td>découvertes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>antérieur, plus-que-parfait</td>
<td></td>
<td>scientifiques, art,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>conditionnel passé...</td>
<td></td>
<td>cinéma, théâtre, sport...</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* The syllabus offered for French General course at the UG Level II (year II) corresponds to the syllabus of the Diploma for Proficiency in French.
Stream B:

Stream B has been conceived to respond to the needs of students whose period of study of French is confined to two years. During this period, the objective is to enable them to escape the conditioning of a particular method. They should be exposed to various texts. Keeping this in mind, it is recommended that at this level textbooks that provide the necessary literary extracts and authentic documents be prescribed.

However, the study of the language has to be carried on simultaneously. With this in mind, it is recommended that the points of grammar covered in the chosen texts be developed by incorporating grammar exercises at an advanced level.

Prescribed Textbooks:

  (or / and)

Grammaire

Le plus-que-parfait, l'accord du participe passé des verbes avec avoir, l'accord du participe passé des verbes avec être, le conditionnel, le futur antérieur, les circonstancielles, la condition, Depuis que et le temps des verbes.

(Pages 109 - 171)
FRENCH: GENERAL COURSE AT U.G LEVEL: YEAR III*

or

ADVANCED DIPLOMA OF PROFICIENCY IN FRENCH

(Refer also to general guidelines for Advanced Diploma course in FLE)

A choice of 2 streams is offered to the Advanced Diploma Students:

Stream: A

Choice of one of the following methods of FLE depending on the method chosen for the II Year:

1. Panorama - 3, CLE International
2. Libre Echange - 3, CLE International
3. Le Nouvel Espaces -3, CLE International
4. Le Nouveau Sans Frontières -3, CLE International
5. Ado-3, CLE International
6. Café Crème-3, Hachette

Contenu de la méthode du FLE:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grammaire</th>
<th>Notions / Actes de parole</th>
<th>Civilisation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Situer dans le temps, révision et approfondissement: exprimer la cause, la conséquence, le but, l’opposition, la concession, l’hypothèse, la condition...</td>
<td>analyser, commenter, récits, définir, expliquer, interpréter, jugement, conseils. reprocher, se justifier, exprimer le doute, la probabilité, la certitude, faire des hypothèses, convaincre, revendiquer, se plaindre, négocier, avertir...</td>
<td>la France et la Francophonie, art, cinéma, modes, coutumes et traditions, fêtes, religion, sport, économie, technologie, presse...</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* The syllabus offered for French-General course at the UG Level III (year III) corresponds to the syllabus of the Advanced Diploma for Proficiency in French.
Stream B:

Stream B has been conceived to respond to the needs of students whose period of study of French is confined to three years. During this period the objective is to enable them to escape the conditioning of a particular method. The students should be exposed to various texts. Keeping this in mind, it is recommended that at this level text books that provide the necessary literary extracts and authentic documents be prescribed.

However the study of the language has to be carried on simultaneously. With this in mind, it is recommended that the points of grammar covered in the chosen texts be developed by incorporating grammar exercises at a more advanced level.

Prescribed Text books :

  (OR)

Grammaire

SYLLABUS

B A (Hons) in French (Annual System)

The revised syllabus for the three-year undergraduate programme in French is given below. It may be noted that in the first and second years (Annual pattern) of the course, the students will have two compulsory subject components and a minimum of three additional components chosen from the two groups: Tool/Allied Course and Optional / Application Oriented Course. The number of the additional components and their nomenclature may vary depending on the needs and requirements of the University/Institution/College.

Structure of the BA (Hons.) French Course

(Annual System)

First year

Paper I + 2 Tool/Allied + 1 Optional/Application Oriented Paper II Courses Course

Second year

Paper III + 2 Tool/Allied + 1 Optional/Application Oriented Paper IV Courses Course

Third year

Paper V
Paper VI
Paper VII
Paper VIII
Details of the courses
(Annual System)

FIRST YEAR

Paper I  French through Communicative Approach I

The course aims at developing the communicative skills of students.

Choice of one of the following methods of FLE

1. Panorama - 1, CLE International
2. Libre Echange - 1, Didier
3. Le Nouvel Espaces - 1, Hachette
4. Initial - 1 & 2, CLE International
5. Champion - 1, CLE International
6. Cadences - 1, CLE International
7. Nouveau Sans Frontières-1, CLE International
8. Ado-1, CLE International
9. Café Crème-1, Hachette

Paper II  French through Communicative Approach II

The main aim is to develop the oral and written comprehension / expression skills of a learner.
The course also aims at reinforcing the communicative competence of the learner.

1. Panorama - 2, CLE International
2. Libre Echange - 2, Didier
3. Le Nouvel Espaces - 2, Hachette
4. Champion - 2, CLE International
5. Cadences - 2, CLE International
6. Nouveau Sans Frontières-2, CLE International
7. Ado-2, CLE International
8. Café Crème-2, Hachette
SECOND YEAR

Paper III Communicative Techniques (Oral and Written)

The course aims at providing the essential elements of comprehension of oral documents and written texts, thus enabling the students to acquire the techniques of oral / written expression: Explication de texte, exposé, résumé, analyse, dissertation, commentaire, etc.

Recommended Books:

Paper IV French through literary texts and authentic documents

This course aims to reinforce and enrich the language of the student through a study of various texts.

Recommended books:

2. Lagarde, A., Michard,L., La littérature française, Bordas

THIRD YEAR

Paper V Study of Novel

The aim is to enable the students to study the novel as a specificity as well as a genre by providing them with the necessary conceptual and linguistic tools.

While a few novels are recommended below, the Boards of Studies may choose the novels relevant to their programme.

Recommended novels:

Reference Books:

2. Lagarde, A., Michard, L., La Littérature française Bordas

4. Henri Mitterand (Collection) Littérature, Textes et Documents,

   (Relevant Century/Centuries), Nathan, 1992.

Paper VI Study of Poetry and Drama

The aim is to enable the students to study Poetry and Drama as genres by providing them with the necessary conceptual and linguistic tools.

While a choice of plays and poems has been made below, the Boards of Studies may choose the poems and the plays relevant to their programme.
Recommended Works:

Poems:

Plays:

Reference Books:

Paper VII  Study of XX Century Novel

The works prescribed for study are chosen with a view to illustrate the main literary currents of 20th century novels as well as to enable an evaluation of this genre.

While a choice of novels has been made below, the Boards of Studies may choose the novels relevant to their programme.

Recommended Novels:

Reference Books:

4. Henri Mitterand (Collection) Littérature, Textes et Documents,
   (Relevant Century/Centuries), Nathan, 1992.

Paper VIII  Major Literary Movements

The aim is to give the students an overview of the major literary movements and their characteristics.

Le classicisme, L’esprit philosophique, le romantisme, le réalisme, le symbolisme, le surréalisme, l’existentialisme, le Nouveau roman, le Nouveau Théâtre.

Reference Books:

Additional Components for First year and Second year

Tool/Additional Courses

- Life in France I
  (Elements of Civilisation)
- Life in France II
  (Elements of Civilisation)
- Basic elements of a language I (excluding French)
- Advanced elements of a language II (excluding French)
- History of Art in France - I
- History of Art in France - II
- History of France I
- History of France II

Optional / Application Oriented Courses

- Terminology of Tourism in India
- Terminology of Art of India
- Commercial French
- French through creative writing
- Corrective Phonetics
- Translation : Theory and Application
- Terminology of Hotel Management
- Techniques of Narration
- Techniques of Essay, and Dissertation Writing
- Scientific French
- Legal French
- Business French

The prescribed texts for each component are given below. The Board may choose the required texts based on the duration and the level of the course.
Life in France I and II
(Elements of Civilisation)

Recommended Books:
1. A Monnerie, La France aux Cent Visages (Livre de l'étudiant), Didier, Paris
2. Annie Marie Hingue, La France aux Cent Visages (Cahier d'exercices), Didier, Paris

History of Art in France I and II

Recommended Books:
3. Chefs d'oeuvres de l'art, Hachette, Paris

History of France I and II

Recommended Books:
1. Thoraval, J. Les Grandes étapes de la civilisation française, Paris, Bordas (only sections entitled "Histoire")

Terminology of Tourism in India

Recommended Books:

3. Guide Bleu - Inde

Terminology of Art in India

Recommended Book:

1. Guide Bleu - Inde

Commercial French

Recommended Books:

1. Le français commercial I, Mauger, Hachette, Paris
2. L’anglais commercial I, Mauger, Hachette, Paris

French through Creative Writing

Recommended Books:

Corrective Phonetics

Recommended Books:

2. Guimbretière, E. Phonétique et enseignement de l’oral (Université Paris-III), Didier, Paris
3. Guimbretière, E. Paroles (Université of Paris-III), Didier, Paris

Translation: Theory and Application

Recommended Books:

Terminology of Hotel Management

Recommended Books:

2. A votre service, Claude le Ninan, Rajeswari, Chandrasekar, Chitra Krishnan et al., Hachette, Paris (Indian Edition available)

Techniques of narration

Recommended Books:

Techniques of Essay and Dissertation Writing

Recommended Books:

1. Locman, D-Astruc, I.-Sumpf, M., Comment apprendre à rédiger Niveau-II, Larousse, Paris

Scientific French

Recommended Book:

Legal French (Français du Droit)

Recommended Book:

Business French

Recommended Book:

SYLLABUS
B A French
(Semester System)

The revised syllabus for the three year undergraduate programme in French is given below. It may be noted that in the first, second, third and fourth semesters of the course the students will have two compulsory subject components and a minimum of three additional components chosen from the two groups: Tool/Allied Course and Optional/ Application Oriented Course. The number of additional components and their nomenclature may vary depending on the needs and requirements of the University/Institution/college.

Structure of B.A. Hons.(French) Course
(Semester System)

First Semester
Paper I + Tool/ Allied course + Optional/ Application oriented course Paper II + Tool/ Allied course + Optional/ Application oriented course

Second Semester
Paper III + Tool/Allied course + Optional/ Application oriented course Paper IV + Tool/Allied course + Optional/Application oriented course

Third Semester
Paper V + Tool/allied course + Optional/ Application oriented course Paper VI + Tool/Allied course + Optional/Application oriented course

Fourth Semester
Paper VII + Tool/ Allied course + Optional/ Application oriented course Paper VIII + Tool/ Allied course + Optional/ Application oriented course

Fifth Semester
Paper IX Study of Novel I
Paper X Study of Poetry and Drama I
Western Languages

Paper XI  Study of XX Century Novel I
Paper XII  Major Literary Movements I

Sixth Semester

Paper XIII  Study of Novel II
Paper XIV  Study of Poetry and Drama II
Paper XV  Study of XX Century Novel II
Paper XVI  Major Literary Movements II

Details of the courses

(Semester System)

First Semester

The course aims at developing the communicative skills of students.

Paper I  French through Communicative Approach I
Paper II  French through Communicative Approach II

Choice of one the following methods of FLE is prescribed for Papers I & II:

1. Panorama - 1, CLE International
2. Libre Echange - 1, Didier
3. Le Nouvel Espaces - 1, Hachette
4. Initial - 1 & 2, CLE International
5. Champion - 1, CLE International
6. Cadences - 1, CLE International
7. Nouveau Sans Frontières - 1, CLE International
8. Ado - 1, CLE International
9. Café Crème - 1, Hachette
Second Semester

The main aim is to develop the oral and written comprehension/ expression skills of a learner.

The course aims at reinforcing the communicative competence of the learner.

Paper III  French through Communicative Approach III

Paper IV  French through Communicative Approach IV

Choice of one of the following methods of FLE is prescribed for Papers III & IV:

1. Panorama - 2, CLE International

2. Libre Echange - 2, Didier

3. Le Nouvel Espaces - 2, Hachette

4. Champion - 2, CLE International

5. Cadences - 2, CLE International

6. Nouveau Sans Frontières-2, CLE International

7. Ado-2, CLE International

8. Café Crème-2, Hachette

Third Semester

Paper V  Communicative Techniques (Oral and Written) I

Paper VI  French through literary texts and authentic documents I

Fourth Semester

Paper VII  Communicative Techniques (Oral and Written) II

Paper VIII  French through literary texts and authentic documents II

Papers V & VII aim to provide the essential elements of comprehension of oral documents and written texts, thus enabling students to acquire the techniques of oral/ written expression: viz. Paper V: résumé, analyse, lettre, compte-rendu; Paper VII: explication du texte, dissertation, commentaire, exposé, etc.
Recommended Books:

Papers VI & VIII aim to reinforce and enrich the language of the student through a study of various texts.

Recommended Books:

Fifth Semester

Paper IX  Study of Novel I
Sixth semester

Papers IX & XIII aim to enable students to study the novel as a specificity as well as a genre by providing them with the necessary conceptual and linguistic tools.

While a few novels are recommended below, the Boards of Studies may choose the novels relevant to their programme.

Recommended novels:

Bernadin de Saint-Pierre - Paul et Virginie, Balzac - Le Père Goriot / Eugénie Grandet, Stendhal - Le Rouge et le Noir, Mérimée - Colomba, Alexandre Dumas - Les Trois Mousquetaires/Le Comte de Monte-Cristo, Nerval - Sylvie, Flaubert - Madame Bovary, Maupassant - Le Horla

Reference Books:

2. Lagarde, A., Michard, L., La Littérature française, Bordas

Papers X & XIV aim to enable the students to study Poetry and Drama as genres by providing them with the necessary conceptual and linguistic tools.
While a choice of plays and poems has been made below, the Boards of Studies may choose the poems and the plays relevant to their programme.

Recommended Works:

Poems:

Plays:

Reference Books:

Papers XI & XV aim, through the works prescribed for study, to illustrate the main literary currents of 20th century novels as well as to enable an evaluation of this genre.

While a choice of novels has been made below, the Boards of Studies may choose the novels relevant to their programme.

Recommended Novels:

Reference Books:

2. Lagarde, A., Michard, L., La Littérature française, Bordas

Papers XII & XVI aim to give the students an overview of the major literary movements and their characteristics.

Le classicisme, Le siècle des lumières, le romantisme, le réalisme, le symbolisme, le surréalisme, l’existentialisme, le Nouveau Roman, le Nouveau Théâtre.

Reference Books:

2. Lagarde, A., Michard, L., La Littérature française, Bordas

3. Chassang, A., Senninger, C. Recueil de textes littéraires français, Nathan

A list of Tool/ Additional and Optional/ Application oriented courses are given in the following table:

Additional Components for First, Second, Third and Fourth Semesters

| Tool/Additional Courses | Optional / Application |
Oriented Courses

- Life in France I (Elements of Civilisation) - Terminology of Tourism in India
- Life in France II (Elements of Civilisation) - Terminology of Art of India
- Basic elements of a language I (excluding French) - Commercial French
- Advanced elements of a language II (excluding French) - French through creative writing
- History of Art in France - I - Corrective Phonetics
- History of Art in France - II - Translation: Theory and Application
- History of France I - Terminology of Hotel Management
- History of France II - Techniques of Narration
- Techniques of Essay, and Dissertation Writing
- Scientific French
- Legal French
- Business French

The prescribed texts for each component are given below. The Board of Studies may choose the required texts based on the duration and the level of the course.
Life in France I and II
(Elements of Civilisation)

Recommended Books:

History of Art in France I and II

Recommended Books:

History of France I and II

Recommended Books:

1. Thoraval, J. Les Grandes étapes de la civilisation française, Bordas, Paris (only sections entitled “Histoire”)
Terminology of Tourism in India

Recommended Books:

3. Guide Bleu - Inde

Terminology of Art in India

Recommended Book:

1. Guide Bleu - Inde

Commercial French

Recommended Books:

French through Creative Writing

Recommended Books:

Corrective Phonetics

Recommended Books:

2. Guimbretière, E. Phonétique et enseignement de l’oral (Université Paris-III) Didier, Paris

3. Guimbretière, E. Paroles (Université de Paris-III) Didier, Paris

Translation: Theory and Application

Recommended Books:

Terminology of Hotel Management

Recommended Books:

2. Claude le Ninan, Rajeswari, Chandrasekar, Chitra Krishnan et al., A votre service, Hachette, Paris (Indian Edition available)

Techniques of narration

Recommended Books:

Techniques of Essay and Dissertation Writing

Recommended Books:

Scientific French

Recommended Book:

Legal French

Recommended Book:

Business French

Recommended Book:

Courses may be distributed according to the requirements and the specialisation of the University/College.

A. Core (Compulsory) Papers/Courses

1. French Literature - I (Middle ages to 17th Century):

Close reading of selected texts from French Classics of Middle ages, 16th and 17th centuries. Development of Literary Genres and Movements across centuries. Representative writers.

The Boards of Studies may choose texts relevant to their programme. However, the following texts are recommended:

Extracts from La Chanson de Roland, Perceval, Lancelot, Roman de la Rose; Ronsard-“Mignonne, allons voir si…”; Du Bellay- ‘France, mère des arts…’; Rabelais- Gargantua( “Fais ce que voudras” ); Montaigne- Essais ( Apologie de Raymond Sebond ); Descartes- Les quatre règles de la méthode, Pascal- Le roseau pensant; Corneille-Polyeucte/Le Cid, Racine-Andromaque/Phèdre,Molière- L’Avare/Le Tartuffe/ Le Misanthrope.

Reference Books:

a) Sous la direction de H.Mitterand : Littérature: Textes et documents: Moyen Age, XVle siècle, Nathan

b) Collection Lagarde et Michard, Bordas. (Relevant centuries)

c) Sous la direction de M.H. Prat.et M.Avierinos, Littérature (Tome I)

d) Robert Horville (collection dirigée par), Anthologie de la littérature française, (Relevant Centuries), Larousse, 1992

2. French Literature II (18th and 19th Centuries)

Close reading of selected texts from French Classics - Representative Writers - Major Literary Movements.

The Boards of Studies may choose texts relevant to the programme. However, the following texts are recommended:

Reference Books:

a) Sous la direction de H.Mitterand : Littérature Textes et documents, Nathan (Relevant centuries)

b) Collection Lagarde et Michard, Bordas (Relevant centuries)

c) Sous la direction de M.H. Prat.et M.Avierinos, Littérature (Tome I et Tome II)

d) Robert Horville (Collectin dirigée par), Anthologie, de la littérature française (Relevant centuries), Larousse, 1994.

3. French Literature III (20th Century)

Close reading of selected texts from French Classics - Representative Writers - Major Literary Movements.

The Board of Studies may choose texts relevant to the programme. However, the following texts are recommended :

Reference Books:

a) Sous la direction de H. Mitterand: Littérature Textes et documents XXe siècle, Nathan

b) Collection Lagarde et Michard, XXe siècle, Bordas

c) Sous la direction de M.H. Prat et M. Avierinos, Littérature Tome II

d) Robert Horville (Collection dirigée par), XXe siècle, Larousse, 1994

Reference Books:

Reference Book:

6. Introduction to General Translation: Contrastive study of Translated Texts in French and English - Development of Translation skills through practice.

Reference Book:

7. French Culture and Civilisation

Reference Books:

b) A. Monnerie, La France aux cent visages, Hatier, Paris

8. Methodology of Teaching French as a Foreign Language: Various methods and approaches to French Language teaching
Reference Book:

M.A. FRENCH
(SEMESTER & ANNUAL SYSTEM)

B. OPTIONAL PAPERS / COURSES

Reference Book:

2. Introduction to Literary Analysis of Fiction: Major Techniques of construction and principal modes of fiction-structural analysis.

Reference Book:

3. Introduction to Literary Analysis of Poetry: Poetry as distinguished from prose-Poetic Expression-Various levels of structural analysis

Reference Book:

4. Francophone Literature I - Canadian Literature in French: Specific elements; major periods and issues in the development of Canadian Literature in French. Study of selected texts from representative authors.

Reference Books:

Reference Book:

6. Comparative Literature: Definition - Issues - Major Studies - Relevance in the present-day context.

Reference Book:

7. Study of French Syntax: Analysis of major sentence patterns in French.

Reference Book:

a) Soutet, La Syntaxe du français, PUF, 1989.

Reference Book:

a) Baylon, Fabre, La Sémantique, Nathan (latest edition), Paris

9. Generative and Transformational Grammar in French:

Description - Illustration - Applications in the study of French Language.

Reference Book:

a) Le Galliot, Description générative et transformationnelle de la langue française, Nathan Université (latest edition).

10. Structural Grammar in French:

Study of French Grammar from Structural point of view - Application in the practice of the French Language.

Reference Book:

a) Baylon, Fabre, Grammaire systématique de la langue française, Nathan (latest edition).

11. Histoire de l’Art

Reference Book:

a) Debicki, Favre, Grunewald, Pimental, Histoire de l’art, Hachette, Paris

b) Jean Thoraval, Les Grandes étapes de la civilisation française, Bordas (Arts)
M.A. FRENCH
(SEMESTER & ANNUAL SYSTEM)

TRANSLATION

Courses may be distributed accordingly to the requirements and the specialization of the University/College.

A. CORE (COMPULSORY) PAPERS/COURSE

1. Linguistic Approach to Translation : Application of Linguistic Parameters for the study of translation - procédés de traduction.

Reference Book :

Reference Book :

Reference Book :

Reference Book :

Reference Books:

To be selected from ESIT publications: Chestin Sturieu, Fondements de la traduction scientifique, Didier Erudition

Reference Book:

7. Methodology of Teaching French as a Foreign Language: Teaching-Related disciplines.

Reference Book:

8. History of French Literature and Civilisation: Major periods and movements in French Literature from Middle Ages to 20th century along with civilisation.

Reference Book:

M.A. FRENCH
(SEMESTER & ANNUAL SYSTEM)

TRANSLATION

B. OPTIONAL PAPERS / COURSES

1. Use of French : Development of language skills through communication.

Reference Book :

Reference Book :

3. French Literature-I Middle Ages to XVIIth Century: Study of extracts from major French writers.

Reference Book :
Robert Horville (Collection dirigée par) Anthologie de la littérature française, (Relevant volumes), 1994.

Reference Book :
Robert Horville (collection dirigée par) Anthologie de la littérature française (Relevant volumes), 1994.

Reference Book :
Baylon, Fabre, Grammaire systématique de la langue française, Nathan (latest edition)

Reference Book:
Le Galli, Description générative et transformationnelle de la langue française, Nathan Université (latest edition).

7. Study of French Syntax: Analysis of major sentence patterns in French.

Reference Book:
Soutet, La Syntaxe du français, PUF, 1989.

8. Comparative Literature: Definition - Issues - Major Studies - Relevance in the present - day context.

Reference Book:
Brunel, Chevrel, Précis de littérature comparée, Presses Universitaires de France 1989

Reference Book:
Anne Maurel, La critique, Hachette, 1994

10. Introduction to Literary analysis of Fiction: Major Techniques of Construction and Principal modes of fiction.

Reference Book:
Michel Patillon, Précis d’analyse littéraire, tome 1, Nathan Université (latest edition).
M.PHIL IN FRENCH
(SEMESTER & ANNUAL SYSTEM)

DURATION:

A minimum of one year two semesters of which at least 6 months one semester will be devoted to course work. A dissertation will be an obligatory component of the M.Phil programme.

ENTRANCE QUALIFICATION:

M.A. in French with at least a class with 55% average and above or grade B+ or an examination of any other University accepted by the concerned University as their equivalent thereto.

Course Work : 4 Courses

A. Compulsory Paper

1. Research Methodology (Compulsory)

B. Choice of any THREE of the following:

(1) Theories of General Linguistics

a) General Linguistics
b) Phonetics and Phonology
c) Lexicology – Semantics
d) Morphology – Syntax
e) Rhetoric and Stylistics
f) Linguistics and Literary Analysis
g) Linguistics and Translation
h) Linguistics and Teaching
i) Computational Linguistics

(2) Methodology of Teaching of French as a Foreign Language

a) Multimedia in FLT
b) Problems of FLT in the class room

c) Production of Materials and Methods

e) 'Authentic Documents'

(3) Comparative Literature

a) General literature, national literature and comparative literature

b) Sources, Influences and Reception

c) Comparative Poetics

d) Study of themes

e) Myth

f) Foreign texts and translation

g) Literature and Arts

h) Popular Literatures and Paraliterature

(4) Francophone Studies

a) Francophone literature of Indian Ocean

b) Francophone literature of West Africa

c) Francophone literature of North Africa: Maghreb region

d) Francophone literature of Central Africa

e) Francophone literature of Asia pacific

f) European francophone literature

g) Canadian francophone literature

(5) Literary Theory & Criticism

a) Literature and society

b) Literature and psychology

c) Literature and philosophy

d) Literature and criticism
CERTIFICATE COURSE IN GERMAN
(Refer also to general description of Certificate course in FL)

Paper I: Communicative German-I

Functional Grammar based on textbook
Recommended textbooks:
- Lernziel Deutsch 1, Max Hueber Verlag, 1991.

Paper II: Text Comprehension and Written Expression
(Comprehension of simple texts and precis writing)

Paper III: Oral Expression
(Reading of texts, general questions on the target language countries)
Recommended that additional material be supplied for this component.

DIPLOMA IN GERMAN

Paper I: Communicative German- II

Functional Grammar based on the textbook. Part 2 of the textbooks recommended above could be used.

Paper II: Text Comprehension and Written Expression
(Comprehension of texts on general topics. Essay writing and letter writing.)

Paper III: Oral Expression
Reading and answering questions on the text. Expressing opinions and discussing issues of general interest.
Apart from locating additional material from different sources, the following book could also be used:
ADVANCED DIPLOMA IN GERMAN

Paper I: Advanced Study of Language.

Advanced Study of Grammar based on any of the following books:

- Duden Grammatik der deutschen Gegenwartssprache. Dudenverlag 1973

Paper II: Literature

Study of a selection of literary texts in German.

Selection could be made on the basis of the following books:

- Wolfgang Salzmann (Hg.): 17 Kurzgeschichten. Stuttgart; Klett Verlag, 1996.

Paper III: German for Specific Purposes

a. Translation of texts from German into English and vice-versa.

b. German for business and tourist trade

c. Commercial and official letters

Among others the following books could be useful:

Paper IV: Oral Expression

Discussion on contemporary political, socio-cultural topics and films.

Apart from contemporary material from different sources like newspapers, magazines etc., books of the following nature could be useful:

B.A. (Hons.) in German

Year I / Two semesters

A. Core Courses:

Paper I : Use of Language (Written Expression)

Paper II : Use of Language (Oral Expression)

Paper III : Structural Study of German.

16-20 hours a week of language instruction based on textbook, workbook, supplementary and also audio-visual materials, wherever infrastructure is available:

Recommended books:

2. Lernziel Deutsch 1&2 (Wolfgang Hieber), Max Hueber Verlag 1991.

B. Allied discipline (in English)

One paper/course on an introduction to social and political history of Germany (BRD & DDR) from 1945 to 1990.

C. Any other subsidiary/optional papers as per the system of the university.

Year II / Two Semesters

A. Core Courses/Papers

This paper/course will consist of two components:

i. Advanced grammar structures will be introduced and practiced. One grammar model will be introduced to give a complete description of German grammar and to establish a common terminology.
ii. Introduction to essay and precis-writing (Aufsatz und Zusammenfassung) Developing writing skills, learning to understand and reproduce the main arguments of a text and learning how to structure an essay.

Paper II : Information on German-speaking countries:

A survey of various political, social and cultural aspects pertaining to German-speaking countries after 1945 on the basis of journalistic and simple academic texts in German. Use of audio-visual material should be encouraged.

Paper III : Introduction to the Study of Literature (Part I)

Systematic training in reading, understanding and interpreting short literary texts written after the Second World War. The selection should include texts of authors from both the former FRG as well as the former GDR, from Austria and Switzerland. In addition to the texts read in the original in class, students should be encouraged to read at least two novels and/or plays (in the original or in translation), which are then discussed in the class.

B. Allied discipline (in English) (Possible common course)

Cultural history of Europe in its representative trends from the Renaissance to the end of the 19th century. This course could be common for students of different foreign languages.

C. Any other subsidiary/optional paper(s) as per the system of the university.

Year III / Two semesters

A. Core Courses

A study of language in use. Reading and analysis of journalistic texts, book and film reviews etc. Writing of reviews, essays etc.

Paper II : Introduction to the Study of Literature (Part II)

A selection of narrative texts, poems and plays in German with special focus on the 19th century. (At least 10 representative texts should be studied.) The paper could include a brief outline of the history of German literature in the 19th century on the basis of the texts to be studied.

Paper III : Information on German-speaking countries.

Social History of Germany from 1789-1914.
Paper IV: Introduction to Translation.

Techniques of translation, structural analysis, translation of texts of a general nature (English-German; German-English)

B. Any other subsidiary/optional courses as per the system of the university.
M.A. in German with Specialisation in Literature (L) or Translation (T)

A. Core/Compulsory Papers or courses

1. Theories of Literature (L)

   Introduction to different schools of thought in the field of literary criticism, e.g. Positivism, Formalism, Structuralism, Hermeneutics, Marxism, Post-Structuralism.

2. Theory and Methodology of Translation (T)

   Introduction to theories, strategies and tools of translation.

3. Specialised Study of Literary Genres (L)

   Introduction to the concept and significance of genre and the differences between the various genres.

4. Advanced Translation (T)

   Introduction to the techniques of translating texts from different branches of science and technology with special reference to the language of scientific and technical texts and terminology.

5. History of German Literature (L)

   A study of the history of German literature from the 18th century till 1945 on the basis of representative literary works. These may include some of the following: (At least six texts to be read in one year)

   b. J.W. Goethe: Die Leiden des jungen Werther; Gedichte; Faust I

   c. Friedrich Schiller: Kabale und Liebe; Die Räuber; Balladen.

   d. Ludwig Tieck: Der blonde Eckbert.

   e. Novalis: Hymnen an die Nacht.

   g. E.T.A. Hoffmann: Erzählungen.

   h. Adalbert Stifter: Brigitta.
Western Languages

j. Theodor Storm: Immensee; Der Schimmelreiter.

k. Theodor Fontane: Effi Briest; Frau Jenny Treibel.

l. Gerhart Hauptmann: Bahnwärter Thiel.

m. Gottfried Benn: Gedichte.

n. Carl Zuckmayer: Der Hauptmann von Köpenick.

o. Bertolt Brecht: Dramen und Gedichte.

q. Thomas Mann: Erzählungen.

Other authors and texts may also be selected in conformity with the standard of the above mentioned texts.

B. Optional Papers/Courses

1. Social History of Germany.

   Political and social developments in Germany from the unification of Germany under Bismarck (1871) till the end of the Second World War and the formation of two German states (1949).

2. Stylistics and Textual Analysis.

   Definition of style, technique and problems of stylistics with regard to different kinds of texts, such as journalistic texts, advertisements, academic and literary texts.

3. Specialised Study of an Author.

   A detailed study of an author based on readings and discussion of representative works.

4. Themes and Strategies.

   A course/paper to, which will deal with a specific theme, which can be interdisciplinary in nature, e.g. Travel-writing, Literature and Anthropology, Representations of India in German Literature, Women Writers, Holocaust in Literature etc.

5. Introduction to Techniques of Interpretation.

   Exercises for the development of faculties important for interpretation, i.e. comprehension, retention and reproduction. Exercises for training memory and an introduction to the technique of taking notes. Readings in German on topical subjects.
6. Methodology of teaching German as a Foreign Language.

   i. Methods and approaches to language teaching and related disciplines.

   ii. Critical evaluation of different pedagogical approaches, of language policies, of concepts such as 'canonical literature', 'world literature' etc.

   iii. Critical evaluation of language textbooks and literature anthologies.

C. Possible common courses/papers as optional courses/papers for students of different European languages.

   1. Introduction to Linguistics
   2. History of Western Philosophy
   3. Cultural History of Europe
   4. European Classics in Translation
   5. Comparative Literature
   6. Comparative/Contrastive Linguistics
   7. Theories of Literary Translation
M. Phil. in German

The M.Phil programme can be envisaged both as a terminal point and as a preparatory stage for Ph.D. The programme should equip students with the necessary level of theoretical and practical knowledge, both for research as well as for pursuing an academic career.

An M.Phil. degree will be awarded on the basis of successful completion of course work (4 courses), dissertation and defense of dissertation.

Courses

A. Compulsory paper/course:

Research Methodology

B. Optional papers/courses (Any three of the following)

1. German Linguistics
2. Comparative/Contrastive Linguistics
3. Foreign Language Teaching: Methods and Approaches
4. Comparative Literature
5. Literature and Society
6. India and Germany in Literature and Philosophy
7. Literary Translation: Theory and Practice
8. Culture Studies: A Theoretical Framework
9. Media Studies: Representations of India in German language media.
10. Feminist Studies
11. New Trends in Literary Criticism

Since the number of students at the M.Phil level is never very large in foreign language departments, it is suggested that the optional courses offered during any given semester/year are linked with the research proposals of the students in that year.
Certificate in Italian

Paper I : Communicative Italian — I

Functional Grammar based on textbook.

Recommended textbook:

Chiuchiu, A./Mincharelli, F/Silvestrini, M: In Italiano. Perugia; Guerra 1985

Paper II : Text Comprehension and Written Expression

- Comprehension of simple texts and precis writing
- Essays on simple topics, questions on civilisation
- Translation of simple passage into English and simple sentences into Italian.

Recommended textbook:

Paper III : Oral Expression

Reading of texts, general questions on the target language country and civilisation.
Diploma in Italian

Paper I : Communicative Italian — II

Functional Grammar based on the text.

Recommended textbook:

Paper II : Text Comprehension and Written Expression

- Comprehension of texts on general topics
- Essay writing and letter writing
- Translation of passages from English into Italian and vice-versa.

Recommended textbooks:
Due: libro dello studente. Gruppo Meta. Roma; Bonacci, 1996
Verri Menzel, V. La bottega dell’ italiano. Roma; Bonacci, 1985.

- Reading and answering questions on the texts
- Expressing opinions and discussing issues of general interest.

Recommended textbooks: (in addition to the ones mentioned above)
Vol. II : Eserczi
Advanced Diploma In Italian

Paper I : Advanced Study of Language.

- Advanced Grammar

- Analysis of literary texts and texts on general topics

- Essays on specific themes

Recommended textbooks:

Silvestrini, M. et.al.: L'italiano e l'Italia. Perugia; Guerra.

Paper II : Literature

- Literary concepts

- An outline of Italian literature

- Introduction to main literary trends, genres and authors on the basis of specially chosen and annotated texts/anthologies.

Recommended books:

Paper III : Italian for Specific Purposes

- Translation of texts from Italian into English and vice-versa

- Italian for business and tourist trade

- Commercial and official letters
Recommended textbooks:

Paper IV: Oral Expression

Discussion on contemporary political, socio-cultural topics and films.

Recommended textbooks:

Amato, C.Mondo italiano. Roma; Bonacci, 1984

Since B.A. and M.A. courses in Italian are currently offered by only one university in the country, these syllabi are not being circulated.